OBITUARIES.

Baltimore Conference.

LYTTLETON F. MORGAN, son of the Rev. Girard Morgan, was born June 10, 1813, in Bath County, Va. His early education was gained in the schools and academy of his native and adjoining counties. After this brief academic training he entered upon a mercantile career in a store in the town of Harrisonburg, Va. The date of his conversion is not known, but is supposed to have been when he was about fourteen. While engaged in his mercantile occupation, he became conscious that another vocation awaited him. He was not disobedient to the heavenly calling, and was received on trial by the Baltimore Conference in March, 1834. At the session of 1836 he was admitted into the Conference and ordained a deacon. Two years later he was ordained an elder. The following is the list of his appointments during an itinerant life of sixty-one years: Hillsboro, Fairfax, Alexandria, Fredericksburg, Warrenton, Georgetown, High Street, Baltimore; City Station, Baltimore; Wesley Chapel, Foundry, and Asbury, Washington; Charles Street, Baltimore; City Station, Baltimore; Alexandria, Wesley Chapel, Washington; Washington District; Charles Street, Baltimore; City Station, Baltimore; Christ's Church, Pittsburg; Madison Avenue, Baltimore; West Baltimore District, Baltimore District, Huntington Avenue, supernumerary, agent of the Woman's College, Baltimore. In March, 1840, he married Miss Susan R. Dallam, daughter of Dr. William A. Dallam, of Harford County, Md. During forty-four years they lovingly walked together. She was as much his cherished bride when worn, weary, and dying as when in blooming girlhood she stood by his side at the bridal altar. He served as chaplain of the House of Representatives during the congressional term of 1851–52, and his preaching begot for him a national reputation. In 1858 Dickinson College conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Divinity. He was a presiding elder for three terms, and upon those districts is remembered for his efficiency, and more especially for his profitable preaching. In 1867 he was transferred to the Pittsburg Conference, and served Christ's Church one term, when he returned to the Baltimore Conference. He was three times elected by the Baltimore Conference as a representative to the General Conference. His practical identification with the interests of the Conference was incessant. At the time of his death he was president of the Baltimore Conference Preachers' Fund, of its board of trustees, of its educational board, and vice president of its Church Extension Society. He was also president of the American Methodist Historical Society, a trustee of Morgan, which had honored him by adopting his name, and president of the board of trustees of the Woman's College of Baltimore, as also the official agent of that institution. He was in a true sense a great preacher. His pulpit was his throne. Every one of his sermons gave evidence that he had been mining for gold, and the precious metal sparkled before his interested and observant audiences. On February 14, 1895, he was seized by that portentous disease familiarly called the "grippe." This developed into pneumonia, which resulted in death on February 28. His life enriched the Conference and his death increases its responsibilities.

W. T. D. CLEMM was born in Tennessee April 11, 1814, and died at his home in Govanstown February 12, 1895. Many of the marvels of inventive skill, unknown in his boyhood, he had seen come into familiar use. As a child he might have heard old men talk who witnessed the Revolution, and the war of 1812 was still a fresh topic for discussion. He was one of that rare number permitted to scale the snow-capped summit of the "Mont Blanc of fourscore years," where the footprints are so few. He enjoyed the honor of giving the Church many years of faithful service. Entering the Conference in 1840 his first charge was at Williamsburg. He afterward served the following charges in their order: Berwick, Bellefonte Circuit, Northumberland, West River Circuit, Rockville Circuit, East Harford Circuit, Caroline Street, Baltimore; agent of Dickinson College, supernumerary, Cumberland, Summerfield, Baltimore; City Station, Baltimore; Annapolis, Ellicott City, superannuated, Alexandria, Winchester District, East Washington Church, Summerfield again, Patapsco Circuit, Jefferson Street, Hereford Circuit, Towson, Catonsville, supernumerary. His qualities of mind and character were pronounced. He possessed the ability in conversation, debate, or public address of seizing upon some thought or occurrence, giving it a sudden turn, and presenting it under an aspect wholly new and unexpected. This power, which we call wit, he used so deftly as to make him a formidable adversary in debate, an entertaining conversationalist, and a popular speaker. His semicentennial sermon before the Conference was a combination of broad humor, bubbling fun, poetic fancy, and tender pathos. He seemed rather to possess the facile movement of the athlete than the forces of the giant. He was an agitator rather than a leader. No one condemned him because his philosophy was at variance with common opinion. All acknowledged him possessed of a distinct personality. There was in him something of that quality found in an Elijah, a John the Baptist, a Luther—that straightforward, resistless disregard of prevailing opinions. How busy he was! How keen his delight in reporting at the preachers' meeting his Sabbath labors! He manifested a lively interest in recently established charges, became early and intimately acquainted with the younger members of the Conference, and championed their cause upon the floor of that body. He was one of the youngest old men among us. In the conflict concerning social reforms he was ever at the front, bombarding with a ceaseless fire of wit, sarcasm, and denunciation all the evils that threatened the Church. He was ever ready to go from one end of the Conference territory to the other to work for his Lord, and hence was a prominent figure in conventions, mass meetings, and camp meetings. He was converted at Clarke's camp ground when a youth. That event, as related by him, was marked by an utter reliance upon Christ for salvation, and was followed immediately by the positive assurance that he was saved. This doubtless shows why much of his preaching revolved about these two doctrines, salvation by faith and the witness of the Spirit. His sermons, like himself, were not to be judged by customary standards. In preaching he was susceptible in a marked degree to those subtle and indefinable influences that travel between speaker and hearers, mutually affecting both. At times, caught up by his own feeling, he would pour forth his thought in a rapid torrent, rich in diction, felicitous in illustration, now pathetic, now sparkling with humor, and accompanied by a fervor of expression and gesture that carried all before him. On November 18, 1894, he preached his last sermon in Wesley Chapel, Baltimore. His text was, "Without faith it is impossible to please God." Did the veteran have an intimation, as he left the church that winter evening, that he had laid down the trumpet of the Gospel forever? To those who visited him in his last illness he was bright, joyous, confident. His message to the people was "Hallelujah."

THOMAS MYERS was born in Georgetown, D. C., May 18, 1813. His early education was acquired in the public schools of that time. He was converted in Lewisburg, Va., August 25, 1831, was received on trial by the Baltimore Conference in 1835, was ordained deacon by Bishop Beverly Waugh in 1837, and two years later was ordained an elder by Bishop James O. Andrew. He married Miss Sarah Ann Norris, of Harford County, Md., February 24, 1842. She departed this life in Waverly, Md., June 30, 1878. His appointments were as follows: Lycoming, Bellefonte Circuit, Liberty Circuit, Montgomery Circuit, City Station, Havre de Grace, Lewistown Station, Carlisle Circuit, Boonsboro, Northern Neck, Cumberland, Ebenezer, Annapolis, Strawbridge, Columbia Street, West River, Summerfield, agent of Maryland Bible Society, supernumerary, Madison Avenue (nominal), supernumerary, City Mission, Baltimore; supernumerary, Long Green, Waverly, Hill Street, Catonsville, Savage and Laurel, Grace, Woodbury, Twelfth Street, Washington; agent of Maryland Bible Society. Industry was his lifelong characteristic. He was always busy, and about what he honestly believed to be his Master's business. Unselfishness was evidenced in his everyday life; his labors were chiefly for others. His was an earnest life. He could well have preached on the text, "This one thing I do." His preaching was practical, evangelical, spiritual. Great numbers throughout the Conference bless God that they were permitted to wait on his ministry. Three years ago a severe attack of illness resembling typhoid fever so enervated his physical system that he never recovered his usual health. He left Baltimore on June 21, 1894, to spend the summer with his eldest son in Asheville, N. C., hoping there to recuperate, but, on the contrary, he rapidly grew weaker, and on Friday, July 27, he fell asleep.

JOHN W. CORNELIUS was born at Lutherville, Baltimore County, Md., January 25, 1835. His father was a man of sterling integrity; his mother a saintly woman, in whose mind heaven lay reflected "like the blue sky in a still lake on a calm summer day." At nineteen he was converted and joined the Monument Street Methodist Episcopal Church. Soon after came his call to the ministry, and after some preliminary study he entered Dickinson College, graduating therefrom in 1857. In 1856 he was received on trial in the Baltimore Conference, and his successive appointments were as follows: Cassville, Patapsco, South Branch, Front Royal, White Sulphur Station, Gorsuch, Summerfield, Alexandria, Waugh, Sandy Springs, Ellicott City, Liberty, Towson, Severn, Martinsburg, Lonaconing, supernumerary, Havre de Grace, Canton, Editor of Baltimore Methodist, Roland Avenue, Gorsuch again, supernumerary. As a man he was unobtrusive; as a writer he possessed literary qualifications in a high degree, and wielded a ready pen. His book on Sabbath Home Readings passed into its second edition, and exhibits many of the best qualities of forcible expression and elegance of style. For four years he was the editor of the Baltimore Methodist. His aptitude for journalistic work was beyond the ordinary. The timidity of the man was lost sight of in convictions that seemed to know no fear. As a preacher he was thoughtful and instructive. His sermons were thoroughly prepared expositions of divine truth. As a pastor he was faithful and sympathetic. His ministry was blessed with gracious revivals in all his charges. His home life was singularly beautiful. On November 3, 1864, he married Elmira D. Dungan, whom he always delighted to call "my faithful wife." For his children he had an interest that never tired. With rare tact he entered into their plans as though he were one of them, and thus tied them to himself with a love that was stronger than death. The ending of his life was a marvelous triumph of divine grace. For some years he had been cognizant of symptoms that foretold the end; but for him the imminence of death had nothing to alarm. His dying was memorable for what he said. The day before he died he said, "I want to leave this my last testimony to the power of the true religion to save to the uttermost. I have that power." At times his sufferings were intense, yet faith triumphed over pain, and he said, "The Captain of our salvation was made perfect through suffering." When he perceived that the foundations of the temporal were giving way, he said, "I feel I am grasping the eternities." Toward the last, when with apocalyptic vision he caught sight of the city for which his pilgrim feet had started years before, saw the King in his beauty, heard the music of the heavenlies, he cried out, "Heaven! heaven! I am there prostrate at the Saviour's feet." On September 23, 1894, the gates opened and John Wesley Cornelius went to be with the Church triumphant.

South Kansas Conference.

OTHNEIL BRUNER was born near Bloomington, Ind., November 13, 1822, and died near Rogers, Ark., October 4, 1894. He was converted and united with the Church at the age of fourteen. September 1, 1848, he was licensed to exhort, and on September 18 of the same year was licensed to preach and recommended to the Indiana Conference, and was admitted into the Conference at its session which convened October 9, 1848. He served the following charges in that Conference: Spencer, Mount Sterling, Paris and Versailles, Moorefield, Manilla, Napoleon, Hartford and Delaware. In 1859 he located in Illinois, and in 1860 he was readmitted into the Southern Illinois Conference, in which he served the following charges: West Eden, Blairsville, Marion, Equality and Shawneetown, Vienna, Mulberry Grove, Mount Erie, New Hebron, Noble and Clement. In 1871 he transferred to the Kansas Conference. In 1873 he transferred to the Missouri Conference on account of his health, in which he served the following charges: Meadville, Trenton, Maysville, Proctorville, Eagleville, Winston, Gentryville. In 1884 he transferred to the South Kansas Conference, where he labored in the active work six years, filling the following charges: Sedan, Longton, Liberty, Moran, Princeton. Five years ago he took a superannuated relation, and three years ago he moved to Rogers, Ark., and secured a beautiful home to spend the evening of his life. After his superannuation he preached all that he was able until entirely laid aside by his last illness. He married Miss Antis B. Bailiff in 1851, with whom he lived happily until his death. Of this union ten children were born, five of whom, with the wife and mother, survive. Brother Bruner was a deeply spiritual man and an earnest, faithful, and successful minister of the Lord Jesus. Hundreds were led to Christ by his ministry. During his last sickness, which was protracted, he suffered but little pain and was wonderfully sustained by the presence and power of the Master. As the end drew near, his prospects grew brighter and his triumph was complete. Some weeks before his death, when he knew the end was drawing near, he wrote to a friend, "I am near the kingdom. All is bright. The sky is clear. There is no dark river between this and the gate that stands ajar." A few days before his departure he said to his son-in-law, Rev. G. H. Gosper, "I am winging the fields of paradise up in the third heaven. I'll soon be there." With such words of triumph on his lips and with the smile of victory on his face he bade adieu to his wife and children to greet those who had gone on before.

East Maine Conference.

Benjamin S. Arey was born in Bucksport, Me., December 18, 1826, and died in Lewiston, Me., October 15, 1894. He entered the East Maine Conference as a probationer in 1853. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Janes in 1858, and elder by Bishop Simpson in 1863. He was twice married. The following is his pastoral record: South Orrington, located for three years, Searsport, Orland, Orono, Dexter, Union Street, Bangor; Wiscasset, Thomaston, chaplain of the Maine State Prison, Sheepscot Bridge, Rockland, Camden, Castine, Orrington, Presiding Elder of Rockland District, Milltown, Pembroke, Orrington again, Forest City, Kingman. In 1892 he became a superannuate, and in 1894 removed to Lewiston, supplying a charge within the bounds of the Maine Conference until his death. He served as secretary of the Conference for sixteen continuous years. He was a member of the General Conference of 1880. He was a devout man and a good preacher. Sympathetic and social in large degree, many a tender word and kindly deed will live in the remembrance of those he served. He rests in hope in the cemetery of his native village.

Solomon S. Grass was born in Orland, Me., and died in Edmunds, Me., March 4, 1895. He became a member of the East Maine Conference in 1857. As a preacher he was plain, earnest, and faithful. As a pastor he excelled. As a revivalist he was very successful. He was married twice. He served the following charges: Deer Isle, Sullivan, Pembroke, East Machias, Lubec, Alexander, Machias, South Orrington, Bucksport Center, Oldtown, Atkinson, supernumerary, superannuated, Georgetown, Cushing, Washington, Searsmont, Northport, Franklin, Edmunds. He was a man of eminent piety, and had a glorious experience. His life was one of unyielding faith; his death triumphant. Conscious to the last, he passed over the river leaning upon the arm of his Lord.

Ammi Cushing Prince was born in Portland, Me., July 16, 1818, and died in Warren, Me., December 7, 1894. When he was nine years old, his father died, and his early life was one of toil. Though enjoying very limited school privileges, he developed a love for history and philosophy, so that Butler's Analogy was afterward a favorite volume. While connected with a vessel in Portland harbor, he attended a prayer meeting in Chestnut Street Church and gave his heart to God. He joined the East Maine Conference in 1851, and was appointed to Mount Desert. He subsequently served the following appointments: Tremont, Machias, Ellsworth, Searsport, agent of East Maine Conference Seminary, Searsport again, Bucksport, Rockland District, agent of East Maine Conference Seminary again, Orrington, Hampden, Union Street, Bangor; Bangor District, Pittsfield, Thomaston, agent of East Maine Conference Seminary again, Levant, Dixmont, supernumerary, superannuated. He was a delegate to the General Conference in 1860 and again in 1872, and served as a member of the Book Committee for a full term. He married Miss Jane M. Davis, of East Boothbay, in 1840, who with her two daughters and one son, Rev. Morris W. Prince, D.D., of the New York East Conference, survives him. In the language of another: "He will especially be held in loving remembrance for the interest he took in, and the work he did for, the seminary of his Conference. The school had been closed for three years. At this perilous point he took hold of the enterprise. He raised from ten to twelve thousand dollars and paid off the floating debt, secured an endowment fund of twenty-five thousand dollars, and by purchase or donation succeeded in eliminating nearly all the outstanding scholarships which had so crippled the income from tuition. He lived to see the seminary develop into a most valuable institution, conferring lasting benefits upon the youth of eastern Maine. Our brother was in the highest sense a man of God. He was a manly man, a laborious man, a natural gentleman, rigidly conscientious, deeply spiritual, and thoroughly consecrated to his work. He was an able preacher, a diligent, faithful pastor, a wise administrator, a safe counselor, a correct financier, self-sacrificing in his nature, and genuinely sympathetic. Those who knew him best loved him most." He was not called to endure a long or painful illness. Life's closing hour came suddenly, and his was a quick remove from earth to the all-perfect life of heaven.

Wyoming Conference.

Aaron C. Sperry was born in Alford, Mass., March 24, 1821, and died at Whitney's Point, N. Y., August 18, 1894. His father's death early left him to the care of his mother and sisters, who were devoted members of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Converted in his youth, he soon felt called to preach, and with that in view studied in Cooperstown Academy, and subsequently in Cazenovia Seminary. After serving some time under the presiding elder, he began work as a member of the Oneida Conference at Ames, N. Y., in 1849, and continued to labor in southern New York and northern Pennsylvania until 1888, when he was compelled by failing health to retire. He was a good preacher. He always had a point to make, and with plain, forceful language and apt illustration succeeded in convincing his hearers. His labors resulted in gracious revivals upon many of the charges he served. One who was very intimately acquainted with him says, "His piety was deep and uniform. He was exceedingly quiet, modest, and retiring, but his keen mind scanned critically everything that came within its scope." In extreme feebleness for a number of months he waited for his translation, the soul ripening as the outer man decayed. Among his last remarks in public he said, "I am at peace with God, at peace with the world, and at peace with myself." He is sadly missed by his widow, who for many years toiled by his side, and by his only son; yet, remembering that to him there has come reward for labor and rest for weariness, they are greatly comforted.

George A. Severson was born at Guilderland, N. Y., July 10, 1818, and died in Binghamton, N. Y., September 16, 1894. He came from old Dutch stock—the best in the world, and trained through generations in the sturdiest Protestantism. His parents were members of the Reformed Dutch and Lutheran Churches. In November, 1838, he married Miss Helen Hogan, at Clarksville, N. Y. At about twenty-five, while walking on the road, he was converted in the most overwhelming manner. In a like marvelous outpouring the blessing of entire sanctification came six weeks after. The consciousness of this blessing he never lost, but to it he owed the strange influence and power of his spotless life. In 1856 he entered the Wyoming Conference. He served the following charges: Choconut Center, Osborne Hollow, Harpursville, Castle Creek, Great Bend and New Milford, Gibson, Sterling, Moscow, Dunmore, Waverly, North Fenton, Otego, Sidney Plains, Windsor. In 1887 he took a superannuated relation and settled in Binghamton. His fidelity as a pastor was unsurpassed. His early circuits were of great extent, but no storms could keep him from his appointments, and he could sing the praises of God with the snow drifting over his bed. He had revivals in every parish and some remarkable ones. A characteristic of them was the quiet with which they were conducted, and their tremendous effects.

He also made extensive repairs in parsonages and churches, often at his own expense, for, like his Master, he knew how to wield the carpenter's plane. He never left a church or parsonage in debt. He had a voice of remarkable clearness, and his pulpit work averaged well. "I expect to be at my prayer meeting fifty-two nights in the year," was the expression of a faithfulness that overlooked nothing. He was a living exemplification of the graces of a mature Christian manhood He had the love of John and the evangelistic zeal of Paul. Nothing marred the impression of his unique and beautiful life. He had a marvelous gift of prayer. Heaven itself seemed to come down in these outpourings of soul, which, once heard, could never be forgotten. The victories of his shining life were gained on his knees. His home was a Bethel. His table talk was a means of grace, and his family prayer was a meeting place with heaven. When he died, the tributes to him were hearty and beautiful. At a prayer meeting in the Chenango Street Church, where he was a class leader, these spontaneous testimonies and reminiscences made an evening never to be forgotten. His ministerial brethren of the city carried his body to its last resting place and repeated over it our service, sublime in its simplicity and triumphant faith.

Abijah Brown was born in Augusta, N. Y., March 25, 1810, and died at Masonville, N. Y., September 22, 1894. When he was six years of age his parents moved upon the Stockbridge Reservation, Madison County. He was early instructed in the things of God by his parents, who were Methodists before his remembrance. He received the clear witness of the Spirit at the early age of eight. After a brief religious experience he wandered from the fold, a fact he always deeply regretted. He was reclaimed July 21, 1831, at his father's family altar, and soon felt that God had a work for him in the ministry. His diffidence, however, and felt want of literary attainment kept him from the work for several years. On November 6, 1833, he married Rhoda Carpenter, who survives him. He was given an exhorter's license June 23, 1837, and a license to preach October 29, 1842. In 1850 he was employed as junior preacher on Smyrna Charge. On July 27, 1851, he was admitted to the Oneida Conference, and ordained deacon by Bishop Janes. On July 29, 1855, he was ordained elder by Bishop Ames. He served the following charges: Union Valley, Freetown, Virgil, Groton, Harford, Scott, McLean, Georgetown, Perryville, Oneida Indian Mission, Plymouth, Preston, South New Berlin, Nineveh, Masonville, He supplied Sidney Center for five months in 1879. From that time he was superannuated. Many were led to the Saviour through his efforts. He was a deep student of the word, a good theologian, and a practical preacher, but his great power was in prayer. He desired to preach March 25, 1894, his eighty-fourth birthday, but was unable. On September 15, while on his way to preach the next day, the wagon broke, throwing him and his wife against a wall. His head and spine were injured. On Monday he had a slight shock, and thought death might be approaching. When asked how he would feel if it were God's will that he should not recover, he said, with a smile: "If it is God's will that I go now, I am ready. I am willing to go or stay, whichever shall seem best." Again he said, "I have come to desire it more earnestly than ever, and have thought a great deal of the home beyond, and have with joy anticipated its beauties." Another shock, and after twenty-five hours his soul was released from earth.

Luther Peck was born in Pitcher, N. Y., March 9, 1827, and died in Hornbrook October 31, 1894. He came from a sturdy Puritan ancestry, noted for piety and patriotism. His father was a local preacher and a brother of Dr. George and Bishop Jesse T. Peck. Of the grandmother Bishop Simpson writes, "She was an amiable woman, eminently pious and devotional, and gave five sons to the Methodist ministry." His childhood home was pervaded with the atmosphere of deep piety. It meant a great deal to the lad Luther to be thus environed. Early he felt the need of salvation, sought his Saviour, and confessed him before men. For some time he had no light. One night, as he was earnestly praying that God would give him the assurance of acceptance, he saw a light descending toward him. It increased as it neared until it enveloped him in a flood, and his soul was filled with ineffable joy. He never doubted from that moment his acceptance. Early feeling his need of an education, he went to Wyoming Seminary. He became strongly attached to the institution, and at the late semicentennial was chosen to read a paper. After leaving the seminary he spent a short time in teaching. Having preached a short time under the elder, he, with his brother Jonathan, joined the Wyoming Conference in 1853. He was ordained a deacon by Bishop Ames in 1855, and an elder in 1857 by Bishop Scott. He served thirteen different charges, one twice, among which were Wyalusing, Great Bend, Dunmore, Tunkhannock, and Montrose. As presiding elder he served the Wyalusing District a full term with great acceptability. As a preacher he was quaint and original. He was capable of rising to the demands of a great occasion. He was no prophet of evil, but a messenger of hope. His faith in the ultimate triumph of the Gospel never failed. The history of the Church, especially of his beloved Church, filled his soul with holy enthusiasm. He had many sterling qualities. He was thoroughly sincere, open hearted, and honest. He was meek and gentle as a child. In his pastoral work he was dearly beloved because of his strong social qualities. He drew to himself the young and old, and held them to the close of life. He had also a vein of good humor that made him a most pleasing companion. He married Lucy Lyman, of Springville, May 15, 1867. Five children were born to them, two of whom preceded him to the spirit world. "For nearly thirty years," says his wife, "it was his study to make me happy. I never expressed a wish that he did not gratify; indeed, it was his pleasure to anticipate them. He was no less the lover as the years went by, and made me the happiest of wives by his words of love and appreciation of all I did." The closing of his life was beautiful. His last illness was protracted, but was borne with great resignation. Frequently he would respond to the reading of the Scriptures, "Those are good, strong words." He would also join in singing as long as he was able. His last song was sung at midnight. When very near the close, he said, "I want to go home." Being assured he was at home, he responded, "I mean where father and mother are." Thus peacefully from the couch where he suffered so heroically he passed up to his home in heaven.

Wilmington Conference.

James Abbot Brindle was born in Philadelphia, Pa., June 27, 1821, and died in Greensboro, Md., April 6, 1894. He was a Methodist Episcopalian of the third generation, both his grandfathers having been Methodist preachers, while his great-grandfather was a local preacher in England. His grandmother was awakened under the preaching of John Wesley and joined the Methodists. She was frequently stoned and maltreated by the mob, but held on her way rejoicing, and died triumphantly in her seventy-seventh year. His parents were honored in the call of two sons and a daughter to the itinerant field. His father served as class leader, exhorter, and superintendent for fifty years. With such a godly ancestry it is not surprising that James early consecrated his life to God. He was happily converted at seventeen in St. Paul's, Philadelphia, and joined the Church immediately thereafter. In 1843

he was admitted on trial in the Philadelphia Conference. His first appointment was Salisbury Circuit, as junior preacher. His fields of labor were afterward as follows: Snow Hill Circuit, Berlin, Northampton, Northampton Circuit, Newtown, Cambridge Circuit, Accomac, Anamessex, Church Creek, Bethel, Newark, North East, Ebenezer, Manayunk, Union, Wilmington; Port Deposit, Talbot, Still Pond, Newark again, Crisfield and Asbury, Greensboro, Smyrna Circuit, Camden, Lewis, Anamessex again, King's Creek. In 1891 he took a supernumerary relation after a continuous and successful ministry of forty-eight years, all of which time, except one term of two years in Manayunk, Pa., was spent in churches on the peninsula. He had the joy of witnessing the conversion of multitudes of penitent souls. He was a diligent student of the word. During his last year in the active work he finished reading the Bible through for the fifty-eighth time. He was thrice married. During his retirement from the effective ranks he continued to labor as his health permitted and opportunity afforded. His last sermon was preached for the colored brethren in Greensboro, March 18, 1894. On his last Sunday on earth he attended divine service in the morning and the Sunday school in the afternoon. On Monday he was stricken with paralysis, and the following Friday he entered into rest.

Nicholas Manly Browne was born September 16, 1837, in North East, Md. In his sixteenth year he was converted during a revival in his native town, and at once connected himself with the Church. His father's purpose was to educate him for the medical profession, but in 1856, to prepare himself for a higher call, he entered the institute at Concord, N. H., from which he graduated in 1859. He at once proceeded to Holmesburg, Pa., where he served as a supply until the session of the Philadelphia Conference. At that session, in 1860, he was admitted on trial. His first appointment was Morrisville, Pa., which he served two years. His subsequent appointments were within the bounds of the present Wilmington Conference and were as follows: Millington Circuit, Easton Circuit, Centerville Circuit, Kent Circuit, Kent Island, Dorchester Circuit, Salisbury, presiding elder of Salisbury District, Port Deposit, New Castle, Scott, Wilmington, Newark, Middletown. He was a delegate to the General Conference of 1888. He married Miss Clintonia Cook, who with their only son survives. On Sabbath, February 3, 1895, he preached as usual, and closed a protracted meeting which had been in progress for five weeks. The following day he engaged in pastoral visiting, and that night retired in apparently perfect health. Soon after retiring he experienced difficulty in breathing, and before medical aid arrived he had passed away. Physicians pronounced the immediate cause of death to be congestion of the lungs and heart failure. But while his departure was so utterly unexpected, yet a note found in his desk shows that he had a premonition of a near and sudden death, and had arranged both his temporal and spiritual affairs. The funeral was held on February 7 in the church from whose pulpit he had proclaimed the Gospel on the previous Sabbath. As a tribute of respect nearly every business house in the town was closed. And although a blizzard prevailed of almost unprecedented severity, the church was crowded with sympathizing friends, many of them from remote parts of the peninsula, and among them representatives of nearly every pastoral charge he had served. About fifty members of his Conference were present, besides some from the Philadelphia Conference, and several ministers from other denominations. In the note left by him he said: "I have had some premonition of sudden death. I wish to say, if I should be thus called away, I am trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ as my only hope of eternal life. I have a calm, implicit confidence in God, the only hope and refuge of sinners." As a preacher he was clear, forcible, and evangelical. His sermons always had in them an inspiration to faith and life. As presiding elder his record demonstrated the wisdom of the appointment. As pastor he left his impress upon every charge he served. In an eminent degree he possessed the talent of ministering to the despondent and afflicted. Especially could he adapt himself to the old, and among the pleasant memories cherished of him in his late charge are his "New Year's calls" on nearly all of the aged among his people. He was the pastor of the whole flock committed to his care, commanding alike the affection of the high and the low. In his death the Church has lost one of her most loyal ministers.

Kansas Conference.

George Richards Houts was born in Kentucky November 5, 1825. When a child he was taken by his parents to Schuyler County, Ill., where he was happily converted at twelve and joined the Church. He was licensed to preach January 22, 1857; was admitted on trial in the Kansas Conference and ordained a local deacon by Bishop Scott in 1865, and was ordained an elder by Bishop Clark in 1870. For twenty-six consecutive years he received appointments, which he filled with singular fidelity to the interests involved. At the Conference of 1891, because of age and failing strength, he took a superannuated relation. He afterward resided at Edgerton, Kan., until called to his eternal home. He was one of that band of heroic souls, so rapidly passing away, who risked all that fair Kansas might be saved from the blight of slavery. He was an instructive and forceful preacher, and two thousand souls were converted under his ministry. On March 18, 1894, he passed to his reward, mourned by the wife who for forty-four years had shared his joys and sorrows, and by a multitude of devoted friends. He sleeps well.

George W. Havermale was born in Smithtown, Md., November 11, 1831, and died in Bonner Springs, Kan., March 9, 1895. He was converted January 14, 1854, and attended the Rock River Seminary and Garrett Biblical Institute. He was received on trial in the Central Illinois Conference in 1858, and for twelve years was a member of that Conference. He was ordained deacon and afterward elder by Bishop Baker. He joined the Kansas Conference in 1872, where he spent the last twenty-three years of his life. He endured patiently the hardships of the itinerant, and was successful in comforting believers and calling sinners to repentance. In 1893 he became superannuated by his own request. During the two years in that relation his life was full of sweetness and sunshine. His last illness was so short that he was kept away from church but one Sabbath before his death. He leaves a wife and five children to mourn their loss, but they sorrow not as those who have no hope.

Vermont Conference.

Joseph Warren Guernsey was born in Brandon, Vt., October 20, 1820, and died in Rutland, Vt., August 4, 1894. He was the son of Harvey Guernsey, whose name appears among the Vermont appointments in 1833 and disappears by location in 1846. The same year the son entered the New Hampshire Conference, the father and son thus giving over sixty years continuous service to the New Hampshire and Vermont Conferences. He was converted at East Barnard, Vt., July 4, 1835, united with the Church, and was licensed to exhort in 1841. In 1846 he was ordained a local deacon and received on probation by the New Hampshire Conference; in 1851 he was ordained elder. He filled the following appointments in the New Hampshire Conference: New Ipswich, Rindge, Lancaster, Lebanon, Sandwich, Newport, Heinniker, Greenland, Keene, Winchester, Bristol, East Salisbury, Pleasant Street, Salem; Suncook. In 1869 he was transferred to the Vermont Conference, and afterward received the following appointments: Chelsea, Presiding Elder of Springfield District, Woodstock, Milton, Franklin, Underhill. In 1883 he took a supernumerary relation and removed to Rutland. Soon after he was appointed chaplain of the House of Correction at Rutland, a position which he filled acceptably until his decease. While in New Hampshire he served the Conference as secretary for eleven years. A member of that Conference writes of him: "Intelligent, conscientious, sincere, modest, refined, diligent, methodical, consistent, he won the respect of all classes, and was an honor to his Church and the Gospel ministry. He was a man of great worth as God and good men weigh character." In the Vermont Conference his talents and labors also received recognition, and he was always held in high esteem as a man of unswerving integrity, a consistent Christian, and an efficient minister of the Lord Jesus. After his retirement from the active pastorate he was in comfortable health until the last year of life, and fulfilled his duties at the House of Correction until a short time before his death. During his last two weeks he failed rapidly, though it was hoped until the last that he would rally. His daughter writes: "His last moments were what might have been expected. Calm, serene, he faced death without a tremor, and with no words unsaid. His life had spoken all that was needed."

Louisiana Conference.

John W. Collett was born in Shelby County, Ind., in 1868, and died in New Orleans June 18, 1894. His father and mother were devout members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and in childhood he felt the molding influence of the Sunday school and church services. While but a youth his parents removed to Moore's Hill, Ind., to give their children the advantages of the Southeast Indiana Conference College. He early united with the Church. He completed his college course in 1889, and was employed as a tutor in New Orleans University. The next year he was elected professor of natural science, a position which he filled with great success and increasing popularity until his death. He was licensed to preach while a student in college, and was received on trial in our Conference at the session held in Shreveport in 1891. In 1893 he was admitted into full connection, ordained deacon, and appointed to Wellman on the Mission District. In 1894 he was appointed to Hammond, where he at once succeeded in winning the hearts of the people. His heart was drawn with unusual interest to the church in Hammond, and he looked with confidence for large spiritual results, notwithstanding the heat of summer. But God had ordered it otherwise. He was taken with a slow fever the last of May, which, despite the most careful nursing and skillful medical aid, continued to increase until June 18, when his glorified spirit passed into the land of the blest. A pathetic incident in connection with his death was the fact of his marriage just three weeks before. His bride was a Miss Attilla M. Farr, of Indiana. His early death is one of the mysteries in the providence of the great Head of the Church, and we can only say out of hearts burdened with a sense of unspeakable loss, "Even so, Father, for so it seemed good in thy sight."

Austin Kennedy, after many years of devoted service, fell asleep during the past year at his home in Schriever, La. He was received on trial in the Louisiana Conference January 28, 1870. Previous to his admission into the Conference he served as a supply at Napoleonville, La., for one year. After his admission and ordination he successively filled the following appointments, namely, Thibodaux, Terrebonne, Thibodaux again, Napoleonville, Woodlawn and Paincourtville Circuit, Terrebonne again, Woodlawn and Assumption. This was his last appointment. In 1883 he was granted supernumerary relation, which he sustained for a year or two, after which, failing to be restored to his previous strength and vigor, he was granted a superannuated relation, which he thereafter continued to sustain until called to his reward. Faithful and persevering in his ministry, fraternal and affectionate in his relation with all those with whom he associated and labored, he leaves many friends to mourn his glorious translation, which to him is heaven and great gain.

Alexander Primus was born in Louisiana May 6, 1836, and was ordained deacon in the Louisiana Conference January 12, 1873. In 1880 he was received on trial and appointed to Stony Point. In 1881 he was appointed to Lake Providence, and in 1882 to Bayou Goula. He was made a supernumerary in 1883. He was murdered on January 3, 1895, near Baton Rouge, La. He leaves nine children, four of whom are under age. His wife died in the faith about two years ago. Brother Primus was a good Christian.

Simon Evans, for many years a faithful minister in the Louisiana Conference, passed to his reward January 28, 1895. He was sick for nearly eighteen months, when death came to his relief. Notwithstanding his depreciated health for at least six months before the Conference of 1894, he volunteered service for another year at Pleasant Plains, New Orleans, in the service of which church he both ceased to work and live only a week or two before the Conference of 1895. Brother Evans was born in the parish of Saint Charles, La., in 1850. He was converted to God and joined the Church when a young man. He was admitted into the Louisiana Conference in January, 1879, and appointed to Morgan City. The following year he was ordained a deacon by Bishop Harris and returned to Morgan City. He next served Saint John and Saint Charles Circuit. At the Conference of 1882 he was admitted into full connection. In 1884 he was ordained an elder by Bishop Wiley. He also served successively the following appointments, namely, Pattersonville and Centerville, Terrebonne, Camp Parapet, Pleasant Plains, New Orleans; whence he took his flight from the toils and cares of life to be ever with the Lord. His was a triumphant death, which is radiated with the hope of heaven and a glorious resurrection.

Reese Thompson died January 20, 1895. He was born in the parish of Sabine, La., June 25, 1852. He was converted and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church at sixteen years of age. He was admitted to the Louisiana Conference in 1876. He was ordained a deacon by Bishop Gilbert Haven, and appointed to Natchitoches and Saint Mark's Circuit. He next served Mansfield. After that he served Saint Paul's Church, Shreveport; then Baton Rouge, Union Chapel, New Orleans; Franklin, Saint Paul's, Shreveport again; superannuated, which relation he sustained until his death. Brother Thompson was a man of high distinction among his people, and commanded the confidence, love, and respect of all who knew him. He was a self-made man. He had scarcely, if any, school advantages before he entered the itinerancy, but by his close application and incessant study he became one of the foremost scholars, theologians, and preachers of his race in this State. Although sick for many months he did not complain, but he rather grew more and more in the likeness of his divine Master, in whose faith he triumphed.

Perry Hall died October 10, 1894. Brother Perry Hall was born in the State of Maryland, near the city of Baltimore, in 1815, and was converted and became a member of the Church in 1842. He emigrated to Louisiana in 1849 and became a member and local preacher of Zion Church, now Saint Paul's, Shreveport. After two years' faithful service in Zion Connection he connected himself with the Methodist Episcopal Church, and, joining the traveling connection of the Louisiana Conference, was ordained a deacon in 1870. During the years of his ministry he served the following appointments: Spring Ridge Circuit, Saint James, Bossier, China Grove, Red Springs. In 1880 he located, but he was readmitted and placed on the superannuated list January 1, 1892. He was a devout Christian for fifty-two years and a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church for twenty-eight years. At the time of his death he was a superannuated elder in the Conference. His end was peace.

New Hampshire Conference.

Cadford Mellen Dinsmore was born in Windham, N. H., August 20, 1826, and died in Exeter, N. H., November 4, 1894. His ancestors were of pure Scotch blood, and came over with that Presbyterian colony which settled Derry, Londonderry, Windham, and adjacent towns in New Hampshire. His Christian experience began in Derry, N. H., where his parents moved in 1841. In the following year he was baptized and received into the Church. He took a college preparatory course at Sanborn Bridge. While there, in 1846, he was licensed to preach. He graduated from Wesleyan University in 1851, and then took a course in theology at Concord, N. H. The year following his college graduation he was principal of the East Andover Academy. For several years he was a trustee of the New Hampshire Conference Seminary and Female College. In 1853 he joined the New Hampshire Conference and was ordained deacon by Bishop Janes. In 1856 he was ordained elder by Bishop Baker. In 1852 he married Miss Cornelia P. Hall, of Colchester, Conn. After nearly forty years of companionship death removed her January 5, 1892. The full list of his appointments is as follows: Peterboro, Rindge, Newmarket, Suncook, Garden Street, Lawrence; Main Street, Great Falls; Newport, Keene, Portsmouth, Amesbury, South Amesbury, Pleasant Street, Salem; Jefferson, South Newmarket. He was a delegate to the General Conference of 1872. While in Keene he barely escaped death from brain fever, induced by overwork and exposure. He was never robust afterward. After 1887, on account of impaired health, he occupied the supernumerary relation. During this time, from 1889 to 1892, he supplied the pulpit at Fremont. He exhibited a very sweet spirit in his retirement. For seven years he enjoyed a congenial residence in the literary atmosphere and among the historic scenes of Exeter. He often visited its institutions of learning, and in communion with their teachers slaked his thirst for classic lore. Among the citizens generally he sowed kind words as freely as the king of day sows sunshine. No one who knew him can forget his benignant smile and the warmth of his grasp. As a conversationalist, well read and versatile, he was the life of a social circle. His sermons, carefully written and enriched by classical allusion and modern thought, were always listened to with delight and profit. While he was happy in all his appointments, in several of them he witnessed gracious revivals. The genuineness of his faith was revealed in every fiery ordeal through which he passed. The one nearest to him as life was closing says, "He was the most unselfish man I ever saw." During his last sickness everything done for him evoked only gratitude and benedictions. When he became aware that his heroic struggle with disease was in vain, his submission was heroic. One of his latest utterances was, "There is no merit in me; Jesus saves." In the triumph of faith he has entered into his reward.

Washington Conference.

Alfred Dashield Valentine was born in Howard County, Md., May 1, 1829. In the fifteenth year of his age he was converted and joined the Church. In early life he was deprived of the advantages of education, but by diligent study and private instruction he gained a fair knowledge of the English language. In 1870 he was granted license to preach. At the eighth session of the Washington Conference he was received on trial and sent to Northern Neck, Va. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Janes in 1873, and elder by Bishop Peck in 1875. He served the following charges: Northern Neck, Monocacy, Westminster, Gunpowder, Harford, Eastern Chapel, Baltimore; Belair, Bedford Springs, Woodlawn. He was prostrated with malaria about July 1, 1894, but had greatly improved and expected to be at his appointment the next Sabbath, when on Monday, August 13, 1894, he was taken suddenly ill, and in fifteen minutes "was not, for God took him."

William Fletcher Patterson died in Huntington, Va., August 19, 1894. He was admitted on trial in the Washington Conference in 1880. He served the following charges with great acceptability: Weston, New Market, Augusta, Talcott, Huntington. He was a successful minister, did much for the cause of Christ, and died in great peace.

Benjamin Brown was born in Anne Arundel County, Md., June 5, 1846. In his fourteenth year he was converted and joined the Church. His intelligent and deep piety commanded the confidence of all who knew him. In 1866 he was licensed to preach. In 1867 he was admitted on trial in the Washington Conference, and was sent to Sandy Springs Circuit, where he served two years. His appointments were afterward as follows: Hagerstown, Dallas Street (now Centennial), Mount Zion, Washington; Severn Circuit, Staunton, Wheeling, Presiding Elder of the Washington District, John Wesley, Baltimore; Lynchburg. In 1891 he was appointed Presiding Elder of the North Baltimore District, and in 1892 was elected delegate to the General Conference. He died October 23, 1894. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Simpson in 1869, and an elder by the same bishop in 1871. He was twice married. His funeral was attended by seventy-two ministers and by people of all denominations. In Sharp Street Cemetery he awaits the resurrection of the just.

James A. Scott died at Staunton, Va., December 5, 1894, in the seventy-sixth year of his age. He was admitted on trial in the Washington Conference in 1868, and filled successively the following charges: Burkeville, Liberty, Draper's Valley, Newbern, Washington Court House, Bristol, Tazewell, Glade Spring. In 1885 he was given a superannuated relation, which he sustained until death. As a preacher his style was clear and concise. He was faithful to every trust, and won a high place in the love of his brethren.

New England Southern Conf.

Charles Hammond was born at Petersham, Mass., February 26, 1819, and died at Worcester, Mass., May 6, 1894. In his boyhood he prepared himself for teaching, which pursuit he followed for some years. In 1835 he received the promise of the Father, the gift of the Holy Spirit. From 1844 to 1849 he preached in the Reformed Methodist Connection in Massachusetts, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1849. On December 1, 1846, he married Rebecca Sears, of East Dennis, who died in 1884. He filled the following appointments: Somerset, Cumberland, Centerville, Burrillville, East Glastonbury, Westerley, Little Compton, Stoughton, North Easton Village, Eastham, South Yarmouth, West Duxbury, Middletown, Hingham, Staffordville, Attawaugan, Wapping, Quarryville and Andover, Windorsville, West Thompson. The last years of his life were spent at the home of his daughter in Dalton, Mass., where the people took knowledge of him that he "had been with Jesus." While visiting his son in Worcester, he passed away.

ARTHUR N. SEARLES was born at North Royalton, O., August 17, 1860, and died at Portland, Conn., February 12, 1895. In early manhood he taught school to obtain funds to continue his studies. He prepared for college at Delaware, O., at the same time supplying at Lodi, North Ohio Conference. He then came to Boston and spent three years in the College of Liberal Arts and three years in the School of Theology, graduating in the class of '91. While in Boston he supplied Duxbury, Mass., North Stoughton, Millville. At the New England Southern Conference of 1891 he was appointed to Portland, serving the church for two years. His next and last pastoral charge was the Centenary Church, Provincetown. In January, 1894, while holding revival services, he was stricken with hemorrhage of the throat, and went to the West Indies in search of health. He soon returned to Portland, from which place he went to Ohio to recuperate. In May he was taken with pneumonia. For days he lay at the point of death, but finally in August he was able to return to his friends in Portland, where his last six months were passed. His first sermon was preached at the age of twenty in his brother's pulpit. He was ordained a deacon by Bishop Ninde in 1890, and an elder by Bishop Goodsell in 1893. The fundamentals of Christianity were his favorite themes, and his pulpit methods were such as to make him a very acceptable preacher. From a child he was nurtured in the Christian precepts, and at fifteen made a public profession of religion. During his sickness the world largely lost its charms, and the divine realities became inestimably precious. He did not shrink from death, but was fully resigned to the will of his heavenly Father. For the last three weeks he yielded himself up to the tender care of friends, and was unconscious for only a few hours before his spirit took its departure. His body was laid at rest in the cemetery at Portland to await the summons of the Lord.

JOSIAH C. ALLEN was born in Epsom, N. H., October 21, 1821. His parents later moved to Concord, where he learned the printer's trade, at which he worked till his conversion in 1841. He received a license to exhort in January, 1843, and a local preacher's license in June of the same year. Soon after he attended school at Newbury, Vt., and joined the New Hampshire Conference in 1846. He was ordained deacon in 1849 by Bishop Hamlin. In 1851 he located and came within the bounds of the New England Southern Conference, supplying South Harwich, Mass. He was received into full connection in 1853, and ordained elder in 1857 by Bishop Janes. He filled the following appointments: New Hampshire Conference, London and Kingston, Rye, Marlboro, Warner and Salisbury; Providence Conference, South Harwich, Yarmouthport, Osterville, East and West Falmouth, West Duxbury, South Truro, East Marshfield, Long Plain, Cochesett, Marshfield, Chilmark, Pascoag and Harrisville, Windsorville. In 1871 he took the relation of a superannuate, in which he remained till his death. He married Anna M. Phillips in 1846, who survives him. His piety was deep; he walked and talked with God. There was nothing morose about his piety, it was full of sunshine and joy. As a preacher he was plain, pointed, practical. His sermons were Gospel messages, coming from a heart alive in the service of God and a consecrated intellect inspired by the Spirit. So great to him seemed the responsibility that at times he appeared almost overwhelmed. His sermons were well arranged, clear, and logical. As a pastor he was faithful and sympathetic. For nearly five years he was confined to his room, and most of that time to his bed. Willing to await God's time, yet he had a strong desire to depart and be with Christ. He made arrangements for his funeral and fell asleep February 23, 1895.

Philadelphia Conference.

G. D. CARROW was born in Kent County, Md., November 26, 1823, and passed to his rest July 11, 1894, in Washington, D. C. He was converted when but a youth at a camp meeting in Delaware, and was received on trial in the Philadelphia Conference in 1843. On March 10, 1847, he married Eliza Jane Thompson, of Cambridge, Md. His entire ministry was spent in the Philadelphia Conference. He served Soudersburg, Centerville and Kent, Haddington, Philadelphia; Bristol, Dover, Easton, Pottsville, Saint Paul's, Wilmington; Mount Salem, Trinity Church and Wharton Street, Philadelphia; Lancaster, Union, Philadelphia; Haines Street, Germantown; Stroudsburg, Minersville, Phœnixville, Lebanon, Fortieth Street and Emory, Philadelphia. In 1854 he was appointed missionary to Buenos Ayres with the Rev. Dallas D. Lore, and in 1856–58 was superintendent of that Mission. On his return from South America he was stationed in 1859 at Trinity Church, Philadelphia. He was a reserve delegate to the General Conference of 1864, and a member of that body in 1868. Dickinson College honored him with the degree of Doctor of Divinity in 1866. He became supernumerary in 1890 and superannuate in 1893. Having a dread of being dependent, he obtained a position in the Bureau of Naval War Records at Washington. His associates were gentlemen of culture, who highly appreciated him. He was very happy in his position, and exceedingly conscientious in the discharge of duty. As a Christian he was watchful, humble, and devoted. He had low views of his own attainments, but impressed those nearest to him with the fact that he lived in constant communion with God. He was a man of superior ability. His acquaintance with authors, ancient and modern, was extensive. His contributions to literature were large. He was a popular lecturer. His intellectual vigor was remarkable. He grasped almost by intuition what many required much time and help to reach. He filled many of the best pulpits of his Conference with acceptability. In pastoral work he was unsurpassed. In revival work his soul was all aglow. Many are now stars in his crown of rejoicing. In the pulpit he excelled. The beauty of his diction, the chasteness of his style, and the correctness of his logic were remarkable. He was instructive, winning, and convincing, often rising to such rapturous eloquence that his auditors were carried away with him in joyous exclamations. His constitutional characteristics took a wide range. He was as sensitive as an infant, tender as the most delicate woman, courteous as a knight of the olden time, fearless as a gladiator, and true as steel. His close confinement in the department during the heat of June prostrated him. As he finished his week and month Saturday, June 30, he complained of exhaustion. Acute peritonitis set in, and in ten days the struggle was ended. The Thursday before the end he said: "If I can see God when the last moment comes as I see him now, I shall be satisfied. I see him in all his glory and majesty and in all his ability and willingness to save a poor creature like me. O what a Saviour! Would that I could tell it to all! He has always known me. He knows how I loved him, how I went to the Holy Land that I might kiss the stones that he walked on." His last hour was eminently peaceful. A triumphant smile illumined his countenance, he saw the King in his glory, and was "satisfied."

JOHN DIXON LONG was born in Pocomoke City, Md., September 26, 1817. Converted in his eighteenth year, he united with the Church August 23, 1835. He was licensed to preach in 1838, and was admitted to the Philadelphia Conference in 1842. He filled the following appointments: Lewes, Laurel, Soudersburg, Pa.; New Castle, Del.; Dover, Talbot, Denton, and Nottingham. Here his health failed, and he took a supernumerary relation. At Denton in 1845 a fire threatened to destroy the town. With self-sacrificing devotion he ran to the rescue, overexerted his strength, and was drenched with water. The labor and exposure induced results from which he suffered during the remainder of his life. On March 12, 1844, he married Miss Sarah Caulk, of New Castle. From his mother he received his first antislavery lessons. Though the native of a State that made it a crime for a white man to teach a Negro to read the name of Jesus, yet unawed by jeers and threats he identified himself with the despised, built a church and organized a Sabbath school for the black people, and became the leader of a colored class. In 1857 he published in Philadelphia a volume entitled Victims of Slavery in Church and State, which consisted of personal reminiscences, biographical sketches, facts, and illustrations. Such was the inflamed state of public feeling that the book was denounced as an incendiary publication. Immediately preceding the war, when measures of vast moment, especially affecting human freedom, came before the Conference, he always voted his convictions, though his vote relegated him to the unpopular minority. In 1857-1858 he resided in Auburn, N. Y., preaching and lecturing as his health permitted. In 1864 he was elected Superintendent of Bedford Street Mission, Philadelphia. This position he filled with great acceptability for eighteen years, but owing to increasing infirmities he was compelled to resign his superintendency and seek a superannuated relation. He retired to the place of his birth to spend the evening of his days. Time had vindicated the wisdom of his early choice. The American bondmen had been led to freedom and franchise, and in the achievement of this stupendous revolution he was no unimportant factor. As he walked the streets of his native town, he was hailed a hero and benefactor, childhood and age bending to receive his blessings. He was a tender husband, a genial companion, a true friend, a rugged reformer, a Christian gentleman. On March 12, 1894, he celebrated with his wife their golden wedding. Shortly before his decease he said: "I am in a strait betwixt two, having a desire to depart and be with Christ, which is far better." On July 12, 1894, at high noon, the desire of his soul was satisfied, and his spirit winged its way to the realms of day.

JOHN B. MCCULLOUGH was born at Elk Ridge, near Oxford, Pa., February 23, 1823, and died at Chester Heights, Pa., July 25, 1894. His parents were faithful members of the Presbyterian Church, and his early religious training was almost entirely in the school of Calvinism. During a revival in the Elk Ridge Methodist Episcopal Church he was converted October 28, 1838. While his associations and domestic ties drew him toward the Presbyterian Church, his inclinations turned him toward the people among whom he found the pearl of great price. After nearly four months of struggle he united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, and never regretted the step. After studying in public school and academy he had a careful drill for two years in history and languages under a superior teacher, and during the same period taught the English branches and mathematics. He received license to exhort in 1844, was licensed to preach in 1845, and in 1846 was admitted on trial in the Philadelphia Conference. His appointments were as follows: Delaware City Circuit, Strasburg Circuit, Port Richmond, Philadelphia; Germantown, Ebenezer, Manayunk; Minersville, Mauch Chunk, Ebenezer, Reading; Western, Ebenezer, Philadelphia; City Home Mission, Front Street, Pottsville, West Chester, Green Street. In 1872 he became agent of Chester Heights Camp Meeting and Excursion Association; from 1873 till 1885 he was corresponding secretary of the Philadelphia Conference Tract Society; from 1885 till his death he occupied the editorial chair of the Philadelphia Methodist. In 1872 and 1884 he was a delegate to the General Conference. As a preacher he proclaimed the great truths of the Gospel with a tenderness, earnestness, and solicitude for souls which made his ministry impressive and successful. He was one of the incorporators of the Board of Church Extension and of the Philadelphia Conference Tract Society, and was foremost in founding and fostering the Chester Heights Camp Meeting Association. He originated the Philadelphia Conference periodical in April, 1876, under the name of The Monthly Messenger, which in January, 1879, developed into the Philadelphia Methodist. He originated in 1868 the "Preachers' Aid Society," which was adopted by the Conference in 1869, and for nearly twenty-seven years has done great good. Among the productions of his fertile brain and generous heart this society is perhaps his greatest monument. In 1882 Mount Union College conferred on him the title of Doctor of Divinity. He married December 4, 1849, Rebecca J. Byerly, who died in holy triumph April 22, 1885. Their two children survive. He was married in August, 1886, to Mrs. Anna M. Dalrymple, M. D., who, with his surviving sister, mourns his loss. In April he was taken ill of acute gastritis. When the heat became intense, he went to Chester Heights, where acute peritonitis set in, from which he died July 25, 1894. His piety was real, his character spotless, and his life useful. He lived in an age when such men were greatly needed, and has grandly done his part. Death was a part of his assets. Having Christ, he had all things—peace, victory, and heaven.

WILLIAM SAMUEL WHEELER was born in Washington, D. C., March 9, 1865, and died at University Park, Colo., October 7, 1894. As a child his greatest delight was in holding religious services among his playmates. When about eleven he obtained permission from his father, then pastor of Wesley Chapel, Washington, to use the lecture room of the church for a weekly meeting for children. About this time he also held services among the colored people on the eastern shore of Maryland. Moving to Baltimore, he identified himself with the church and became active in revival services. Here he attracted the attention of the presiding elder of the West Baltimore District, who employed him when only sixteen years of age as a supply on Pleasant Grove Circuit. The following year he served the Hampstead Circuit. He then entered Pennington Seminary, and while studying there supplied the Morristown church. Before he had been two years at Pennington he accepted an offer to labor in connection with the West Nebraska Mission. Here he remained four years, organizing several churches and doing yeoman service. On July 12, 1886, he married Ella Stevens, of Baltimore, who, with two children, survives. In 1888 he was transferred to the Philadelphia Conference and stationed at West York Street Mission. During his three years' service the church edifice was erected, and at the close of his term he reported one hundred and thirty-five members, with forty-five probationers. The condition of his health then led the authorities to send him to Tamaqua, where it was hoped the mountain air would prove beneficial. After a pastorate of a year he was compelled to take a supernumerary relation. Before the close of the following year he was appointed to the vacant Fifth Street Church. He served it until the Conference of 1894, and was then reappointed. Soon, however, it became apparent that he was not equal to the work. His physicians counseled his removal to Colorado as the only hope of saving his life, and with his family he went to University Park. For a time his health improved, but the hopes excited were short-lived. On Sunday morning, October 7, he exhibited great weakness, but his joy was rapturous. With a dying man's prevision he said, "I want you to sing to me. Sing 'Jesus, Lover of my soul.'" The heartbroken wife sang as best she could the first verse of that matchless hymn. Then clearly and distinctly he lined the second verse. The wife took up the song, and while she sang her husband "was not, for God took him." He was a true man. As a friend he was loved devotedly because he was so loving. He was a preacher of no mean ability. As a pastor he won the hearts of his parishioners. His funeral services were held at the Fifth Street Church, Philadelphia. The interment took place at Mount Moriah.

Thomas Woodly Maclary was born near Leipsic, Del., November 19, 1824, and died in Philadelphia, Pa., November 5, 1894. His early opportunities for culture were comparatively few, but by diligent study he qualified himself to teach in the public schools of his native State. In his young manhood he was converted and united with the Church. For several years he quietly labored to promote the interests of the Messiah's kingdom, content meanwhile to use his time and talents as a teacher. In 1855, while serving in that relation, he was licensed to preach, and the same year supplied a vacancy occurring on the Smyrna Circuit, where he had abundant success and was recommended to the traveling connection. He was received on trial in the Philadelphia Conference in 1856. His appointments were: Sudlersville Circuit, Wye Mission, Federalsburg, Georgetown Circuit. Shortly after the Conference in 1862 he was appointed Chaplain of the Third Delaware Volunteer Infantry and started for the war, but when near Charlestown, W. Va., was so seriously injured by a railroad accident that he was honorably discharged on October 22. Afterward he served Brandywine, Sanctuary, Philadelphia; Rising Sun, Philadelphia, where he was instrumental in the erection of a new edifice, which has since been known as the Mount Carmel Church; Mount Carmel, Second Street, Philadelphia; supernumerary, Monroe Circuit, Tobyhanna, Marcus Hook, Port Richmond, Crozierville, Christian Street, Philadelphia; Marietta, Steelton, Hummelstown. In 1890 he asked for a supernumerary relation, which he held until 1894, when he became superannuated. A little more than two weeks before his death serious symptoms in connection with the action of the heart developed. Rest and nursing relieved his distress, and his family were encouraged by the hope of his recovery. During his greatest suffering he said: "I am out of the circumference of the attractive spiritual influences to which I have been so long accustomed, and near the very center of which I have stood . . . . And O, at times God gives me such revelations of his glory as I hardly thought it was possible for me to bear." The Sunday before he died he was exceedingly weak, but wonderfully happy. Waving his hand and pointing upward, he said, "It is all right, all right!" On Monday evening, November 5, he experienced a succession of violent convulsions, which interrupted consciousness. A little before midnight God gave his beloved that "peaceful rest whose waking is supremely blest." He was a good man and a practical and pointed preacher. He was also a sweet singer in Israel, and won many persons to Christ by the Gospel which he sang. The sorrowful and the needy found in him a friend. In all the charges he served he exerted a blessed influence. His wife, his companion for nearly forty-eight years, and their adopted daughter survive him, but they know by the knowledge born of Christian faith that he is present with the Lord.

Enoch Stubbs was born February 25, 1841, in Glossup, England. He was planted in a sunny spot of our Lord's vineyard. His father and mother were of the old Methodist stock. When but a boy he was converted, and when only twelve he received his first class ticket. At fourteen he began to preach. Having served as a local preacher for five years, he entered the regular ministry in his nineteenth year. He preached two years on Preston Circuit and two years more on Bury Circuit. He came to this country in 1864, and joined the Crozierville Methodist Episcopal Church. He was appointed to Millington, Md., in 1865. In 1866 he was appointed to Kent Circuit. Remaining there three years, he was then sent to Milford. At the close of three successful years he was called to old Asbury, Wilmington, Del. After three years he was sent to Smyrna, Del. In 1878 he was transferred to the Philadelphia Conference. His appointments in Philadelphia were: Central Church, Wharton Street, Saint John's, Thirteenth Street, Asbury, and Siloam. In all these charges his labors were abundant. He sought to instruct the ignorant, strengthen the weak, comfort the sad, and save the lost for the glory of Christ. He had great trials, but never murmured, saying but a few weeks before his death, "I cannot complain; my Jesus is more to me than I deserve." He married Mary A. Goldthorpe January 18, 1864, who, with two sons and three daughters, sorrows over his departure. He lived in harmony with enlightened reason and infallible revelation. The transition came suddenly. Absent from the body, he is present with the Lord.

Trusten P. Newberry was born in Ohio January 3, 1859, his ancestors being among the oldest families of New England. He was converted at fourteen and united with the Church at Marble Cliff, O. He studied in the public schools of the place, and taught for two years in Madison township. He was there very successful, and his memory is fondly cherished. Desiring a better equipment for life than could be furnished by the public schools, he went to the Wesleyan University, Delaware, O., where he graduated in 1884, having obtained honorable rank in scholarship. During his college course he received license to preach. Feeling called to the ministry, he gave up a long-cherished predilection for the law. Soon after graduation he went East and was appointed to Millersville, Pa. He was admitted on trial in the Philadelphia Conference in 1885, and was appointed to Prospect Park. On July 29, 1886, he married Minnie S., daughter of Dr. Henry Wheeler, of the Philadelphia Conference. In 1887 he was admitted to membership, ordained deacon, and appointed to East Mauch Chunk, Pa., where he was much beloved and very useful. In 1889 he was ordained elder and appointed to Kedron, Pa. During this year symptoms of the spinal trouble that ultimately terminated his life began to appear, so that in 1890 he became supernumerary. In 1891 he was made effective and stationed at Langhorne, Pa., where he remained until 1893, when failing strength compelled him again to ask for a supernumerary relation. At that time he retired with his wife and son to his father's residence in Groveport, O., where he lingered in much suffering until March 15, 1895, when the divine Father received him to glory. His religious experience was very satisfactory to himself; his resignation was perfect; his interest in all pertaining to the cause of Christ never waned to the last conscious moment. One of his presiding elders says: "He had a very impressive physique, of such symmetry and apparent strength as to warrant the assumption that a long life of usefulness in the Church was secure to him. . . . It was evident from the first interview that he was a fine-grained Christian, a student of the Scriptures with but one thought and that to know the will of God with the earnest desire of imparting it to others. . . . He was fervent, but never frivolous; dignified, but not repellent. His brave and protracted struggle for the restoration of his health made him a hero in the estimation of those who knew how firmly and bravely he bore his sufferings. . . . In his brief career he has left the impress of a true mind, heart, and life on those who came in contact with him that will never be effaced. The mystery of his early removal from the field of the world, for which he was so well equipped as a Christian worker, must remain unbroken until we see him as he is."

North Indiana Conference.

William Stewart Boston was born in Madison County, Ind., January 4, 1850, and there died July 25, 1894. He entered the preparatory department of Asbury University at nineteen, and graduated in 1875. He was converted while in college, although he had united with the Church in 1865. For two years he had charge of the schools at Pendleton, Ind. In 1877 he was admitted on trial in the North Indiana Conference, of which he was an honored member at his death. He married May McCarter January 25, 1881, who, with three children, survives him. He successively served Anderson Circuit, Spiceland, Lewisville and Ogden, Centerville, Pierceton, and Market Street, Logansport. In 1893 he asked for a superannuated relation, being no longer able to continue in the active work. He was a lovable man and best loved where best known. He was most earnest and efficient in all his work. His faithfulness will long be remembered.

Joseph A. R. Gahring was born in York, Pa., October 2, 1860, and died in La Grange, Ind., September 29, 1894. He was converted and joined the Church at fifteen. He graduated from De Pauw University in 1887, was received on trial in the North Indiana Conference in 1888, and into full connection in 1890, when he was ordained deacon. Two years later he was ordained elder. He married Miss Mary L. Moore June 13, 1888, who, with two children, survives. He was always an acceptable minister. His appointments were: Wheatland Street, Logansport; Sharpsville, Markland Avenue, Kokomo; and La Grange. The funeral was held in La Grange, and he was laid to rest in Kokomo, Ind.

Enoch Holdstock was born in Appledore, County of Kent, England, May 28, 1817, and died at Muncie, Ind., April 14, 1894. When eight years of age he came to America. He was converted at fifteen, and was powerfully called to the ministry. In 1839 he was licensed to preach. At twenty-six he entered the active ministry and preached continuously for fifty-three years. He was twice married. Death, due to heart disease, came without any immediate premonition. He was laid to rest in Beach Grove Cemetery, Muncie. During his ministry he wrought mightily in many places as pastor and presiding elder. He was a true servant of the Master, honored and loved by his brethren.

Benjamin Smith was born in West Rushville, O., January 14, 1819, and died in Muncie, Ind., September 7, 1894. He was converted in Madison County, O., in 1837, and immediately became a member of the Church. He was twice married. He was admitted to the North Indiana Conference in 1851, ordained a deacon by Bishop Ames in 1853, and an elder by Bishop Scott in 1855. In 1878 poor health compelled him for the second time to take a superannuated relation. He was an earnest and efficient minister of the word. Enjoying a rich Christian experience, he seemed at times, especially when speaking upon themes relating to personal religious life, the very embodiment of the truth he preached. His last days were marked by great feebleness, but by a wonderful spiritual uplift. His death was most triumphant—a fitting end to a devoted Christian life.

Daniel Freeman Stright was born March 6, 1811, at Gravel Run, Pa. He married Apphia Jones April 17, 1834. He was converted at eighteen, received license to exhort February 5, 1834, and was licensed to preach September 6, 1835. In 1838 he was admitted into the Indiana Conference. At its division he became a member of the North Indiana Conference, where he remained until his death, April 22, 1894. He was ordained deacon in 1839, and elder in 1841. For forty-nine years he was on the effective list. He traveled thirty-five circuits, served one station, and was presiding elder one term. His last six years were spent in Knightstown, Ind., as a superannuate. He was a great reader, a good preacher, and a godly man.

William S. Birch was born in Dresden, O., March 29, 1825, and came to Tippecanoe County, Ind., when four years of age. Here he grew to manhood. He had reached the exact measure of threescore years and ten at his death. He united with the Church February 7, 1840, was licensed to preach August 23, 1849, and was soon received on trial in the North Indiana Conference. Bishop Morris ordained him deacon in 1851, and Bishop Ames ordained him elder in 1853. He was in continuous service either as pastor or presiding elder from 1849 till 1895. He was married three times. He was twice elected to the General Conference, and was also appointed a delegate to the Ecumenical Conference at Washington, D. C., in 1891. For four years he was a trustee of De Pauw University, and for many years president of the Board of Trustees of Fort Wayne College. Funeral services were held at Logansport, where he died during the session of the Conference, by Bishop Warren, the presiding bishop. He was interred in the cemetery at Kokomo.

New York East Conference.

Jonas Oramel Peck was born September 4, 1836, in Groton, Vt. His father was a farmer and a blacksmith. In country sports, field work, and at the village forge the boy grew big and strong till he could manage the wildest colt and swing the heaviest sledge. From his thirteenth to his seventeenth year he drove the stage on a line which his father owned, and was to some extent a horse dealer. At seventeen he went to the Peacham Academy, where he manifested special power in oratory. This led him to conceive an ambition to become a lawyer, but, opportunity for preparation not being within reach, his aspiration seemed only an idle dream. No epoch-making experience happened to him until his twenty-first year, when alone in a thunderstorm on a mountain he was suddenly converted. From this hour he was expecting Providence to enlarge his life. His first chance came in an opportunity to teach a district school, which proved the door into the world where a great career awaited him. While teaching he boarded with a Congregational deacon, a man of God, who soon had the young schoolmaster on his heart as a burden in such fashion that he became God's mouthpiece, with a message to deliver. One evening after singing school he rolled his burden off by saying abruptly, "Mr. Peck, you must preach the Gospel to dying men." Instant conviction darted through the soul of the young man, who felt that an authentic commission had arrived from the Pastor and Bishop of souls. To preach he must have an education; but he had no money. Nevertheless he entered Newbury Seminary in 1857 to prepare for college. He earned money by teaching school winters and hiring out in harvest fields summers. Two years of hard study prepared him to enter sophomore at Amherst in 1859. He worked and preached and starved his way through college. In April, 1860, he was admitted on probation in the New England Conference and appointed pastor at North Amherst. The next spring his appointment was changed to Chicopee Falls, seventeen miles from Amherst, which distance he was obliged to drive each week. In 1862 he was assigned to Mount Bellingham Church in Chelsea. Immediately after graduation he married Miss Susan R. Robinson, of Amherst, who was the mother of his children and the sharer of his labors for twenty-seven years. After two years in Chelsea he was appointed to Worthen Street, Lowell, where three hundred were converted. From 1867 to 1870 Worcester was his field, Grace Church being a result of his labor. In 1870 he went to Trinity, Springfield, where his pastorate was marked by an extensive revival and the removal of a debt of $32,000. In 1873 he was transferred to Centenary Church, Chicago. Here in his first year about six hundred were added to the church. In 1874 the degree of D.D. was conferred by Lawrence University, Wisconsin. In 1876 he was transferred to Mount Vernon Place, Baltimore, where he repeated his Chicago record of sweeping revivals and great additions to the membership. In October, 1878, he was transferred to the vacant pulpit of St. John's Church, Brooklyn. Within five months there was a great revival with a large ingathering. In 1881 he became pastor at Hanson Place. More than nine hundred members were added during his pastorate. In his first year there came the first serious break in his health, compelling months of rest and treatment, and the next year a European tour. At the close of his term he was sent to Trinity Church, New Haven, where he continued his record of tremendous revivals and multitudinous ingatherings. From New Haven he went in 1887 to Simpson Church, Brooklyn. Here in January of his first winter, when he was entering upon revival services, his wife fell dead, and almost immediately he sank into an illness so prostrating as to make relief from the pastorate a necessity. Accordingly at the Conference he was appointed Financial Secretary of the Brooklyn Church Society. On May 26 of that year the General Conference, held in New York city, elected him one of the Corresponding Secretaries of the Missionary Society, which office he filled with eminent efficiency and increasing popularity until his death, he having been reelected at the General Conference in Omaha in 1892. In January, 1890, he married Mrs. Alice M. Ofterdinger, of Washington, D. C., who, with his two sons, survives him. Twice he was a General Conference delegate from the New York East Conference. For twelve years he was Chaplain of the Fourteenth Regiment of Brooklyn. He had an unusual physical outfit—a sound constitution, a stalwart and well-proportioned frame, buoyant spirits, exuberant emotions, a glowing imagination, immense working capacity—and boundless faith in God. He was born of Congregational ancestry and in a Congregational home, was taught in a Congregational Sunday school, and was kept through youth in ways of morality by Congregational influences. He was not converted through Methodist agencies, but by the sudden springing up in his heart of seed which Congregational teaching had sown in him from his birth. Moreover, this great revivalist was not himself the fruit of any revival. Let him tell the story of his conversion in his own words: "On September 15, 1856, I was climbing a mountain alone when a terrific thunderstorm drove me for shelter into an old deserted, dilapidated house. I stood in the door watching the wild play of the storm, full of awe at the sublimity of the scene, but without fear, when in an instant I was filled with a sense of God's goodness in giving me life and protection. My ingratitude, God's claims, my duty swept before me as a panorama. Every just instinct and grateful sentiment of my soul, quickened by the Spirit of God, demanded my consecration to his service. Short but sharp the struggle. Then and there I dropped on my knees and dedicated myself to him from that hour. I prayed till I felt peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ. When I arose, the storm had ceased and the sun was shining. I was in a new world. Such beauty and glory in nature I never saw before. The retreating storm, the brilliant rainbow, the trees dripping and glistening in the sunlight, every blade of grass, tipped with diamonds, flashing in the sunset glow—this was the resplendent scene which transfigured the mountain as anew I climbed its ascent, a forgiven and adopted child of God." He was not called to preach by any Methodist instrumentality, but, as already noted, by a divine message from a Congregational deacon. His ministry started in an irregular and humanly unauthorized fashion. On Sunday, October 17, 1858, while a student at Newbury, not yet a church member, but Congregationalist so far as he was anything, he preached in the Indoes Falls Methodist Episcopal Church. The pastor who listened immediately took him into full membership and the day after licensed him as a local preacher. The extraordinary came to pass in every place where he was pastor. He was a disturber of the peace of sleepy neighborhoods. His was the ministry of a son of thunder, as if his soul had absorbed the temper of the storm in which he was converted. His preaching was belligerent toward ungodliness and the powers of darkness. He smote with a lunging force like the fighting gladiator. From a heart which burned like a furnace his fiery words flew as sparks from a forge. He will probably be remembered as the great pastor-evangelist of Methodism in his generation. A revival he must have every year. To that he had sworn an oath, and neither men nor devils could prevent it. His protracted meetings ran ten, twelve, fourteen weeks. His ministry was made wearisome by his excessively exhausting methods. By the close of his St. John's pastorate in 1881 his iron constitution showed signs of breaking, and by the beginning of his Simpson Church pastorate in 1887 his strength was no longer equal to his methods, so that he regarded the missionary secretaryship as an answer to his prayer for a change of work. As missionary secretary he stormed audiences so that they spoke of him as an "oratoric cyclone." He was also a most capable secretary in the office business. His knowledge of facts was full and correct, and a call for information seldom found him unprepared to respond. He never shirked his share of labor or responsibility, but devoted himself to the drudgery and confinement of office routine with unsparing assiduity. His most intimate connection as missionary secretary was with India, a country for which he longed and for a while definitely expected to visit. His last special labor was the completion of The Revival and the Pastor, printed after his death, and having a wide sale. The volume contains an epitome of his ministry, and is the fitting crown of his career. During his last six months he concentrated his energies intensely upon it, sitting up to work at it many a night when he should have been asleep. Great was the shock to Methodism, from New York to Bombay, when this strong man, with the load of his work on his broad shoulders, suddenly staggered and came down with a crash, like an oak tree uprooted by a tornado. Toward morning, May 10, 1894, he was seized with nausea and a chill, and after one week of distressing illness fell asleep at midnight, and just as the sunrise of Thursday, May 17, looked in at his window his spirit took the wings of the morning. From his deathbed he sent no messages, spoke no farewells, left no significant utterances, for the last slumber settled peacefully upon him while he expected recovery. But his ministry of nearly forty years was the full expression of his soul and his long and ample message to the world. The funeral service was held, as was most appropriate, in Hanson Place Church, on Saturday, May 19, conducted by Bishop E. G. Andrews, and was participated in by Bishops Foss, Thoburn, and others. His body rests in Greenwood.

JOHN PEGG was born in Coventry, England, March 10, 1827. His fourth birthday occurred during the voyage of his father's family to this country. The father, having been a Wesleyan preacher in England, joined the Troy Conference and did many years of effective work within its bounds. The mother died soon after the family had become settled in their new home. Her saintliness profoundly impressed her son, and doubtless more than any earthly agency inclined him at a tender age to give his heart to God. Of the clearness of that great crisis he often spoke with grateful emphasis, frequently adding that he could remember no time thereafter when he did not expect to preach. His preparatory studies were pursued at Poultney, Vt., and he graduated from the Wesleyan University in 1849. On May 2, 1855, he married Miss Grace Gilbert, of Derby, Conn. Their daughter is now the wife of Rev. N. G. Cheney, of the New York East Conference. In 1850 he joined that Conference. His appointments were as follows: West Granby, Plymouth, Simsbury, Ansonia, St. John Street, New Haven; Hartford, Danbury, Forsyth Street, New York; Middletown, George Street, New Haven; Meriden, Second Church, Norwalk; South Second Street, Brooklyn; Waterbury, Conn.; Fleet Street, Brooklyn; Danbury again, Port Chester. Physically unequal to the toils of active service, as he believed, he took a supernumerary relation in 1888–92, and a superannuated in 1893. He brought to his work fine native abilities enriched by culture. Of these gifts, imagination was perhaps the most active. To that quality was due the capacity to awaken and hold the attention of audiences, so often noted as a feature of his earliest preaching. One of the speakers at his funeral, a convert of his ministry at New Haven, described his sermons at that period as of a "higher order, full of fresh, original thought, admirably illustrated;" and another, referring to his ministry at Middletown, in allusion to its cheerfulness, said, "Brother Pegg's ministry was a song." A deep spirituality pervaded his soul, and sometimes made him so mighty in prayer that fellow-worshipers were profoundly thrilled. His genial spirit, unaffected sympathy, and cordial greeting gave him a powerful hold upon the people. Generous, loving, and without selfish ambition or craving for preferment, he stood in his Conference for more than forty-four years one of the noblest of its workers. His last public service was on the second Sunday of June, 1894, when he devoted his only grandchild to God in Christian baptism. At the end he announced the hymn, "I think, when I read that sweet story of old." It was sung, and the congregation paused for the benediction. But, inspired by the last stanza, he caught up a basket of crimson roses from the communion table and, holding it out at arm's length, cried out, "What sort of a place must that be which God is preparing for us when he gives us such roses as these down here?" The morning that followed he was obliged to keep his bed. He calmly settled his earthly affairs with the air of one who had detached himself from the world. At the last the death scene was wonderful. These words were his last words spoken at intervals, "The celestial story of eternal victory!" "The darkness of the night has all passed and the morning light cometh, the morning light, the morning light, the morning, the morning!" Then slowly and with great effort he uttered this marvelous sentence, "The trumpet—of victory!" Then after a little, "Listen, the trumpets of victory! Listen!" It was as if one glad angel, in the rush to welcome this man of God, had outstripped the others, and one jubilant note had reached his ear first, and then the whole chorus of joy had broken in upon his soul. Again he repeated, "The trumpets of victory! Victory! Victory!" Then, fearing that we might not understand the word, he spelled slowly, "V-i-c-t-o-r-y!" . . . "I see the end, I see the end!" he murmured. Again his lips moved, and we caught the sound of "Mother!" "Blessed Saviour!" he whispered. The breath was almost gone, but we heard him say, "So calm, so calm! So triumphant! The chariot, the chariot! Hallelujah forever!" His bodily anguish increased, and with a cry of "O Lamb of God, I come, I come!" the pure soul freed itself from the earthly house of the tabernacle and rose into its native atmosphere.

William Perry Arbuckle was born in Mercer, Pa., October 7, 1862, and died at Plainville, Conn., August 11, 1894. He was of Methodist parentage, and was early instructed in the Scriptures and the doctrines of the Church. He was converted at fourteen, finished his preparatory course at Grove City Academy, entered Allegheny College, and completed his college course at Oberlin. It had been his intention to follow the law, but during his last year at Oberlin he felt called to enter the ministry. After his graduation he supplied for a time the Centerville Circuit in Erie Conference. In 1886 he entered Boston University School of Theology, and graduated in 1889. During his theological course he supplied churches in Yarmouth, Worcester, and Shrewsbury, Mass. After graduating he supplied West Parish and Granville in the New England Conference. In 1888 he was ordained elder at Fall River by Bishop Fowler. In 1890 he was transferred from the Erie Conference, which he had joined in 1888, to the New York East Conference, and stationed at Howard Avenue, New Haven, where he remodeled the church at a cost of several thousand dollars, besides adding many to the membership. Three years later he was appointed to Shelton. During his first year there many were converted in special services. He was always in a revivalistic spirit, even when devoting several days each week to special study. His sermons were simple and earnest. When asked why he never used his knowledge of philosophy and other sciences in his sermons, his reply was, "My business is to preach the Gospel only." He was a holy man in his walk and conversation. He married in 1886 Miss Anna Whieldon, of Fredonia, Pa. While attending camp meeting at Plainville, where he labored very earnestly, he was taken with stricture of the bowels, to which an injury in boyhood had often made him subject, and which several times had imperiled his life. He was removed to the parsonage at Plainville, where he died of heart failure about twelve hours afterward. His ruling passion, a desire for the salvation of souls, was strong in death. He repeated the names of many unconverted persons who had resisted his appeals during a recent revival in his church, solemnly declaring that they must be brought to God. The announcement of his death at camp meeting, where probably more had been converted through his instrumentality than that of anyone else, transformed the final love feast into a sad memorial service. His funeral service was held at the church in Shelton.

George Hollis was born in Rye, England, March 21, 1809. He remembered distinctly when Waterloo was fought, and saw some of the generals and royal personages passing through Rye on their way to the rendezvous where was to be settled the fate of the disturber of Europe. He entered school when only three or four years of age. At ten he was at a boarding school in Lydd. He then returned to Rye and attended a high school. He says of himself about this time: "I read a great deal; many religious books—biographies of Hester Ann Rogers, Bramwell, and Fletcher—and was captivated by Wesley's Notes on the New Testament." His mother was the means of the conversion of his father, who became a local preacher. When he was about thirteen a great revival broke out in Rye. Meetings were held in a sail loft. He assumed that he was converted, and surely met a change. At fifteen he went away to Feversham to learn a trade, and was there for five years. He preached his first sermon when about nineteen years of age. When about twenty-one he came to the United States and settled in Brooklyn. Sands Street Church became his religious home. Here for ten or eleven years he was a member, Sunday school teacher, class leader, exhorter, and local preacher. In 1842 he joined the New York Conference. The following were his appointments: Greenport and Orient, West Hampton, Smithtown Circuit, Greenport again, Huntington, North Hempstead Circuit, Bridgehampton, Greenpoint, Southport, Mamaroneck, Greenwich, Nichols Farms, Redding, Westport and Poplar Plains, Mamaroneck again, New York City Mission, Roslyn, North Fifth Street, Brooklyn; Springfield, L. I.; supernumerary, filling vacancy at Leonard Street, Brooklyn; Cook Street, supernumerary again, supplying Francis Church; superannuated. At Mamaroneck the second time, in 1865, he was the associate of Dr. Abel Stevens. While superannuated he served the Brooklyn Church Society without pay. He was generous and unselfish to a fault. Having in his heart the great peace of Christ, he was an ardent lover of peace, and it was easy for him to pour oil upon the troubled waters of strife. His manners were so kind, his words so gracious and conciliatory, his spirit so Christlike, that it was not easy to resist his counsels to peace. His ministry was characterized by great fidelity. Large was the harvest gathered during his long ministry. Much of the good influence that he wielded grew out of his holy life and unusual pastoral work among his people. He was a voracious reader, and his selection of reading matter was broad. His memory of facts might be called phenomenal. Even to within five days of his death his recollection of details was remarkably accurate and full. His first wife was Naomi Baker. She died in 1839. His second wife was Mary Lucinda Wiggins, of Orient, L. I. She passed to her rest November 3, 1892. He bore the sadness of separation with Christian trust, and in two years and one day, November 4, 1894, he followed her to the land of life. A large and sympathetic audience was present to pay their tribute of respect at his funeral in Janes Church, Brooklyn. His remains were taken to Orient, L. I., and were tenderly laid away amid the scenes of his first pastorate.

Sylvester H. Clark was born in Wilbraham, Mass., in 1810, and thus enjoyed in his youth the advantages of our oldest literary institution. In 1835 he married a daughter of Rev. Ebenezer Washburn, and the same year joined the New York Conference. The following were his appointments: New Britain, Cornwall Circuit, Farmington, Harlem Mission, Danbury, Wethersfield, Newington and Berlin, Wethersfield and West Rocky Hill, Farmington again, Cook Street, Brooklyn; Greenpoint, Dean Street Mission, which developed into Hanson Place Church. He then became a superannuate, and so continued until death. His bookstore on Fulton Street, Brooklyn, became the headquarters of Methodists, and there the first Brooklyn preachers' meetings were held. In 1875 he removed to Franklin Falls, N. H.; in 1878 to Plymouth, Mass. He was tall and of a dignified bearing. His conversation betokened the kindly Christian gentleman. As a preacher he was earnest and successful. At Danbury he was favored with a most gracious revival. Many were converted, and the Church largely strengthened. During all the years of his retirement, as his health would permit, he occasionally preached. On Sunday, December 23, 1894, he was at church; on Wednesday, the 26th, he was not, for God took him. He died at the residence of his daughter in Plymouth, Mass. The memory of the just is blessed.

Maine Conference.

Abel E. Parlin was born in Weld, Me., January 10, 1859, and died in Paris, Me., January 1, 1895. He was converted in his eighteenth year. Two years later he began attending school at Kent's Hill. In the spring of 1882 he felt called to preach. In June, 1883, he received a license, and supplied the church at Andover, Me., during the summer vacation. He then went back to Kent's Hill to finish his course, graduating in 1884. In September he entered Boston University, but remained less than a year on account of failing health. After returning to Maine his health improved so that he again supplied the church at Andover. In 1886 he was received on probation in the Maine Conference, and in 1888 was admitted to full connection and ordained deacon by Bishop Fowler. In 1890 he was ordained elder by Bishop Andrews. The following are the charges he served: North Anson, Madison, Livermore Falls, Bridgton, Gorham, N. H. Having overworked during a revival in his last year at Bridgton, on July 31, 1894, while attending the Chautauqua Assembly at Fryeburg he was taken violently ill with gastric fever. It was some time before he could be taken back to Gorham. After a few weeks it was evident he was wasting away with consumption. He lingered until January 1, 1895, when he passed triumphantly to his heavenly home. In June, 1886, he married Miss Angie L. Swan, of Bethel. He rejoiced in the conscious experience of a pure heart. He was a good preacher, and God gave him souls as the seal of his ministry on every charge he served. He was beloved by all who knew him.

William H. Middleton died at Oxford, Me., November 24, 1894. He was born in Bedford, England, near the place where Bunyan wrote Pilgrim's Progress. He was converted at fifteen during some special services held in his church, the Primitive Methodist. Fifty young men joined the church at that time, and three of them became ministers. He sailed from England the day he was nineteen. The second year he was here he organized in the Chelsea Y. M. C. A. a class in anatomy, which he studied in England. One young man became interested, afterward studied in a New York hospital, went to China as a missionary, and now has charge of a hospital in that country. In 1891–92 he was secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Attleboro, Mass. He attended the East Greenwich Academy the winter term of 1893. He married, July 6, 1892, Miss Lizzie Gomersall, of English descent, who had been in this country a year longer than himself. He was licensed to preach in England, and continued a local preacher until he joined the Maine Conference on trial in 1894, when he was stationed at Oxford and Weichville. He constantly grew in favor with the people, both as preacher and pastor. He was preeminently a man of God. He was very devoted and sweet spirited, pure in heart, noble in life, and earnest in effort. He was thrown from his carriage November 4, 1894, and so injured internally that he did not recover.

Benjamin Freeman was born in Parsonsfield, Me., but in early life removed to Westbrook, Me. While young he attended schools in his own town, and then the Maine Wesleyan Seminary, where he was recognized as a diligent student and as a consistent Christian. In 1844 he joined the Maine Conference and was stationed at Durham. Two years after he was discontinued, and for several years was employed as a teacher and in municipal business, serving for two sessions as clerk of the House of Representatives. In 1858 he again joined the Conference, and for thirty-seven years served as a minister of the Gospel. His last appointment was at West Kennebunk, where his services were highly appreciated. Before the year closed, after a short and severe sickness, he was suddenly summoned to his reward. He died March 2, 1895, aged seventy-three years. He was a sound preacher and a pastor wholly devoted to his work.

Nathaniel C. Clifford was born in Grantham, N. H., in 1822, and died in Monmouth, Me., August 31, 1894. He was converted at sixteen, and soon after heard the call to preach. He entered our school at Kent's Hill and worked his way through. At the age of twenty-five he joined the Maine Conference. In 1847 he was appointed to Wilton and Temple; in 1848–49, to New Portland. Here he had a continuous revival, where over one hundred were converted. His zeal carried him beyond his strength and his health failed, so that he was obliged to take a superannuated relation. Locating in Oxford, Me., he opened his house and held meetings. A good work was soon begun, a pastor was secured, and this was the beginning of our church in Oxford. In 1854 he was appointed tract agent, and so continued till 1866, when for three years he was city missionary in Lewiston. During the two following years he did successful evangelistic work. In 1870 he was pastor at Harpswell. In 1871–74 he was pastor at West Waterville (now Oakland); in 1875–77, at Livermore; in 1878, East Poland and Minot. In 1879–81 he was Bible agent for Kennebec County. In 1882 he was pastor at Turner and Buckfield, and from 1883 he was Conference Tract Agent. He was a man of deep piety, strong faith, and untiring zeal. He was a good preacher and a faithful pastor. He emphasized the doctrine of holiness, which he believed could only properly exalt Christ. He was a true evangelist, and left many converts on every charge he served. Few men have been better known in Maine, and none more loved. He married Miss Lucy Almeda Dunn, of Poland, Me., in 1848. One son, Howard A. Clifford, has given himself to the ministry, and one daughter is a minister's wife. Blessed is the memory of such men. The world is poorer when they go out of it, and heaven the richer when they enter in.

Luther P. French was born in Solon, Me., May 2, 1812, and died in Rumford, Me., January 14, 1895. His father was an efficient local preacher; his mother was one of the elect daughters of God. The children reared in this home all became Christians, and two entered the Christian ministry. Luther was converted in 1835. He soon heard a call to preach, and sought preparation in the Maine Wesleyan Seminary. In 1839 he was received into the Maine Conference and was stationed at Winslow. In the division of the Conference in 1848 he was assigned work in the East Maine Conference. But in 1872 he returned to the Maine Conference and was stationed at Solon. At the close of his three years' pastorate there he took a supernumerary relation, returned to the effective relation in 1882, and superannuated in 1887. He served as presiding elder of the Bangor District from 1864–67, and was in the General Conferences of 1856 and 1868, leading his delegation the latter year. From August, 1862, until the spring of 1864 he was chaplain of the Twentieth Maine. He was a faithful pastor and a good preacher. He was thrice married. His closing years were passed at Rumford, his last charge. Softening of the brain did its slow, pitiful work. The burial was from the church at Solon, his native place.

Troy Conference.

Orlo Thompson was born in Ticonderoga, N. Y., June 29, 1846, and died at Fort Ann, N. Y., after a short illness, July 12, 1894. He was converted at eleven. He married Miss Emma Preston, of Ticonderoga, March 11, 1868; received a local preacher's license in 1874; was ordained deacon by Bishop Haven in 1878, and elder by Bishop Warren in 1883. His appointments were: Saranac Lake, Dannemora, Champlain, Ausable Forks, Essex and Whalonsburg, South Cambridge and Buskirk's, Fort Ann. In Street Road, Ticonderoga, his early home, the people still talk of him as the Christian boy, of his power in prayer and his godly example. As a young man he was associated with the official board of the Ticonderoga church in its deepest depression, and but for his unswerving faith, liberality, and loyalty that church might have been destroyed. While pursuing a business life in his native town he was called to preach. He was then twenty-eight, but like Elisha turned his back on his former occupation. With that sublime trust which characterized all his subsequent life he left behind his wife and two little sons, both now grown to be honored ministers of this Conference, plunged into his studies at Fort Edward Institute, and made splendid progress during the few years spent there. His first appointment at Saranac Lake was pioneer work. By unyielding perseverance he laid the foundation for what now constitutes Saranac Lake and Lake Placid charges. At Champlain he found the church discouraged under a heavy debt and the edifice but partially completed; he left a finished and beautiful structure with all debts canceled, and a glorious revival was the immediate result. At Whalonsburg, where a new church had been nearly completed, and where the leader had absconded with the funds and left the society without credit or confidence, he saw the debt canceled, confidence restored, and defeat turned into victory. At Buskirk's he remodeled the dilapidated church, and at South Cambridge repaired the edifice and met every dollar of the indebtedness. On his last charge, at Fort Ann, unincumbered by church building, he saw nearly one hundred souls turn to the Lord. His heart and brain were on fire with zeal. His love and faith knew no bounds. He was a devoted pastor and an earnest preacher. Earth and heaven have been made richer by the Gospel he proclaimed.

Edward N. Howe was born in Ticonderoga, N. Y., October 12, 1827, and died at Saratoga Springs, N.Y., August 13, 1894. He professed religion at sixteen. He was admitted to the Troy Conference in 1851, and served the following charges: Milton and Georgia, Enosburg and Sheldon, Hyde Park, Charlotte, Addison and Panton, West Salisbury, East Pittsford and Mendon, Benson, Starksboro and Huntington, Williston, Hinesburg, Weybridge, Greenfield, Clifton Park and Newtown, Tomhannock, South Cambridge and Kings, Gansevoort and Fortsville. He also supplied three other places after he took a superannuated relation. In no place of his long ministry was he without the blessed joy of souls saved from sin. His piety was fervent, his faith noted for its simplicity, and his hope for its assurance. He exemplified the experience of perfect love with constant fidelity and a marked sweetness of spirit. He lived not in vain, and his works do follow him.

Albert W. Wilcox was born in Saranac, N. Y., March 4, 1869, and died November 15, 1894. He came to South Plattsburg in his eighteenth year, a young man without parents or home. By his loving disposition and faithful Christian living he won the respect of the entire community. With only the rudiments of the English branches, and with less than a year's study at the Plattsburg High School, he secured a certificate to teach, and while engaged in that work felt called to preach. In April, 1890, he received a local preacher's license, and in July went to North Hudson as a supply, where he remained until the following Conference. He entered the Troy Conference in 1891, and was ordained deacon in 1893 by Bishop Joyce. In 1891 and 1892 he labored at Elizabethtown, and in 1893 at Brainard and East Nassau. At the Conference of 1894, because of illness, he was granted a supernumerary relation, which relation he held at his death. He married Miss Etta M. Lewis, of South Plattsburg, N. Y., in May, 1892. During his illness he was sustained by the truth of the text from which he last preached, "And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God." His dying hours were filled with peace. After bidding farewell to his friends and loved ones he exclaimed, "Victory through our Lord Jesus Christ!" and quietly passed into the rest that remaineth for the people of God.

Samuel Meredith was born in Dublin, Ireland, March 9, 1820. He was of Welsh and English descent. His parents were among the first followers of John Wesley in Ireland, his grandmother's house being the first place where a Wesleyan preached in that country. He was received into the society there and was licensed in 1839. The family came to New York in 1847. His father was employed in the Methodist Book Rooms. He joined the church in New York in 1847, and the New York East Conference in 1848. He was ordained deacon in 1850 by Bishop Janes, and elder in 1853 by Bishop Waugh. He married Miss Eleanor Boomer, of New York, in 1850. She died in Troy, N. Y., in 1880. His two brothers, Robert and Richard, were at one time members of the Troy Conference, and are now Congregational ministers. In 1851, his wife's health requiring a change, he was transferred to North Ohio Conference and appointed to Mansfield. In 1852 he was transferred to the Troy Conference and appointed to Amsterdam, N. Y. He was appointed presiding elder of the Saratoga District in 1864. In 1868 he was appointed presiding elder of the Albany District. In 1884 he again served the Saratoga District. He was elected delegate to the General Conference in 1868 and 1872. He was twice elected as reserve. He was over six feet in height and of commanding presence. He was an able and effective preacher. He walked before men blameless. During the last months of his life he sometimes failed to recognize his children or his brethren. But Jesus he knew. During these days his thoughts seemed ever of his life work, and his last sermon was preached to his own family at midnight. He had risen from his bed to attend an appointment which he said he had made. His daughter said to him, "Why, father, why not preach to these assembled here?" He immediately assented, and, announcing his text, preached for twenty minutes in a perfectly rational manner. He was deeply venerated by his Conference. His death occurred at the house of his daughter, Mrs. Carver, in Stillwater, N. Y., on Sunday, December 16, 1894, which began for him a Sabbath of eternal rest.

Henry Wright was born in Wright, N. Y., November 30, 1833, and died at Clifton Park December 27, 1894. At the age of twelve came the death of his mother, from which time it became necessary for him to provide for himself. At eighteen, while living in Gallupville, N. Y., he was converted, joined the Church, and began to recognize a divine call to the ministry. He prepared for college at Charlotteville, graduated with honor from Union College in 1862, joined the Troy Conference the same year, and was stationed at Westbush and Pleasant Square. He was of untarnished character and intense devotion to his work. Every appointment was received as from the Lord. Some of his charges required difficult service, but his unassuming manner, sweetness of spirit, and untiring faithfulness won the respect of all, while the Lord added some to the Church in every place. In his first pastorate he married Miss Mary E. Shultz. The final summons came without warning. His wife's attention was attracted, she looked, and "he was not, for God took him."

Henry M. Munsee was born in Mooer's, N. Y., September 27, 1816, and died December 31, 1894. He was favored with a pious mother. Led to the place of secret prayer, he often listened to her petitions. At the age of eight, while reading the Scriptures, the Holy Spirit visited his heart and he was made to rejoice in God his Saviour. At this time he attended the Presbyterian Church. Later he obtained a copy of the Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Finding himself in accord with our polity and doctrines, he sought membership in our church at Moscow, N. Y. On January 10, 1843, he married Alsa A. Spelman, of Moscow, N. Y. This happy union continued for over half a century. In early manhood he was moved to take upon himself the Christian ministry. For years he hesitated, but at last accepted a local preacher's license. At forty years of age he began his ministry as a supply at Stony Creek, a charge having eight congregations. The Minutes of 1857 recorded his admission on trial. He filled the following appointments: Stony Creek, Malta, Pottersville, Elizabethtown, Edinburg, Mayfield and Pleasant Square, Saranac, Shushan, Johnsburg, Easton and North Cambridge, Rock City Falls, Mayfield, Bleecker, Schroon Lake, Gansevoort, superannuated. His sermons were thoughtful, practical expositions. God blessed him with large revivals on his first and last charge. Thus his call was confirmed at the commencement and close of his ministry. As a pastor the people found in him a friend and brother. As an administrator he was conservative and judicious. In 1889 he took a superannuated relation and retired to live at Mayfield. Here he found congenial associations among a people he had twice served. In the fall of 1893 he came to Luzerne, and was tenderly cared for by his relatives. He gradually failed, and on the last day of the old year went to spend New Year's above. His soul was serenely poised in God. He grew mellow and ripe for heaven. The Gospel he preached sustained him "in age and feebleness extreme," and God brought him safely to the "better country."

Diodorus H. Loveland was born in Westport, N. Y., December 27, 1816, and died in Chicago, February 24, 1895. At twenty-three he was converted during a watch-night service, and, though business affairs were very promising, he left his former pursuits that he might obey the call to preach the Gospel. Having previous to his conversion a thorough preparation in the English branches, he now devoted two years to the study of theology. In 1842 he was admitted on probation in the Troy Conference, and into membership in 1844. He was ordained a deacon in 1844 by Bishop Hamline, and an elder in 1846 by Bishop Janes. He was in the effective work for fourteen years, serving in order the charges of Willsboro, Redford and Saranac, North Hero, Enosburg and Bakersfield, Morristown, Berkshire, Cambridge, Vt.; Brandon, Crown Point and Bristol. In 1857 he was obliged to take a superannuated relation, but in 1859 again entered the effective work. From 1859 to 1868 he served in order Moriah, Granville, Hampton, North Bennington and White Creek. His health failing, he was granted a superannuated relation in 1868, but in July, regaining in part his health, he supplied the pulpit at Pownal. In 1869, entering the supernumerary relation, he supplied at Pownal until the Conference of 1870, when he again superannuated, and during the year removed to Chicago. Soon his eyesight began to fail, and for the last fifteen years he was totally blind. For the last eight years he was too feeble to attend church. On July 23, 1840, he married Miss Mary Jane Patton. He was faithful in all his duties as a minister. Souls were saved in all his charges, and the churches were built up, especially at Essex and Willsboro, Moriah and Port Henry, and South Shaftsbury. Many times at evening he expressed the wish that if pleasing to the great Father he might in the morning open his eyes in heaven. When the final morning came, as earth receded he folded his hands, closed his eyes, and with a smile fell asleep in Jesus.

New England Conference.

Charles Smith Rogers was born in Huntington, L. I., May 13, 1831. He fitted for college at Amenia Seminary, N. Y., and graduated at Wesleyan University in 1858. In 1859 he was received on trial in the New England Conference, of which he continued a member until his death, July 16, 1894. He married June 13, 1860, Catherine S. Barnes, of Middletown, Conn., who with one daughter survives him. His boyhood was passed in the experience of farm life till his sixteenth year, when he went to New York to become a carpenter's apprentice. He had been converted before this time, and immediately became a member of Bedford Street Church. The conviction that he was called to preach led him to seek an education. He was an earnest Christian worker, both in the seminary and college. Joining Conference, he served successively the following pastorates: Sudbury, Quincy Point, Dorchester, Boston, twice; Boston Street, Lynn; Trinity, Worcester; State Street, Springfield; Harvard Street, Cambridge; Baker Memorial, Boston. He was four years Presiding Elder of North Boston District, and had just been appointed to Boston South District when he was called up higher. With talents and acquirements which were solid rather than showy, he was in the best sense successful in all the work of a minister. He maintained studious habits and an acquaintance with the best thought of the day. His sermons were thoroughly prepared, and were wisely adapted to the time, place, and people. He was a manly Christian man. Tolerant of whatever was sincere, he hated sham or mere pretense. As a pastor he was equaled by few. To genuine kindliness he added a wonderful discernment and readiness of adaptation to all classes and conditions. The same qualities made him specially successful in administration. He had the rare talent of withstanding without offending men, and of giving personal reproof without causing bitterness or personal alienation. In his home he was a model of all domestic virtues. Thoughtful for others, gentle of speech, unsparing of himself, he seemed to be thus always ready to minister, not to be ministered to. In the midst of great usefulness, with no time for farewell words, he heard the Master's call and passed on, leaving behind him only grateful memories.

Charles Young was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, April 23, 1831, and died in Chelsea, Mass., December 11, 1894. His parents were devoted members of the Established Church of Scotland and attendants upon the ministry of Dr. Thomas Chalmers. By him the subject of this memoir was baptized in infancy. When he was about sixteen he went one night to a Methodist church in his native city, presented himself at the altar, and before the services closed came into a conscious and joyful religious experience. Though his parents were troubled because his conversion had not taken place in the "regular way" at the altars of the old kirk, he was true to his convictions and immediately united with the Wesleyan Church. Soon after his conversion he was licensed as an exhorter, and before he was twenty became an efficient local preacher. He came to America in 1850 and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church in New York city. Having been a student in the University of Edinburgh, he had a good basis upon which to build his theological education; he therefore entered the Concord Biblical Institute, completed the course, and graduated with honor. He entered the New Hampshire Conference in 1856, was transferred to the New England Southern Conference in 1868, and to the New England Conference in 1875. In all his appointments he showed himself an able minister of Jesus Christ, and in some of them powerful revivals followed his labors. He was no ordinary preacher. His sermons were carefully prepared, and were valuable in their instructive quality. He was a student. He read new books, and took delight in his hours religiously set apart for study. He was honored with the degree of doctor of divinity. As a pastor he was preeminent. His piety was reasonable, deep, and persuasive. When the testing time came he expressed in unfaltering terms his confidence in his Redeemer. While pastor in Westfield he was severely injured by a runaway accident, and never fully recovered. But, though afterward limited in his activities, the ardor of his nature, the clearness of his thought, and the breadth of his interest in Church affairs remained till the last. His sufferings were intense, but borne with absolute patience. In his hours of dreadful physical agony he was often heard to whisper, "Swing low, sweet chariot." He married in 1858. The woman whom he took from her girlhood home survives with one son to mourn his loss, but in glorious hope of the eternal reunion. This able minister and devoted friend has passed out of the shadows into the sunshine.

Nathaniel Bemis was born in Union, Me., February 10, 1816, and died in East Weymouth, January 24, 1895. When about eight his father died, and he went to live with a Mr. Curtis, of Mercer, in the Sandy River country. In a religious meeting in a schoolhouse, before he was eleven, he asked those present to pray for him, which they did. He went home, saying that he had "got religion." As a result Mr. Curtis and his wife were converted. He attended school at Kent's Hill, afterward entered Haverhill Academy, and later learned the trade of cabinet maker. He found Methodists there, and with five others founded the Methodist Episcopal church of that place. He was active in the meetings, and came to be called "the little minister." He was a class leader before he was sixteen and a local preacher at eighteen. He spent some time at the seminary in Newbury, Vt., and also attended lectures at Andover Theological Seminary. He joined the Providence Conference in 1843 and was stationed at Yarmouthport. Thence successively he served Cumberland, R. I.; Mansfield, North Malden (now Melrose), Haverhill, Scituate Harbor, Centerville, R. I.; Westerly, R. I.; Wareham, East Greenwich, R. I.; North Dighton, East Weymouth, North Bridgewater (now Brockton), Sandwich, Fourth Street, New Bedford; North Manchester, Conn.; Stoughton, and North Andover. In 1866 he was transferred to the New England Conference and successively served Dorchester, Hopkinton, Shrewsbury, Cherry Valley, Rockbottom, and Sudbury. He became supernumerary in 1879 and superannuated in 1881. After the destruction by fire of his home in Sudbury he removed, in 1884, to East Weymouth, where he erected a house, finishing it with his own labor, in which he lived until called to the "house not made with hands." He was thrice married. Six of his loved ones passed on before him. A widow and one son survive him. Although frail in constitution he was an indefatigable worker in his prime, and various churches outside his appointments owe their formation to his efforts, among them the flourishing charge at Upton. He was of brilliant imagination and original in thought and method. He gave much care to his preparations for the pulpit. He was careful as to his dress and personal appearance and courteous in manner. An attack of la grippe intensifying other ailments brought his journey's end in view. As he neared it he carefully arranged all matters of interest, not omitting the details of his funeral and the burial of his dust in the place of his birth. His end was peace; his hope, the better resurrection.

Henry Matthews was born in England in April, 1837, and died in North Andover, Mass., in July, 1894. Early in life he became a preacher in the Primitive Connection of the mother country, but later joined the New England Conference, in 1873. His educational advantages were limited, but he became a most successful preacher before the age of twenty. Early piety and natural force of character were the basis of his success. He hated shams and hypocrisies. He was transparent in his purposes and actions. So marked was this characteristic that he impressed even the casual acquaintance with it. He was also a man of strong sympathies and ardent friendships. Many have risen up and called him blessed for his words of consolation and deeds of kindness. He was a thorough student of the Bible and a good theologian. He was an honored servant of Jesus Christ, and the fruits of his labors were many. He fought the good fight, finished his course, kept the faith. By his translation earth becomes poorer and heaven richer.

Jonathan Neal was born in Cambridge, England, in December, 1829. He was trained as a printer in the famous University Press of that place. In early manhood he desired to become a missionary in India, under the direction of the Church of England, at whose altars he was raised, but remained with his widowed mother. Removing to London, he spent eight years in publishing. There he met the Wesleyans and became a Methodist. He led class, visited the sick and unfortunate in the slums of London, and preached. His services were sought, not only within the City Road Circuit, his Church home, but in all the Wesleyan churches of the region; and so esteemed were his efforts that he published a popular volume of sermons, a rare achievement for a Wesleyan local preacher. Bishop Janes found him in London, and, learning that the missionary fire was still burning, placed him in educational work in North Carolina, whence he pressed on and founded at Montgomery, Ala., our first church in that section. The Ku Klux pursued him, and the people held themselves aloof from his family, but he achieved success. In 1874 Bishop Janes transferred him to the New England Conference. His successive appointments were: Russell, Pelham, Hampden, Feeding Hills, Nahant, East Douglas, Holliston, Appleton Street, Boston; Easthampton. At Easthampton he erected the comely edifice which is his monument. He was a devout man, a strong preacher, and of one work. His last sermon was at Christmas, and upon the incarnation. A serious disease demanded attention, which he sought in Boston. It was his summons heavenward. On February 22, 1895, after days of extreme weakness, he quietly passed away. No sweeter spirit has ever left our ranks.

George E. Chapman died November 1, 1894. He was born in Sing Sing, N. Y., in 1811, and traced his ancestry back to the Mayflower. He joined the New England Conference in 1850 and served thirty years in the active work, taking a superannuated relation in 1880. He was converted when sixteen, and though limited in educational advantages he fitted himself for teaching, which vocation he followed till he entered the ministry. He was twice married. In every way he proved himself a true minister of Jesus Christ. He was courteous in manner, firm in principle, and full of the sunshine of the Gospel. He was eminently a peacemaker, smoothing difficulties, and restoring friendships, spiritual—a man who walked with God. He heard the call of his Master without fear, and passed away in the triumphs of the Gospel he had so faithfully and lovingly preached.

Burtis Judd was born in Danbury, Conn., in that portion of the town now known as Bethel, December 21, 1817, and died in South Framingham, Mass., October 13, 1894. He was baptized in infancy in the Congregational Church. During his childhood, and especially during seasons of religious interest, he was not without his convictions of sin and a desire to become a Christian. In 1835, in Watertown, Conn., where he was serving a carpenter's apprenticeship, his lot fell among the Methodists. In one of their meetings, conducted by an exhorter, he was convicted, and a week later, at a meeting in charge of another exhorter, he was happily converted. This was October 11, 1835. He was first licensed to exhort in November, 1839, and to preach in April, 1842. His first revival was in a schoolhouse in Roxbury, Conn., in connection with which his own father was converted. His first charge as a supply was Colebrook River Circuit. On December 31, 1838, he married Miss Rebecca A. Hallock, who survives him. On August 20, 1847, he accepted the invitation of a Reformed Methodist Church at Millville, Mass., to become its pastor, and remained two years. In 1850 he became identified with the New England Conference, was received in elder's orders from the Reformed Methodist Church, and was stationed at Phillipston. His appointments were afterward as follows: Phillipston, Hubbardston, Purchase Street, Newburyport; Liberty Street, Oxford, Fitchburg, Saxonville, Somerville, Marlboro, Mendon, Townsend, Oakdale, Cherry Valley, Rockbottom, Westboro, North Andover, Heath, supernumerary, superannuated. In connection with most of these pastorates he was favored with glorious revivals. He was an able and eminently biblical preacher. Having enjoyed only meager opportunities for mental culture, he yet became a man of wide information and the master of a choice vocabulary. He was a remarkably genial, lovable man. He was everybody's friend. Conscientious, independent, and fearless, he had in him the heart of a child. Upon his retirement from the effective ranks in 1877 he settled in South Framingham and engaged in the real estate business. For many years his health was sadly broken; for many months he was an almost helpless invalid and a constant but patient sufferer. For many long years he had been trustingly awaiting his departure. Death had no terrors for him. His faith was triumphant.

Delaware Conference.

Robert J. Waters was born in Fairmount, Md., March 20, 1843, and departed this life August 3, 1894. He joined the Delaware Conference in 1876, and served successfully the following charges: Cold Spring, Leemont, Berlin, Horntown, Odessa, Nanticoke, Oxford, Port Deposit, and Trappe. Stacking arms on the river's brink, he went up to receive a soldier's reward. He was a Gospel preacher and an earnest worker in Christ's kingdom.

Edward H. Bean died in Wattsville, Va., June 30, 1894, aged forty-three years. He was a native of one of the Bermuda Islands. He was of Christian parentage, and was early trained in the principles of the Christian faith. He had a thirst for knowledge, and was a close and careful student. In the year 1876 a great religious revival swept over the island. Brother Bean was soundly converted to God, and became a faithful soldier of the cross. He took Jesus for his pattern, and believed in the doctrine of the higher Christian life. Soon after his conversion he united with the Wesleyan Methodist Episcopal Church. Being convinced that God had called him to the work of the ministry, he realized that he needed a better education as a preparation for the great work. Therefore, in the year 1888 he sailed from Bermuda for America and entered the Baltimore City Academy. Here he continued his studies as a preparation for the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church, with which he united. He was received on trial in the Delaware Conference in 1892. In 1893 he was ordained local deacon by Bishop Walden. Brother Bean served as pastor of two charges, Widgeon, Md., and Wattsville, Md. He was a diligent student, a kind husband. He was a clear, forcible preacher, a consistent and zealous Christian. Among his last words were these: "Tell the boys I have nothing to regret, I have lived it. I am a child of the King. Preach a whole Gospel, live pure lives, and meet me in heaven."

John C. Carroll was born February 4, 1820, near Cambridge, Md., and died in great peace May 23, 1894. He was converted at seventeen and immediately joined the Church. Pure religion combined with true manhood began to appear in young Carroll, and he, very early in life, won the confidence of all who knew him. Like many of his race, he was denied educational advantages, and he did not learn to read until after the Emancipation. Although without the letter, he became an acceptable speaker, and was licensed to exhort and hold prayer meetings. About forty years ago he married Miss Hester E. Burrows. There were born to them seventeen children, eleven of whom are dead and six living. He was licensed to preach in 1867. He was admitted in the traveling connection in 1869, filling with success the following appointments: Saint Nichols, Snow Hill, Berlin, Deal's Island, Bridgeville, Marydel, Greensboro, Port Deposit, Westover, Jamestown, and Fruitland. He took a superannuated relation last Conference. Shortly before he died he called his friends about him and said, "I have done but little in the cause of Christ, but that little I have tried to do well." His last words were, "I have fought through at last, and with many a scar I go to my Father, who will own me as his. Yes, I have fought a good fight." On May 23, 1894, he passed away.

Samuel Griffen Waters died November 19, 1894. This morning star of the Delaware Conference, and one of its founders, was born in Upper Fairmount, Somerset County, Md., in 1820. He was converted in 1839 on the old historic Deal's Island camp ground, and immediately joined the Methodist Episcopal Church at Fairmount. He was married to Miss Henrietta Fountain. He was very studious. Although born and reared where the laws forbade a colored man having a book in his possession, he acquired what was called a good education in his day. He was licensed as a local preacher in 1847. This is now an item in history to know that this had to be done in a Quarterly Conference where all of the members were white. Entering the traveling connection, he filled the following appointments: Upper Fairmount, Quantico, Snow Hill, East New Market, Laurel, Kent Island. Each appointment was blessed with a revival of religion and many were added to the Church. He was a powerful preacher, and the pulpit was his throne. By reason of impaired health he was compelled, in 1880, to take a superannuated relation. His last days were spent in the home of his son Joseph. Just before he died he said to his son, "Sing, sing; don't you hear them singing? Son, I am dying, but I never was so happy in all my life." Thus in the triumph of faith he passed away.

Central Pennsylvania Conference.

J. Max Lantz joined the Central Pennsylvania Conference in 1863. He was a native of Blair County, and had passed his twenty-fourth birthday the previous September. He had attended the Tuscarora Academy as a pupil, later was a teacher at Tyrone, and still later was a student in biblical science and literature. The Lewistown Circuit was his first appointment as junior preacher. In 1866 he married Miss Kate Mundorf, of Lancaster County, who, with her two sons, now honors his memory. He was eminently faithful in all of his charges; was warm in his attachment to Methodist doctrines and usages; hated shams, and to the end put before the people high ideals in thought and services. He served the following appointments: Lewistown Circuit, Gettysburg, Shrewsbury, Wrightsville, Mount Holly, Mechanicsburg, Third Street, Williamsport; Second Church, Chambersburg; Pine Street, Williamsport; Saint Paul's, Danville; Lock Haven, First Church, York; Lewistown, Juniata District. In the eldership he was a tireless worker. He was wise, discriminating, and ready. Blessed with a robust constitution, he preached three and four times on Sunday at appointments widely separated. He was elected to the General Conference in 1892, and received the degree of doctor of divinity from Dickinson College. The exhaustive labors of the early summer of 1894 produced alarming symptoms. In August he resolutely took up the management of the Juniata Valley Camp Meeting, and directed much of the daily program from his sick bed. When the physicians indicated pneumonia as his disease and recommended quiet he submitted to be taken to his home at Lewistown, and, as if death was then in sight, said, "We must all come to this sooner or later." He died August 21, 1894.

Joseph Y. Rothrock was born at Shrewsbury, Pa., in 1823, and died at Forksville, Pa., November 11, 1894. When twenty-five years old he found the "pearl of great price." Soon after he united with the Church. He was licensed to preach and was employed under the presiding elder on the old Lycoming Circuit in 1851. The following spring he was received into the Baltimore Conference. The following are his appointments: Muncy, Northumberland, Newberry, Catawissa, Orangeville, New Bloomfield, Salona, Clinton, Sinnemahoning, supernumerary, Susquehanna, Lycoming, Cogan Valley, Pine Creek, Benezette, supernumerary, superannuated, Picture Rocks and Kedron, Hyner and Westport, Loyalsock, superannuated. In his fields he toiled faithfully in the service of the Master. He was a sweet-spirited Christian, especially gifted in prayer and song, helpful in counsel and consolation. He believed in entire sanctification, taught the doctrine, and lived in accord with the high claims he made. He was three times married. His last few months were spent in severe affliction, but amid it all he was hopeful and happy. His last sermon, in Forksville, Pa., August 5, 1894, was characterized by great spiritual power and blessed many hearts.

Thomas Taneyhill was born of Scottish ancestry in Calvert County, Md., December 7, 1803, and completed his earthly pilgrimage of almost ninety-one years in Toledo, O., November 19, 1894. He was early taught the doctrines and precepts of religion. Deeply impressed by a kindly Providence that rescued him from drowning, he was led to seek pardoning favor, and about two years later, at twenty, was soundly converted and joined the Church. His call to the ministry soon burdened his heart so that even the entreaties of his mother that her youngest boy should remain at home were insufficient to turn him aside from the path of duty. His early principle was manifest in his advocacy and practice of total abstinence, his opposition to slavery, and his voluntary relinquishment of his inherited right in the ownership of slaves. In 1826 he was licensed to preach. In 1828, in the chapel of Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa., Bishop Soule presiding, he was admitted on trial in the Baltimore Conference, and two years later was ordained deacon by the same bishop. In 1832 he received ordination at the hands of Bishop Hedding. His first appointment was Greenbrier Circuit, W. Va., where he had as colleague his brother, Rev. John Taneyhill, preacher in charge. He afterward served the following charges: Pendleton, Monroe, Concord, Sunbury, Huntingdon, Lycoming, Bellefonte, Northumberland, Berwick, West Branch, Jersey Shore, Gettysburg, Lewistown Circuit, Lycoming, Muncy, Bloomsburg, Milton, Sunbury. In 1858 he was granted a superannuated relation, which he sustained till his death. He married, February 28, 1833, Miss Elizabeth B. Berryman, of Juniata County, Pa., with whom he spent threescore years of happy wedded life. Four sons and two daughters survive. His school advantages in youth were limited, yet he did not remain uneducated. He frequently proved in later life his early acquaintance with those masterpieces of English — the Bible, Shakespeare, and Pilgrim's Progress. As demonstrating his desire to know God's word, it is related that he was frequently seen plowing with his Testament strapped to the handle of his plow. He was a constant reader. After he was seventy he took up the study of Greek, and in three years had so fully mastered it that he could give the original for the more important words in the New Testament, which he completely translated. In 1892–93 he read the full twenty octavo volumes of Parker's People's Bible, and during his last summer so mastered Miley's Systematic Theology that he surprised theological students by his quotations and comments. He "was a man in whom integrity and rectitude were notably instanced, and whose character exhibited in a high degree the virtue and the grace of the Holy Spirit. As a preacher he was an admirable representative of his time. As an expositor of Scripture he was thoughtful and practical, while in manner he was emotional and earnest, evincing a desire to bring truth home to the heart and conscience and into contact with the lives of men. His ministry had many seals." He is accredited with having helped William Nast, the apostle of German Methodism, from the perplexities of doubt. It is said, also, that he discerned the ability and character in a young law student and school-teacher in McVeytown, Pa., to whom he gave a first license and encouraged toward the itinerant ministry. That young local preacher developed into Bishop John H. Vincent. The years after 1857 he spent in comparative comfort upon a farm in Ohio, loved of his friends and honored of all who knew him. The evening of life found him joyfully anticipating the life eternal. Confined to bed but a few days, he conversed freely about his approaching translation. Near the break of day, November 19, 1894, he departed. Appropriate funeral services were held in the Broadway Church, in Toledo, O., of which his son, Charles W., is pastor.

New York Conference.

Francis Bottome was born in Belper, England, May 26, 1823, of an honored parentage. While yet a lad he was so stirred by the men who fought and drank on the village green that he became active in writing temperance hymns and speaking to the Saturday afternoon crowds at the public houses. At eighteen through a sermon he was convicted, and subsequently, in a cottage meeting, entered into a bright experience. While perplexed as to his future a Wesleyan preacher called to him across the chapel one evening, "Come up here, Brother Frank! Preach!" Wonderingly, he responded and took up the sacred task. Soon after in the school of the Rev. Dr. Jackson he began the study of theology. After service as a local preacher on the Belper Circuit he came to Guelph, Canada, where, on an immense circuit, he preached to the Indians. The toil proved too much for him. In shattered health he went to New York to embark for England, when, by a providential intervention, he became the assistant of W. H. Norris. Part of his work was the care of the minister's class. Of that class a devoted member was the daughter of a man conspicuous in Brooklyn Methodism, William McDonald. Margaret McDonald, who now as Margaret Bottome is beloved the wide world over, was already attracting attention by her gifts. The two Christian workers were married by Dr. Nathan Bangs, September 17, 1850. Admitted on trial in the New York East Conference in 1850, he was sent to Southampton, L. I. His successive appointments until 1870 were: Saybrook, Meriden, Norwalk, Birmingham, Hempstead, Grand Street, Williamsburg; Seventh Street, New York city; Bridgeport, Beekman Hill, New York city. In 1870 he was transferred to the New York Conference, and served the following churches: Yonkers, Seventh Avenue, New York city; Marlboro, Tarrytown, Tuckahoe, Asbury, Tremont, Fordham. Thousands were led by him to the Saviour, and the spiritually-minded were refreshed by the draughts he brought them from the living fountains. Of all the services of the sanctuary the Lord's Supper most stirred his heart. As a lyric poet his notes were true and sweet. Of his songs that most widely known is perhaps his best—"Sing of his mighty love, mighty to save." In 1873 Dickinson College conferred upon him the degree of doctor of divinity. Through twenty-five years he read every Sabbath morning the last chapter of Revelation. When he began this custom he was, so far as he knew, alone in its observance. To-day more than a thousand pilgrims, with their faces toward the holy city, get out their Bibles on Sunday morning and read the chapter. On his last Sabbath he was on the deck of an ocean steamer, in company with his son, reading the familiar lines. He never ceased to love his native land, and sometimes said he should like to finish his days there. On June 20, 1894, he sailed from our shores and reached Southampton, June 27. On June 28, while listening to even song in the Exeter cathedral, he was lifted to a rest of soul which he said was "like heaven." The next day he met the friend of his youth, the Rev. Edwin Orme. They walked together to the old churchyard, and for an hour gave themselves up to tender reminiscences. "Then," says Mr. Orme, "we started for my home in Callington, Cornwall, as happy as any two men could be. We jogged along, talking over the way the Lord had led us, when Dr. Bottome said, 'But only think of all who await us! They are near, even now, and in a short time we shall see them!' Just then the pony stumbled and fell to his knees. Dr. Bottome had fallen out of the pony cart, being probably overcome by a sudden attack of vertigo. He was entirely unconscious, and in four hours was set free." In one of the loveliest parish churchyards of England, in the town of Tavistock, they made his grave.

George T. Beswick was born in Staffordshire, England, in 1861, and died July 3, 1894. His ancestry were devout members of the Wesleyan Society. While yet very young he was deeply interested in Sunday school work, and was instrumental in opening a school in his village. At ten he studied the Bible with great delight and care. At fourteen a revival broke out in his Sunday school, when the boy became a pronounced follower of Christ and led a number of his young companions to penitence. He then took charge of the primary department of the Sunday school. For three years after his new stand for Christ he worked at his trade as blacksmith. His refusal to carry liquors to the men, which was regarded the duty of the youngest apprentice, so impressed his employer that he was led to embrace the Saviour. He landed in New York on his twenty-second birthday, and soon went to the Centenary Collegiate Institute, in Hackettstown, N. J. Thinking the air of Sullivan County more favorable to his health, he supplied the Reformed Church at Wurtsboro for nearly a year. He was requested to continue with the society, but his life was consecrated to the Methodist Church. In 1892 he was admitted as a probationer in the New York Conference, and was appointed to Ridgebury. In 1893 he was appointed associate pastor of St. John's Church, Newburg. His frankness and cordiality made him loved by all who knew him. For nine months he remained at his post, until sinking health compelled him to cease. On January 9, 1894, he left for California, full of hope that he might regain his health. Feeling stronger, he applied for work, and was assigned a field, where he preached for four Sabbaths. In his sermon of Sunday, July 1, he exerted himself beyond his strength. On the following morning he rode seven miles up the mountain to the home of one of his members. After breakfast he conducted family prayers, and soon after was seized with a hemorrhage that quickly terminated his life.

ALPHEUS CORNELIUS GALLAHUE was born in Fairmont, W. Va., October 17, 1817, and died in Rhinebeck, N. Y., October 15, 1894. When about seventeen he made his peace with God. He soon received an exhorter's license, and in January, 1841, was made a local preacher. The following spring he was received on trial into the Pittsburg Conference. On April 4, 1842, he married Miss Eliza A. Higgins. His appointments in the Pittsburg Conference were as follows: Chartiers Circuit, East Liberty, Indiana Charge, Redstone, Middlebourne. In 1848 the Pittsburg Conference was divided, and he was appointed to Pleasant Valley, in the newly organized West Virginia Conference. His health soon compelled a location. He continued in this relation till 1856, when he was transferred into the New York Conference, receiving successively the following appointments: Copake, North East, now Millerton; supernumerary, Katonah, Morrisania, Dover Plains, supernumerary, Riverdale. In 1869 he superannuated. In 1879 he removed with his wife and invalid daughter to the Conference farm at Mount Rutsen, and in 1880 he moved to the village of Rhinebeck. In these last years he was eminently faithful in his religious duties. He had comforting foretastes of the spirit world, which to him appeared always near, and often seemed longing to join his kindred in the sky. On Friday, October 5, 1894, he was obliged to refrain from his ordinary activities, and, apparently apprehending the nearnes of his departure, he spent most of that night in a detailed review of his life. From that night he sank steadily. His mind was clear and his rest in God absolute.

WILLIAM C. WILLING was born in Chautauqua County, N. Y., August 30, 1829. He was the oldest of eight children. His father's invalidism left the burden of the family upon him. When he was nineteen the family moved West, and he added to their support by teaching a country school in winter. In 1852 he began the study of law, and afterward took the degree of LL.B. In 1854 he married Miss Jennie Fowler, and, having decided to become a Methodist minister, joined the Genesee Conference. For seven years he did successful work in Western New York; then he was transferred to the Rock River Conference, filling excellent appointments and spending fifteen years in the presiding eldership. While Presiding Elder of Joliet District he was elected professor of history and civil polity in the law college of the Illinois Wesleyan University, a position he filled most acceptably. While Presiding Elder of the Chicago District he was President of the Northwestern Sabbath Association, and at the same time was Corresponding Secretary of the City Mission and Church Extension Society. As a result of his efforts a worn-out organization was resuscitated, its debts paid, and eleven new churches founded. He established the first Bohemian Methodist Church in the world and left it with a hundred members. Perhaps no minister in Rock River Conference stood higher in the esteem of his brethren. He was a man of broad intelligence, extensive reading, exquisite literary taste, great benevolence, and tender sympathies. He had a giant frame which was a fit abode for giant intellectual powers. He was a strong and convincing preacher. He had a judicial temperament, making a wise counselor and a remarkable administrator. In 1889 he was transferred to the New York Conference. In 1894 he went to an appointment up in the mountain. It proved to be the mount of transfiguration for him. His Christian experience began with the teachings of a spiritual-minded mother. Though the family were Presbyterians, as a lad he strayed into a Methodist meeting and was converted. About forty years ago he experienced heart purity, and ever maintained a clear profession of that grace. The closing months of his experience were brighter than ever before. His letters, sermons, and exhortations were touched with the glory of the land into which he has passed. Taken ill when away from home, while performing a solemn church duty, he was conducted to a Methodist parsonage. He was tenderly ministered to in his brief but intense suffering. At the twilight hour, December 11, 1894, the chariot halted at the parsonage door and this prince in Israel stepped in and was off. Bishop Fowler says of him: "I think Dr. Willing's life and counsels did more to determine my religious life than any other consecrated influence. I date my first definite purpose to seek God to his talking to me when I was a boy. He was a good man. I have known no better, and few, if any, as genuinely godly."

JOSIAH TETLEY was born December 5, 1839, at Bolton, England, and died at Dormansville, N. Y., April 9, 1895. He came to New York city when a mere lad. His home associations were not religious, but through an aged Christian his mind was turned toward Christ, and in the fall of 1855 he was converted. The call to the ministry immediately followed. He graduated from Union College and united with the New York Conference in 1872. His appointments were: Callicoon, Calicoon and Fremont Center, Shavertown, Greenfield, Grahamville, Kerhonkson, Mongaup Valley, Bloomingburg, Kenoza Lake, Stone Ridge, Dormansville. As a preacher he was logical and clear, as a pastor he was a man of the common people, as a brother minister he was cordial and sincere. On March 27 he was stricken down with pleuro-pneumonia, and while his brother ministers were awaiting their appointments from Bishop Newman the tender Bishop of souls appointed him to the heavenly Jerusalem and placed on his brow the crown of the faithful.

GEORGE HEARN was born in Kingston, on the Thames, England, August 4, 1834, was converted at fourteen, prepared for the ministry in the far-famed Wesleyan Theological School at Richmond, near London; was licensed to preach before he was eighteen, came to this country in 1853, joined the New York Conference in 1855, and died in Stamford, N. Y., February 16, 1895. His appointments were: Davenport, New Windsor, Southfield, Rossville and Pleasant Valley, Shandaken, Alligerville and High Falls, Putnam Valley, New Fairfield, Johnsville, Cairo, Leeds, Southfield, Montgomery, Monroe, Walton, Delhi, Cocymans, Stamford. He was twice married. He was an excellent preacher and a well-read theologian. His ministry was like the path of the just, shining more and more unto the perfect day. His last appointments were his best. When compelled by failing health to look, like Moses, from the work of the wilderness to the promised land, he did so with his intellectual eye undimmed and his moral force unabated. He found it light at eventime.

OBITUARIES.

Iowa Conference.

GEORGE H. CLARK, a supernumerary member of the Iowa Conference, died suddenly at his home near Oskaloosa, Ia., April 16, 1895, aged sixty-eight years. He was born in Gettysburg, Pa. His father was for many years an eminent and honored Methodist preacher, first in the Baltimore and later in the Iowa Conference. He removed with his father's family to Iowa in his boyhood, was converted while still a youth, and was licensed to preach at the age of twenty. He entered the Iowa Conference in 1851, and served the following appointments in the order named: Bloomfield Circuit, Adel, Bellevue, Mahask Circuit, Unionville, Drakeville, Chillicothe, Centerville, Attica, Fremont, Ottumwa, Bellair, Galesburg, Montezuma, West Point, Wapello, Muscatine Circuit, Richmond, Durant, Brighton, Martinsburg, Salem. In 1878 he retired from the active work of the ministry and settled in Oskaloosa, where he lived in godly tranquillity and usefulness the remainder of his days. He married in 1856 Miss Ann C. Bean, who shared with him the joys and trials of the itinerant life for twenty-three years and passed to her heavenly rest in 1879. He was a modest, warm-hearted, manly man. His ever-deepening faith in God filled him with perennial hopefulness for human nature, and he lived and labored in the inspiration of this large expectancy. He believed that good, and not evil, held rulership in this world, and thus he saw something to applaud and rejoice in wherever he went among men. This spirit characterized his whole work as a Methodist preacher. His hopeful sympathies with all men made him too large-minded to be a partisan, and the kind of personal success which only a union of partisans can secure passed him by and went to those who were content to toil for it. He found his joy and satisfaction in an absorbed devotion to his duty wherever that duty might lie. His life of retirement for fifteen years at Oskaloosa was one of active service in the local church. The class meeting, the prayer meeting, the public service felt the sweetness of his spirit and power of his spiritual life. On the last Sabbath of his life, and only two days before he suddenly was summoned from among us, he gave an inspiring testimony in an early class meeting and then listened with a radiant face and glistening eye to the preaching of the Gospel. At the close of the service he grasped the pastor's hand and said, "The Lord is very good to me this morning."

DENNIS MURPHY was born June 24, 1833, in Kilfinane, County Limerick, Ireland, and died of apoplexy in West Liberty, Ia., January 29, 1895. When eight years of age he came with his parents to this country. He was reared a strict Roman Catholic, but after mature reflection and conviction he left the Church at the age of sixteen, though only an intellectual convert to Protestantism. In 1856 he came to Iowa and located in Ottumwa. In this city he was converted February 7, 1857, and at once united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. The church soon recognized his rare gifts and endowments, and granted him license to preach. In 1858 he was admitted to the Conference and appointed to Salem Circuit as junior preacher. In 1861 he married Miss Lavanda Gassner. In 1862 he entered the service of his country as chaplain of the Nineteenth Regiment Iowa Infantry, and served until 1864, when he was honorably discharged. Returning to the regular work of the ministry, he served a three years' pastorate in the city of Grinnell. Feeling the need of a higher education, in 1869 he entered upon a classical course in the State University of Iowa. In 1874 he graduated with the highest honors, and three years later received the degree of A.M. Afterward the Iowa Wesleyan University conferred upon him the degree of Ph.D. Dr. Murphy was a man of splendid physique and rare personal magnetism. His sermons were wrought out with great painstaking, and his thought was never crude, but like beaten oil. He arranged his ideas with consummate skill, and always sought to discover the profoundest depths of the truth which he taught. He was forceful in delivery, logical and convincing in argument, and elegant in diction. He was a man of deep and strong convictions and of an iron will. He had a courage which no opposition or danger could appall. His watchwords were: Be industrious, be studious, be enthusiastic, have faith in humanity and God. He was always ready to take with cheerfulness any work the Church in its wisdom assigned him. From the humblest position in the Conference, by his ability and success, he won its highest honors, having served all its best stations save one, serving also one term as presiding elder, and in 1884 represented the Conference in the General Conference. While he appreciated the confidence and honor bestowed, his great aim was to lead those under his care into the light and liberty of the sons of God, and to faithfully perform and finish the work God had given him to do. Through all his varied and perplexing duties he carried the sunshine of a happy soul. As a friend he was loyal and true. As a husband he was always a lover; his home life was like to that above, full of tenderness, appreciation, and love. As a Christian his faith was sublime. Few souls have grasped the mystery of things divine as he. In his later experience he became sublimely conscious of the divine presence and power, which only great souls know. Suddenly, without a moment's struggle or warning, death came to him in the full vigor of his manhood, and he was not, for God took him. In the death of Dr. Murphy his surviving companion has lost a most tender and affectionate husband, and the Church one of its ablest and best ministers.

C. H. S. DUNN* was born in Baltimore, Md., January 7, 1855, and died in London, England, August 17, 1894. He was educated at Claverack-on-the-Hudson, and afterward graduated in the class of 1878 from Drew Theological Seminary. The same year he took his classical degree from the Illinois Wesleyan University at Bloomington. After graduation he united with the Minnesota Conference, and was stationed at Morehead for two years. At the close of this term he married Miss Belle Rayburn. His succeeding appointments were: Redwood Falls, Saint Peter, Stillwater, Duluth, Burlington. In all these charges he had marked success. Much of the present power and influence of First Church, Duluth, are due to him, and the planning of its present magnificent structure, one of the finest in Methodism, was largely inspired by him. He was eminently successful in the large congregation at First Church, Burlington, though failing health compelled him to resign at the close of his second year. He sought California for rest, and soon after assumed the editorship of the Southern California Christian Advocate, a task congenial to his scholarly tastes, though perhaps too taxing. Returning after a year to Duluth for business reasons, he supplied the church at Superior, Wis., continuing until May of 1894. Brain difficulty, caused by overstrain, increased, and forced him to yield to his physician's advice to resign his work, take a sea voyage, and consult eminent physicians in London. His last letters indicate his increasing confidence in God. Among strangers, far from home, with only one personal friend near him, he passed from earth, leaving a wife and two sons. Dr. Dunn was a persevering student. His degree as doctor of philosophy was conferred by Illinois University in 1881. From the several charges comes uniform testimony of his faithfulness. Wherever he served the church grew in numbers and the spiritual interests, especially in the social religious services, were built up. His pastoral labors endeared him to his people everywhere. He was energetic and aggressive in the material side of church work. In his last months it was manifest that his spiritual nature was broadening and ripening for heaven.

South Dakota Conference.

G. B. Dodd was born in Canada in 1859, and died in Colman, S. Dak., October 1, 1895. He came with his father's family to Michigan in 1879, returning subsequently to Canada, where he attended school at Belleville College, continuing his studies at a later date at Ypsilanti, Mich. Upon leaving school he engaged for four years in the publication of a prohibition paper in Port Sanilac, Mich. In 1892 he was licensed to preach. In 1893 he entered the South Dakota Conference on trial, and received his first appointment. In 1894 he was appointed to Marion Junction. Owing to ill health he sought recovery in the milder climate of New Mexico. Here, being anxious to preach, he received an appointment, which proved to be his last on earth. In June last he returned to South Dakota but slightly improved in health. All efforts at recovery proved in vain; consumption had done its fatal work, and on October 1 he passed to his home on high. Brother Dodd was a young man of unusual promise. His intellectual ability was of a high order, his piety deep and fervent. His highest ambition was to preach the Gospel of Christ to a dying world. His course, though brief, was characterized by a complete consecration and by an earnestness which knew no cessation until his pulses were stilled in death. Brother Dodd was twice married. He leaves a wife and two little ones, whom we commend to the care of the God of the widow and the Father of the fatherless.

Erie Conference.

Stephen Heard was born in Center township, Clearfield County, Pa., May 30, 1815. He was of Scotch-Irish and Welsh lineage. To the reading of Russell's Sermons he attributed his earliest religious convictions, and to the study of Pilgrim's Progress his first clear discernment of the way of salvation. In answer to his mother's prayers he was happily converted in his eighteenth year, at a camp meeting, held at Randolph, Crawford County, and immediately united with the church near Meadville. From this period the conviction of his call to the ministry became imperative. His first efforts were signally blessed, and he was licensed to exhort on recommendation of a society he had organized in the schoolhouse in which he was teaching school. In 1837 he was received on trial in the Erie Conference. From his entrance upon the active ministry to his final superannuation there was embraced a period of thirty-nine years, a greater part of which was amid the hardships, the sacrifices, and not unfrequently the perils of pioneer ministerial life. In all he was faithful and loyal to the Church, joyfully sharing with his brethren the burdens and deprivations incident to the early itinerancy. He served the following charges: Red Bank, Shippensville, Lawrenceburg, Harmonsburg, Jefferson, Hartford, Gustavus, Braceville, superannuated, Gustavus again, Freedom, Edinburg, Franklin, Ellsworth, Mount Jackson, West Farmington and Bloomfield, Liberty, Tallmadge, Deerfield, Morgan, Springfield, superannuated again, Jamestown, Linesville, Nottingham and Glenville, Lockport and Hamlet. This last appointment he was unable to serve, and in 1876 he received a final superannuated relation. During his superannuation he served the American Bible Society in New York and Ohio. He was a man of refined sensibilities, of a quiet, unostentatious manner, of sterling integrity, of good sense, of a sweet spirit, all permeated and balanced by a deep, fervent piety. His pulpit ministrations were instructive, edifying, and not unfrequently in demonstration of power. The later years of his life were occasions for the exhibition of his supreme faith in Christ, of his unmurmuring patience, of his unbroken peace, of the presence and joy of the abiding Comforter, of his triumphant hope. Weary days, weeks, and months of bodily suffering were the trial of his faith, "more precious than gold which perisheth, though it be tried with fire." Brother Heard was married in 1838 to Sarah Greene Miller, of Clarion, Pa., with whom he lived five years. He married again in 1844, his second wife being Miss Betsy R. Holman, of Lenox, O. His aged widow, four sons, and one daughter survive. In June, 1893, he preached his last sermon, on Children's Day, in the Wade Park Avenue Church, Cleveland, O. In extreme feebleness he leaned upon a chair during its delivery. His theme was, "Love is the greatest thing in the world." His last hours were passed in great suffering. "I am trusting in the promises," were among his last words. He "fell on sleep" January 26, 1895, in Warren, O.

Washington Hollister died in Knox, Pa., January 3, 1895. For several weeks his health had been failing, yet no Sabbath of that time was he absent from his pulpit. The Sabbath before his death he preached morning and evening with more than ordinary power. Never during his brief ministry at Knox did he speak with greater vigor of thought or with more of the divine unction than on this occasion. On the following Wednesday he was attacked with acute paralysis. A physician was called and did all that medical skill could suggest to save him, but without avail. At between six and seven o'clock he was not, for God had taken him. He had a place among the foremost preachers of his Conference as regards pulpit ability. He was particularly happy in illustration. As a pastor he ever manifested the greatest solicitude for the material and spiritual welfare of the people he served. The sick, the bereaved, and the afflicted particularly found in him a sympathizing friend and helpful counselor. Socially he excelled. The last eight years of his life his walk with God was so close as to enable him ever to testify that the blood of Jesus Christ cleansed him from all sin. Brother Hollister was born at Danville, N. Y., February 14, 1827. The most of his early life was spent in Cattaraugus County, N. Y. In the fall of 1852 he removed to Cleveland, O. He was married to Miss Abby G. Gray in 1853. Three of their four children, with the mother, still live. He was converted in western New York, and about the year 1857 was licensed to preach at Cleveland. In 1859 he was received into the Erie Conference on trial. He was ordained deacon in 1861, and elder in 1863. He served the following charges: Garrettsville, Montville, Claridon, Union City, Girard, Brookville, Waterford, Kingsville, Edinboro, West Monterey, South Oil City, Jamestown, Clarksville, Cambridgeboro, Cochranton, Stockton, Perrysburg, Pardoe, Edinburg, and Knox.

W. A. Merriam was born in Jamestown, N. Y., April 14, 1838. His educational privileges were limited to the public schools and academy at Jamestown. These were well improved by him, giving him a basis for a life of usefulness in the Church. During an extensive revival in Jamestown he was converted the evening of the last day of 1857, and the next day he was received as a probationer in the church. He was licensed to preach in 1871. He was ordained local deacon in 1876, and local elder in 1882. In 1883 he was admitted on trial in the Erie Conference, and labored on the following charges: Kane and Ludlow, Sunville, New Lebanon, Clarksville, Sheakleyville, Edinburg, where he finished his work and was transferred from labor to reward March 2, 1895. Brother Merriam was a companionable man, a generous, warm-hearted, true friend. Possessing kindly and deep sympathies, he was apt in administering consolation to the afflicted and in pointing the inquiring soul to the Saviour. He exhibited marvelous gifts in prayer. Those who knew him best testified that he truly "talked with God" in the act of prayer. He was a good man, an earnest Christian, and a devoted minister of the Gospel. For several days before his departure it was evident that his work was done. He was twice married. His first wife, Hannah Jones, died in 1865. He was married to Maria Jones in 1866, who, with their daughter, remains.

Southern Illinois Conference.

D. R. Miller was born in Wayne County, O., December 6, 1861, and died December 24, 1894, at Enfield, Ill. He came with his parents to Illinois in 1865. He was converted and united with the Church in 1875. He served as principal of the Farina, Ill., public schools two years, and was highly spoken of as a successful educator. He was licensed to preach by the Vandalia District Conference in 1892, and united the same year with the Southern Illinois Conference. He was appointed to Montrose Circuit, where he remained one year. In 1893 he was appointed to Iuka Charge; in 1894 he was admitted into full connection, ordained deacon, and appointed to Enfield Charge, where, after three months of hard work, he succeeded in harmonizing the diverse elements. He held two very successful meetings, resulting in forty conversions. He was in the midst of a gracious revival at Haven's Chapel when he was stricken with pneumonia, and after two days' illness he passed from labor to reward. He was an earnest Christian, an eloquent preacher, and a painstaking pastor. He gave promise of great usefulness. He died in the full tide of victory.

Richard Randle was born in Georgia, October 4, 1798. In 1811 he came to Illinois with his parents, who settled in Edwardsville, Madison County, where he grew to manhood. Subsequently he removed to Belleville, St. Clair County. In 1835 he was appointed clerk of St. Clair County by Governor Carlin, to fill a vacancy. He was powerfully converted May 10, 1812. In a letter written to a relative some years afterward he says, "It was a time never to be forgotten to all eternity." He was leader of the first Methodist class in Belleville, organized in 1824, and also leader of the first class formed in Edwardsville, in 1827. He was licensed a local preacher in 1824. He studied medicine and practiced for many years. In 1853 he joined the Southern Illinois Conference, and was an effective itinerant until 1863, when his voice failed and he was compelled to superannuate. He was a devoted Christian; with him, during his protracted life, religion was dominant; all else was subservient to duty. As a preacher he was earnest, practical, and efficient. Nearly four years before his death he was stricken with paralysis. He died January 13, 1895, in the ninety-seventh year of his age.

J. P. Levitt. [Obituary not received.]

Northwest Iowa Conference.

John Wesley Klepper was born in Cole's County, Ill., July 2, 1834, and died in Hull, Ia., September 29, 1895, of heart failure, while preparing for his Sabbath morning services. His father was a local preacher of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was converted at about fourteen, and united with the Church. After receiving a public school education he attended the Rock River Seminary, and still later was a student of Garrett Biblical Institute. After teaching for a short time he began his ministerial labors at Manistee, Mich., in 1859. In 1860 he joined the Minnesota Conference, and was stationed at Sunrise in that State. He remained in that Conference for twenty-six years, serving such charges as Blue Earth City, Hastings, Faribault, St. Cloud, Stillwater, and Crookston. While at Hutchinson, his last appointment in Minnesota, he was prostrated for four months with sciatic rheumatism, and was forced to go to the Pacific coast for his health. He was stationed for a year at Centralia, Puget Sound Conference. He was then transferred to the Oregon Conference and appointed to Hall Street Church, Portland, where he remained for two years. In 1886 he was transferred to the Northwest Iowa Conference and stationed at Kingsley. He afterward served as pastor at Le Mars, Mapleton, Gowrie, Newell, Sanborn, and finally at Hull, where he closed his earthly career. He married Miss Helen Schollay in 1857, who, with three adult children, remains to mourn his loss. He was a man of vigorous mind, of generous heart, and of noble impulse, with a bright smile and pleasant greeting for everyone. This won him a host of friends wherever he went. It was his great privilege to lead a multitude of souls to Christ during his ministerial labors. He had suffered more or less from a weakness of heart action and was aware that he might be suddenly called from this world to the next. On his last morning he arose from his bed feeling slightly sick, yet prepared for his service. He continued to grow worse until about ten o'clock, when, with the name of Jesus on his lips, as the bells were calling the people to the house of God, he sank peacefully to sleep. It was his expressed wish that he might close his labors and his life at the same time. His prayer was answered.

Sylvanus C. Bascom was born in Brown County, O., May 15, 1831, and died at Okobji, Ia., May 3, 1895. He removed in early life to Park County, Ind. Here, on January 25, 1854, he married Miss Mary L. Brown. Shortly after he came to Iowa, and in the dark days of the rebellion enlisted in the First Iowa Cavalry for three years; but being disabled by sickness he was honorably discharged April 10, 1863. At nineteen he was converted and united with the Church. He was licensed to preach in 1866, and did efficient service as a local preacher. In 1869 he joined the Des Moines Conference. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Ames in 1871 and elder two years later. At the organization of the Northwest Iowa Conference in 1872 he was an original member, and here remained until his death. During his effective ministry he served such charges as Homer, Lake City, Dakota City, and Primghar and Sanborn, where he did excellent service, remaining three years on each charge. For some years before his death he was a superannuate, but his desire to preach burned within his heart until the last, and he earnestly sought some humble field where he might do this, even on the frontiers of Dakota. Only when no door seemed to open did he reluctantly consent to purchase a plot of ground and earn his support by toil with his hands. He had but fairly entered upon this purpose when God said, "Come up higher." He was a man of vigorous mind and kept himself well informed in regard to the affairs of the day. What he believed he believed in every fiber of his soul, and fearlessly avowed his convictions. He loved God; he loved his Church; he loved his brethren. To him the brotherhood of Methodist preachers was the grandest under the sun. His second wife survives him. Although in advanced years, he was of stalwart frame and gave promise of many more years of life. He died suddenly of blood poisoning, caused by the scratch of a barbed wire. His genial countenance will long be remembered by his brethren of the Northwest Iowa Conference.

William Brush was born in New Fairfield, Conn., February 19, 1827, and died at Englewood, Ill., April 29, 1895. He graduated at Yale University in 1850, with a fine record for scholarship. In October of the same year he married the lady who now survives him. In 1851 he united with the New York Conference. In 1858 he became a member of the Upper Iowa Conference, being stationed at Dyersville. His ministry there was signalized by many conversions and the erection of a fine church. In 1860 he was called to the presidency of Upper Iowa University. For nearly ten years he toiled to build up that institution. In 1869 he became presiding elder of Charles City District. Here he was abundant in labors. At the urgent solicitations of bishops and others he went to Texas, in 1873, and for eight years was virtual superintendent of our work in that State. He reentered the Upper Iowa Conference in 1881, and was pastor for two years each at Maquoketa and Vinton. In 1884 came a pressing call to take up educational work again. He was the first actual president of Dakota University, at Mitchell, S. Dak. Here he put in eight years of tremendous toil. He raised most of the money for the university building. One night cruel flames devoured the edifice and left nothing but worthless ruins and an appalling debt. But this disaster seemed only to nerve him to more herculean endeavors. With wonderful magic he gathered the dollars that reared a noble structure and also wiped out the old indebtedness. His subscription list shows the names of James G. Blaine, Leland Stanford, and many another famous in politics and business. Senator Stanford gave him $5,000. And so by God's help he builded a monument for himself on the Dakota prairies that shall keep his name ever green. While connected with this university he was appointed by President Harrison United States Consul at Messina, Sicily. This gave him opportunity for needed rest and the inspiration of travel among classic scenes. In 1892 there came an appeal to take the presidency of the University of the Northwest at Sioux City, and for two years he labored with untiring energy against fearful odds. In this last struggle his health succumbed. Pneumonia and repeated attacks of the grippe rendered it imperative that he should retire. He resigned in 1894 and returned to Dakota University as financial agent. But increasing infirmity rendered further labor impossible. His work was done, and God tenderly took him home. He was chosen delegate to five General Conferences. At one he received many votes for bishop. He was a loving husband, a wise and tender father, an ever constant friend, a simple-hearted Christian. On the beautiful bluff at Fayette, Ia., overlooking the scene of his longest labor in any single enterprise, he awaits the resurrection of the just. More eloquent than any panegyric is the life he lived, the work he wrought, the fragrant memory he left.

Genesee Conference.

Anson W. Cummings was born February 23, 1815, at Trenton, N. Y. His parents soon after removed to Ontario, Canada, where as a boy of ten he united with the Church at the Brundage appointment on the Augusta Circuit, then included in the Genesee Conference. He became at once interested in the Sunday school, whose principal work in those days was the memorizing of Scripture and the Catechism. While yet a youth he regularly walked four miles up the Saint Lawrence every Sunday afternoon to conduct a Sabbath school in a schoolhouse. At this time he began to recognize a call to the ministry; but, his father having died, there was no way to secure the necessary education except by his own efforts. Nothing daunted, he soon found his way to Boonville, N. Y., where he entered a classical school, and thence to Cazenovia Seminary. In 1834 he received an exhorter's license, and in 1836 was licensed to preach by the Rev. John Dempster. Having graduated at Cazenovia he became principal, in 1836, of the Collinsville Institute, in Lewis County, N. Y. The following year he was received into the Black River Conference and became professor of mathematics in Gouverneur Wesleyan Seminary. Five years later he was elected principal. While here he suffered the loss of his wife, Adaline Bissell Cummings, and of his only child. Entering the pastorate in 1844, he was stationed at Fairfield, N. Y. The same year he married Miss Florilla Alexander, of East De Kalb, N. Y. Two years later he was transferred to Illinois Conference and elected professor of mathematics in McKendree College, the president of which he became in 1850. At this time he was honored with the degree of D.D. from Asbury University. In the following year he was again greatly afflicted by the death of his second wife. In 1853, his health demanding a change of climate, he removed South, having the same year married Mrs. I. H. Sheldon, a teacher in the Female College at Jacksonville, Ill. Locating for one year at Rogersville, Tenn., he took charge of the Odd Fellows' Female College, and then entered upon the presidency of the Holston Conference Female College, at Asheville, N. C., where he labored for eleven years. After the war he traveled a circuit one year and then took charge of the Female College at Spartanburg, S. C. In 1872 he took the chair of mathematics in the University of South Carolina, at Columbia, of which institution he later became president. Here, in 1877, he closed his most interesting career as an educator, and, returning North, located at Wellsville, N. Y., and became a member of the Genesee Conference. At Riverside, near Wellsville, he established Riverside Seminary and built up an excellent boarding school. In 1881, admonished by increasing infirmities, he retired to his home in Wellsville. As a preacher he was fluent in language and easy in manner. Said a prominent editor in characterizing him, "His bearing in the pulpit is complete." A former colleague in teaching said, "His sermons were clear, like mathematical demonstrations." In his last years failing memory and other infirmities prevented all public service beyond reading Scripture and prayer. Yet on the Sabbath he was conscientiously in his seat within the chancel. For more than half a century he tirelessly devoted himself to educational work. The hosts of young men and women in whose minds he planted high ideals and in whose hearts he awakened holy aspirations are the best testimonials of his success. Nothing afforded him greater pleasure than to substantially assist struggling students. His uniform courtesy and affection commanded the esteem of all. He possessed special tact for teaching and superior administrative ability. As an author he is well known by his valuable work, Early Schools of Methodism, which is said to give "the fullest information Methodists have of Asbury's schools." In October, 1894, he was stricken with paralysis, and gradually failed until on December 7 he passed to his reward. Through all those weeks of suffering his confidence in God was blessed. On one occasion his wife asked him if he wished to get well. With quivering lips and tearful eyes he replied, "I want His will done."

Freeborn Garrettson Hibbard, eighth son of Rev. Billy and Sybil Hibbard, was born at New Rochelle, N. Y., February 22, 1811, and received the name of the cherished friend of the family, Rev. Freeborn Garrettson, of Rhinebeck, N. Y. His father was, in those days of large circuits, seldom at home, and the training of the sons devolved upon the godly mother. When ten years old, in the city of New York, after days of earnest seeking God spoke peace to his soul. At sixteen he received the witness of full salvation. At eighteen with an exhorter's license he left home to preach under the presiding elder, and a gracious revival resulted in the conversion of most of his schoolmates of the preceding year. In 1830 he joined the New York Conference at the old John Street Church. In 1832 the New York Conference was divided, and he was set off with the Troy Conference. In 1837, at the earnest solicitation of Bishop Hedding, his lifelong friend, he came to the Genesee Conference and was stationed in Perry. In 1847 the Genesee Conference was divided, and he fell into the East Genesee Conference. When this Conference was blotted out he returned to spend his last years in the Genesee Conference. During his ministry he was stationed fifteen times as pastor, was four times appointed presiding elder, and by the General Conference was elected Editor of the Northern Christian Advocate. From the publication of Hibbard on Baptism, in 1841, to his last work, Eschatology, in 1890, he prepared for the press ten volumes—History and Geography of Palestine, Religion of Childhood, Psalms Chronologically Arranged, with Their History; Life and Works of Bishop Hamline, three volumes; The Book of Psalms in Whedon's Commentary, and History of East Genesee Conference. In 1844 he was elected to the General Conference. In 1856 he was again a delegate. Of the important committee to revise the Discipline he was the last survivor. The chapter on "The Relations of Baptized Children to the Church," prepared with prayers and tears, records his interest in the "little ones of Christ's flock." In 1860, 1864, 1868, and 1872 he was again a member. During his later years of retirement he worked on with active brain and busy hands till an accident, resulting in the disease of the nerve centers, in 1890, laid him aside. The narrowing limitations were accepted without murmur, and through those years of privation the fullness of the divine love was so manifest that he seemed to dwell in the heavens, while prayer and praise so filled his days that those about him breathed the atmosphere of a purer world than this. Two days before his departure he sang his favorite hymn, "Forever here my rest shall be," uttered his last words, "I will praise His wondrous love forever and forever more," and like a tired child fell asleep at Clifton Springs, N. Y., January 27, 1895. His saintly character, his wide reputation in the pulpit and councils of the Church, his authorship, his profundity as a student of the book of books, the dignity of his bearing, the gracious influence that emanated from him, and, above all, his rich spiritual experiences will be long remembered.

James Landreth was born at Mountrath, Ireland, October 23, 1823, and died at Canisteo, N. Y., November 30, 1894. In 1830 the family removed to Brockville, Canada. At about seventeen he went to Genesee Wesleyan Seminary, where he prepared for college. He next taught two years at Ann Arbor, Mich., when he entered the university at that place and was graduated with honor in 1848. Being obliged to live inland on account of his health, he took the theological course at Auburn, N. Y., where he was graduated in 1851, and joined East Genesee Conference. He was in the effective ranks thirty-one years, serving the charges named in the order following: Addison, Starkey, North Hector, Clifton Springs, Rushville, Naples, Principal of Mansfield (Pa.) Classical Seminary, Wellsboro, Walworth, Pultney, Sodus, Bellona, Dundee, Potter, Canisteo, Cansville, Friendship, Allegany, Scottsburg, South Dansville, Towlesville, and Wheeler. He had a strong mind, well trained and well stored. He also had profound convictions on all moral questions. He endured hardness as a good soldier, and also rejoiced in some grand triumphs in his Master's cause. He was twice married. About fourteen years ago his wife's illness led him to retire from the active ministry. The family home was afterward in Canisteo, N. Y. His health failed gradually, and the crisis in which he was prostrated lasted only a few days. He saw his end approaching, but almost his only allusion to it was his remark to his son, "The Lord is letting me down very gently."

John N. Brown was born August 16, 1818, at Milford, N. Y., where his father, who was of English descent, had acquired a comfortable competency in farming. His mother was of sturdy New England descent and a relative of General Grant. He was converted at sixteen, was educated at the Poultney Academy, and joined the Genesee Conference in 1841, to which body he continuously belonged, with the exception of five years in the Western New York Conference. His first appointment was Mead's Creek Circuit and Millport, after which he was appointed to Big Flats, Mecklenburg, Hector and Havana, Burlington, Catherine, Towanda (Pa.), Lodi, Dundee, Palmyra, North Street, Rochester; Phelps, and Clyde. While at the latter place in 1862 he enlisted, and for three years served in the army. His army record was exceptional. He maintained the dignity of his calling as chaplain of the 111th Regiment, and yet was the personal friend of every soldier in the command. Upon his return from the army he served the Hornellsville District four years as presiding elder, after which he returned to the North Street Church, Rochester, for a second term. The blessed work he wrought there will ever be a monument to his memory. His next appointments in order were Victor, First Church, Lockport; Rochester District; Victor, Livonia, Fairport, West Webster, and East Elba, where he rounded out his fifty years of itinerant life. In his semicentennial sermon he said: "During the last fifty years I have served twenty-one charges as pastor, two districts as presiding elder, and three years as chaplain in the army. My fields of labor have varied in size from a single neighborhood to fifty miles long by ten or fifteen miles wide, with from fourteen to sixteen preaching places; and about two thirds of the time I have had to preach three times on the Sabbath." For the last two years he preached at the Wray Chapel, Rochester, a branch of the North Avenue Church, Sabbath afternoons. His last sermon, a few weeks before his death, was from the text "Thou God seest me." He passed peacefully away August 4, 1895. He was a member of the General Conference of 1876. In 1843 he married Eliza A. Graham.

John C. Whiteside was born in Galway, Ireland, June 18, 1828, and died in Syracuse, N. Y., January 4, 1895. His youth was passed in his native country. His religious training was in the Episcopal Church. At twenty-one, with his father and mother, he came to this country. They established their home at Wyoming, N. Y., where one year later, through an older sister, he was led into conscious relationship with Christ. After attending the schools in his village he entered the Northwestern University, remaining two years, when he took work in the Genesee Conference. In 1861, while on the Oramel Charge, he enlisted and went out to war as the first lieutenant of a company he had organized. He was soon promoted to the captaincy, passed honorably through seventeen prominent earlier battles of the war, was a prisoner for twenty months, and remained in the service until the war was at an end. As soon as he could resume work he was given his old charge at Oramel in response to their unanimous request. Thinking he might receive benefit, he then spent one year in Michigan. In 1874 he reentered the Genesee Conference, where he held honorable relation till his death. He served with efficiency the following charges: Allegany, Smethport, Eldred, Scio, Arcade, Scottsburg, Bliss and Eagle, Bristol Center, Allen's Hill, and Hemlock Lake. In 1888 he became supernumerary, and in 1892 superannuated. His manly character was manifest in all his life and work. He had the courage of his convictions. He was an uncompromising temperance advocate. His work on his charges was accompanied by the conversion of sinners. His first wife, Miss Johanna Church, died while he was in the army. On July 12, 1865, he married Miss Delia A. Bump, of Wyoming. During his long illness of over two years he was clear in mind and full of courage. He illustrated again what the grace of God can do for those who learn at the feet of Jesus. "God," he said, "has been good to me all my life, and he has made all my bed in my sickness." At another time he said, "I need Jesus all the time, and I have him all the time; yes, I have him all the time." When the end came he went peacefully without a struggle. He was not here, for God had taken him.

William Henry McKenzie was born in Inverary, Scotland, July 2, 1836, and died at Johnsonsburg, N. Y., September 12, 1895. Death came in an unexpected moment. He was in the midst of revival work and making preparation for evening service, when he fell to the floor, saying, "All is well," and was with the Lord. He was converted at fourteen, and married Miss Mary Welch in Rochester, N. Y., October 24, 1855. His first work in the Genesee Conference was characteristic of the man. He had moved to Summit City, Pa., and was in charge of a shop for making oil-well tools. The people about him being without a shepherd, he organized a class and a Sabbath school and commenced preaching. Soon after he wrote his presiding elder, asking him to visit the work and provide for its pastoral oversight. He was himself appointed to supply the work, and the presiding elder reported that he had discovered both a charge and a preacher. He was greatly respected by his people, and continued to supply the charge for two years as a local deacon. From that place he moved to Mount Alton, and while supplying there was received into Genesee Conference, in 1882. His appointments were afterward Derrick City, East Otto, Machias, Silver Springs, Canaseraga, Fowlerville, Wyoming, and Johnsonsburg. He was a soldier during the war, and passed from the ranks to lieutenant colonel. He was a lover of men and a winner of souls.

William Alexander Runner was born in Howard, Pa., September 5, 1821. He joined the Church September 28, 1841. He was educated in the common school and seminary, and attended Allegheny College until in the junior year, when he was compelled by poor health to leave. While in his third year in college he was licensed as an exhorter. He joined the East Genesee Conference in 1850 and came into the Genesee in 1872. He served the following charges: Ulysses Mission, Brookfield, Ridge, East Palmyra, Barrington, Henrietta, Sparta, Bethel and Voaks, Italy. As a preacher he was earnest, and as a pastor faithful. His ministry bore fruit. On Ulysses Mission one hundred and fifteen were converted and joined the Church, and on the Brookfield Charge, one hundred. All his other charges were also much strengthened. On June 27, 1848, he married Miss Martha L. Chapman. For the last twenty years as a superannuate he was a resident of Mount Morris. His last sickness continued for many months, but he bore it with Christian fortitude, often triumphing over his disease and shouting the praise of God. He passed away March 27, 1895.

Rock River Conference.

Henry Bascom Ridgaway was born in Talbot County, Md., September 7, 1830. He was carefully nurtured in the fear of the Lord, and was led to a personal experience of salvation at thirteen. At seventeen he preached his first sermon; at nineteen he graduated from Dickinson College; at twenty-three he joined the Baltimore Conference, and at thirty he was a preacher of renown. Having served the leading churches of Portland, Me., New York city, Baltimore, and Cincinnati, he was in 1882 chosen to the chair of historical theology in Garrett Biblical Institute. Of this institution, upon the elevation of Professor Ninde to the episcopacy, he became president, and was transferred to the chair of pastoral theology, which position he held at his death. He represented the Church as fraternal delegate to the Church South in 1882, was a member of the Centennial Conference at Baltimore in 1884, and was a delegate to the General Conferences of 1872 and 1892. He was a frequent contributor to the Church press, the author of a work on the Holy Land, after an extended tour there, and the biographer of Alfred Cookman and Bishop Janes. In 1855 he married Rosamond, daughter of Professor Caldwell, of Dickinson College, who survives him. The union was one of rare felicity. To the last he was in demand for pulpit service. His sermons were rich in scriptural thought and expression. His diction was simple and elegant; his delivery chaste but impassioned. On occasion he exhibited the supreme gift of the orator, and was the peer of those who shine in the history of the Methodist pulpit. He was a model pastor, a most welcome friend on social occasions, and the most cherished of ministers on occasions of sorrow. The blending of womanly tenderness with the manliest strength gave him rare power of approach to all classes. As a teacher his influence was inspiring. In the responsible work of forming the style of preachers he presented in himself a worthy ideal. As president he took upon himself exceptional burdens of solicitude for the welfare of his students. Their careers he watched with parental interest, and his joy in their success was exuberant. A few years since the strain of overwork began to be felt. Under expert advice in 1892 he sought a renewal of soundness in a trip around the world. His ardent love for the spread of his Lord's dominion led him to a special investigation of our mission fields, and many an arduous journey was undertaken that he might more completely understand the character and magnitude of the work abroad. At Rome he fell a victim to malaria, and in Japan he came near to death. From these relapses he never fully recovered, but returned home to die. The sweetness and strength of his nature were not impaired in the weary hours of his decline. He met the unseen full of courage and good cheer, ascending to the skies March 30, 1895. The passion of his life was the love of Christ; the radiance of his death was the manifest presence of that Lord whom he had served. His memory will be cherished among things that are holy.

James M. Conlee was born in Illinois, near St. Louis, February 16, 1833, and died in Rockton, Ill., July 27, 1895. In 1850 he married Miss Louise Crowder, of Scales Mound, Ill. In 1853 he was converted and united with the Church. In 1855 he was appointed class leader. In 1856 he was licensed as an exhorter. He was ordained deacon in 1866. In 1873 he was admitted on trial in the Rock River Conference. As a member of the Conference he served the following charges: Dakota, Shirland, Rockton, Nunda, McHenry, Rockton again. At the close of his second year at Rockton he sensibly felt the embarrassment of his physical infirmities, and at his own request received a superannuated relation. There was a charm to his life that was indescribably beautiful. His voice was deep and rich. He had clear conceptions of truth. Great revivals characterized his labors on every charge. The material and spiritual interests of his people were always advanced. He had an experience that was ever to himself a source of joy. This experience grew deeper as years of physical suffering pressed upon him. While going down into the valley he caught a glimpse of the King in his beauty. A halo of divine light flooded the pathway. He shouted "Hallelujah," and passed away.

STEPHEN R. BEGGS was born in Rockingham County, Va., March 30, 1801. His boyhood days were passed in Pennsylvania and Kentucky. In his sixteenth year he came with his parents to southern Indiana, where they permanently located. He was converted when nineteen at a camp meeting, where not a sinner was left unsaved, six others besides himself who were then converted also entering the ministry. On September 1, 1831, he married Miss Elizabeth S. Heath, who died August 7, 1866. On January 1, 1869, he married Mrs. S. R. Frost. He joined the Missouri Conference in October, 1822. His first charge was Mount Sterling Circuit, Indiana, the salary for the entire year being forty dollars. In 1828 he was transferred to the Illinois Conference. From that time forth his work lay wholly in Illinois, except for one year in Logansport, Ind. He constantly moved to what was then the frontier, and finally arrived in Chicago in 1831, organizing the first church, and remaining for a year as its pastor. He was closely identified with the development of Methodism in central and northern Illinois. Among the places in which he founded church organizations are Chicago, Joliet, Peoria, Princeton, Lockport, Plainfield, and Logansport, Ind. At Logansport he organized a church and had a large revival in one year. He is still remembered there, and loved for the work which he did. After 1842 he made his home in Plainfield, Ill., where he was greatly loved and respected. He was an excellent counselor. He was an advocate of total abstinence when such principles were not as popular as they are to-day. The women of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, assembled in a congressional district convention, honored his memory by attending his funeral in a body. As a preacher he was scriptural and spiritual. His first sermon was preached somewhere in Clay County, Ind., his last in Plainfield, Ill., March 31, 1895. The sermon was delivered upon his ninety-fourth birthday, and was concise and spiritual. He was a Methodist preacher for seventy-five years, and is supposed to have been a member of an Annual Conference for a longer period than any man now living. He died September 9, 1895, ripe in years and Christian experience. The last two days of his life he lay in partial stupor. He was taken sick at camp meeting, but was apparently on the road to full recovery. He had full faith in Christ and no doubt of going to heaven.

ANTHONY HASBROUCK SCHOONMAKER was born in Fallsburg, N. Y., January 12, 1821, and died May 15, 1895. His early life was spent on his father's farm, where he enjoyed but limited privileges. At twenty he married Miss Nancy D. Brown, who in a feeble condition survives him, together with one daughter, Mrs. Edith Andrus. Soon after their marriage husband and wife were gloriously converted, and united with the Church. In 1847 he supplied the Callicoon Mission in the New York Conference. In 1849 he was admitted on trial in the Oneida Conference, and stationed at Abington, Pa., where more than two hundred souls were converted. He afterward served at Carmon and Northmoreland. In 1852, the Oneida Conference being divided, he fell into the Wyoming Conference and was stationed at Mehoopany, where he labored two years. In 1854 he was appointed to Scranton, where he built the first Methodist Episcopal church in that city. The last trip he ever took was to go, on the urgent invitation of that society, in December, 1894, to participate in dedicating a $200,000 church in that city. Other charges served were Wyoming, Brooklyn, Plymouth, Providence, Tunkhannock, and Montrose. In 1862 he was commissioned as chaplain of the 132d Pennsylvania Volunteers, and served in that capacity for nine months filled with hard work and self-sacrifice. In 1865, his health being somewhat impaired, he removed to Illinois. A vacancy occurring at Fulton, he was secured to fill it until Conference. At the session of Rock River Conference in 1865 he was readmitted, and appointed to Broadway Church, Sterling. He afterward served with great acceptability Winnebago, Lighthouse, New Milford, Cherry Valley, Marengo, Franklin Grove, Coleta, Ashton, Kaneville, and Steward. In 1890 he was appointed Bible agent, and settled in his own home in Franklin Grove. In this work he continued four and one half years, until feebleness demanded his release from labor. He was a great worker, and many churches and parsonages in the Conference stand as monuments of his energy and wisdom. The camp grounds at Cherry Valley and Franklin Grove were largely due to his perseverance. He was always a power in camp meeting work. In earlier days his clarion voice could be heard long before the encampment was seen. He belonged to that noble band of pioneer preachers who have made Christianity an aggressive force and a lasting comfort in this century.

BARTON HALL CARTWRIGHT was born near Auburn, N. Y., March 9, 1810. By the death of his father, who was a Baptist preacher, he was thrown upon his own resources at twelve. He was converted in his eighteenth year, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1833, with limited purse, he started for the West, walking from Syracuse to a village on the Allegheny River, where he embarked for Pittsburg, and went thence to Cincinnati, and finally to Burlington, Ia. Providence next led him to Warren County, Ill., where in May, 1833, he preached his first sermon in the West. A year later he went as a missionary to Iowa, and is said to have organized the first Protestant Church in that State. In 1834 he was admitted to the Illinois Conference, which then embraced Illinois, Wisconsin, and Iowa. His first appointment was to the Knoxville Circuit, which embraced Henderson, Warren, Knox, and Mercer Counties. In 1836 his circuit embraced Pike and Calhoun Counties. In December of that year, on a tour of missionary exploration he traversed Illinois, Michigan, Canada, and New York. In 1837 he was assigned to Buffalo Circuit, which embraced the towns of Dixon, Sterling, Fulton, Mount Morris, Oregon, and many other settlements. He married Miss Chloe J. Benedict April 3, 1839. During the next three decades his name figures prominently in our Church history in Iowa and Illinois. In 1863 he was commissioned chaplain of the Ninety-second Regiment of Illinois Volunteer Infantry, and served with that regiment until the close of the war. He was with Sherman in the famous march to the sea. After the war he served with great acceptability in the Illinois and Rock River Conferences until 1883, when he took a superannuated relation. His zeal for God and the Church remained unabated. His last days were full of blessed victory. His was a mount of transfiguration experience. He frequently shouted aloud the praises of the Redeemer. From his home in Oregon, Ill., April 3, 1895, he was translated to the Church triumphant.

Wisconsin Conference.

HENRY ROOT COLMAN, the oldest member of the Wisconsin Conference, on February 7, 1895, passed to his eternal home. His son, with whom he had lived for nearly twenty years, found him at twilight seated in the library. He was born of English ancestry October 9, 1800, in the town of Northampton, N. Y. During his early manhood he was a schoolteacher in Fulton County and vicinity. He early gave his heart to Christ, and, following the example of an older brother, the Rev. Seymour Colman, decided to preach. In 1826 he became an exhorter, and three years later a local preacher. He joined New York Conference in 1831, and was ordained deacon by Bishop Emory, and elder by Bishop Hedding. When the Troy Conference was organized he became a member, and served several circuits, including Warren, Luzerne, Bridgeport, Ticonderoga, Essex, and Berne. In 1840 he was appointed missionary to the Oneida Indians at Green Bay, Wis. For five years he did successful work with this tribe. In 1841 he was transferred to the Rock River Conference, which had charge of the work. On the organization of the Wisconsin Conference in 1848 he became a member. In 1845 he was appointed missionary to the Indians at Brothertown, Wis. After two years he came to Fond du Lac. In 1848, owing to exposure, he was attacked by chronic bronchitis and lost his voice. Later he recovered it in a measure, but was never able to take regular work again. He was one of the founders of Lawrence University. In 1846, in company with the Revs. Reader Smith and W. H. Sampson, he rode on horseback through the Fox River valley from Lake Winnebago to Green Bay in search for a site. They finally selected the spot on which the university now stands, rode on to Milwaukee, organized a board of trustees, and launched the school. For nearly two years after giving up regular work he acted as steward of the college. He was interested to the last in the work of Christ. Among the last works of his life was a liberal contribution to the missionary cause. It was his habit during his last years to make a regular round of calls on old friends shut in by years and infirmities. The Home of the Friendless also often welcomed his visits. On the morning of the day he died his daughter-in-law heard a voice in his room fervently exclaiming, "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and all that is within me bless his holy name!" His wife passed across the stream in 1890, after sixty-six years of wedded life. Several of their children have come to prominence. He was one of the most venerated members of the Wisconsin Conference.

Philo S. Bennett was born in Richland, N. Y., March 13, 1817, and died at the home of his daughter and only surviving child, Mrs. Emma Briggs, in Appleton, Wis., April 5, 1895. His parents were natives of Vermont, but removed in 1806 to a farm in New York State. At sixteen, under a sermon preached by the father of Bishop Ninde, on "Naaman the Leper," he was blessedly converted. At the same meeting his parents were also converted. In 1834 he entered the Oneida Conference Seminary at Cazenovia, N. Y., and a year afterward the Rensselaer Academy, where he spent four years. He was licensed to preach May 6, 1837, and in April of the following year took pastoral charge of Port Byron. On June 13, 1838, he married Miss Calphurnia Chase, with whom he lived in happy wedded life more than forty-nine years. He joined the Black River Conference in 1838, and was reappointed to Port Byron. Two years later he was ordained by Bishop Roberts. In this Conference he received six other appointments: Norfolk, Bangor, Brownsville, Salina, Cleveland, Van Buren, and Red Creek. About that time he felt a call to go to Wisconsin and enter the work there. He arrived in Milwaukee June 15, 1849, entered by transfer the Wisconsin Conference, and received appointment to Platteville Charge. His next charge was Beloit, where he studied in the college, and received in course the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts. Subsequent charges were Waukesha, Spring Street, Milwaukee, and Racine. In 1860 he became financial agent of Lawrence University, which position he held for two years. A pastorate at Green Bay and a full term on the Appleton District followed. He then asked, for business reasons, a superannuated relation, which lasted for seven years. In 1875 he reentered the active work and went to Manitowoc. Subsequent charges were Weyauwega, Grand Rapids, New London, Union Grove, De Pere, and Union Church, Racine. He again superannuated in 1888. In 1890, with the Rev. James Lawson, of the West Wisconsin Conference, he published The History of Methodism in Wisconsin. He was widely known and greatly beloved. His voice and pen were in active service on all important questions. He took an active part in temperance work as early as 1844, and from that time was a pronounced advocate for prohibition. At the Conference of 1851, on his motion, a committee was appointed on "Slavery." The report of that committee, which he wrote, was the first word uttered by a western Conference against the evil. He was ever to be found on the side of the poor or the wronged. His character was unsullied. His religious life was joyous. His end was sudden. He died in full possession of his faculties and in full faith of a blessed immortality.

William Medley Trever was born July 11, 1824, in Killingholme, Lincolnshire, England. In early life he served an apprenticeship to the blacksmith trade. He was of studious habits and taught the village school for seven years. At fifteen the divine Spirit found a home in his heart. He began preaching at seventeen. His wife, whom he married in 1850, soon died, and in 1858 he married Miss Elizabeth White. He began his ministerial work as a Wesleyan local preacher, and was in great demand for anniversary and missionary sermons. In 1869 he came to America, settled in Wisconsin, and immediately identified himself with the Wisconsin Conference. His appointments were: Gravesville, Iron Ridge, Fox Lake, Lamartine, Burnett, Juneau, Horicon, Byron, and Sheboygan Falls. Seven years ago he became supernumerary, and the next year superannuated. Two years since he went to California to visit his daughter, but, his health failing, he returned to die and be buried within the bounds of his Conference. The journey exhausted his vitality, and after a few weeks, on June 21, 1895, he entered the other life. His last words were, "Blessed Jesus, open wide the gate."

Central New York Conference.

William M. Ferguson died January 28, 1895, in Washington, D. C. He was about eighty years of age at his death. He was converted when young, and nearly fifty years ago became a member of the old Genesee Conference. In the organization of the East Genesee Conference he became a member, and when that was divided fell into the Central New York Conference. He was a devoted Methodist of the old type. He was an earnest preacher of the Gospel. About thirty years ago he went to Washington, D. C., and when the Metropolitan Church was organized became identified with it, and for a number of years was leader of the "Strangers' Class." The record of his life and character is on high, ready to be revealed in the great day. His last sickness was long and painful, but without murmuring he endured as seeing Him who is invisible.

Daniel De Witt Davis died of pneumonia in Leona, Pa., February 16, 1895, while helping the pastor in revival work. He was born in Butler, Wayne County, N. Y., August 24, 1824. His parents were leading Methodists of his native town. He was converted at the age of nine. His youth and young manhood were mainly spent upon the farm. In 1846 he married Miss Laura Henderson, of Butler, N. Y. In May, 1853, he accepted a license to exhort, and in 1860 to preach. In 1862 he supplied part of a year at Martville and Bethel. In April, 1863, he was admitted into the Black River Conference on probation. His appointments were successively as follows: Martville and Bethel, South Hannibal and Granby Center, Conquest, Savannah, Fleming, Ross, Savannah again, Euclid, Lysander, Onondaga Valley, Chapinville and Manchester. In 1892, owing to the ill health of his wife, he took a supernumerary relation and located in Savannah, N. Y., afterward aiding various pastors from year to year in revival work. He was thoroughly devoted to the Master's service. Gifted with the power of song, he preached, shouted, and sang with wondrous effect. He was a host on the camp ground. He often seemed inspired of God as he sang at Conference and related his experience. He walked continually on the higher plane of Christian attainment. His presence was a benediction socially, and his enthusiasm an inspiration to lead a holy life. He was called unexpectedly, in the midst of work he loved so well, with a fair expectation of several more years of service. After a few hours of most painful illness he passed away in great peace about four o'clock Saturday morning. He was conscious to the last, and died, as he had lived, ready for the summons.

Freeman Harlow Stanton was born at Deerfield, N. Y., March 8, 1809, and died in Rochester, N. Y., February 28, 1895. His first remembered religious impressions came at twelve, when he overheard his father praying on the bank of a river. When seventeen he was led at the close of an afternoon meeting to go into a cemetery to pray. While pleading in this strange place the words flashed upon his mind, "Thy faith hath saved thee," and the joy of salvation relieved his distress. The year following his conversion he was licensed to exhort. Three years later he was appointed on the Cape Vincent Circuit. At the end of that year he was licensed to preach, and in 1832 was received in the Oneida Conference and appointed to Sandy Creek Circuit. In January, 1832, he married Miss Mary Esseltyne, of Cape Vincent. In 1833 his circuit was the Black River; in 1834 Cape Vincent again, as preacher in charge; in 1835 he was ordained deacon and sent to Greene; in 1836 to Wyoming; in 1838–39 he was at Carbondale, where the Lord sent glorious revivals. After a year at Skinner's Eddy he was sent to Binghamton, where two hundred were added during the second year. The two years following he was at Oswego, and then at Greene again for one year. In 1846 he was transferred to the Black River Conference and stationed at Fairfield. His after appointments were: Rome, Camden, State Street in Watertown, Watertown District, Adams District, Syracuse District, Pulaski, Liverpool, Cazenovia, Newark, Camillus, Nelson, Clockville, Kirkville. During his third year in this last appointment his wife died. He then, in 1884, received the superannuated relation in Central New York Conference, of which he became a member at its organization in 1868. In 1856 and 1860 he was delegate to the General Conference. He had a vigor of mind and excellency of voice which, with terseness and vivid comprehensiveness in public address, made him always effective in preaching. He was fond of music and song, and utilized this gift for his Master. His generalship as presiding elder was conspicuous, and his clear voice in speaking and singing gave him great power at camp meetings and such occasions. He had a sudden death, which to him was sudden glory.

Daniel Dana Buck was born September 10, 1814, in Lebanon, N. H. While yet a child he came with his parents to Scottsville, N. Y. Later he found employment in Rochester as a clerk. His conversion occurred at the age of thirteen. At nineteen he was made class leader, and at twenty-one an exhorter. Two years later he was licensed as a local preacher, and in September, 1837, was admitted to the Genesee Conference. His ministry covered the following appointments: Middleport, Lewiston, Leroy, Stafford, Careyville, Lima, Dansville, Rochester, Saint John's; Lyons, Penn Yan, Elmira, First Church; Rochester, First Church; Geneva, Lyons again, chaplaincy in the army, Canandaigua, Penn Yan again, Newark, Wellsboro, Rushville, Ithaca, Seneca Street; Wellsboro again. From 1890 to 1895 he was superannuated. While supernumerary and superannuate he did work as follows: Central Church, Detroit; Onondaga Valley; one year as pastor pro tem. of the Dutch Reformed Church, Geneva; six months of the North Presbyterian Church, Geneva; two months of the Baptist Church, Geneva; and also presiding elder pro tem. of Bath District, Genesee Conference. In all of these fields of labor success was achieved. Revivals of religion were common under his ministry. He was in 1856 a delegate to the General Conference. While attending assiduously to his duties as pastor he found opportunity for much literary work. He published ten volumes, besides a large number of pamphlets. By Allegheny College and by Illinois Wesleyan University he was honored with the title of D.D. His first wife was Miss Philena Aldrich, of Rochester, N. Y., who died in 1869. He afterward married Miss Lorena Aldrich, of the same place, who, with a son, Rev. M. D. Buck, of Sacramento, Cal., survives. From Geneva, N. Y., he was called to his reward June 7, 1895.

William Lake Bryers was born near Kingston, N. Y., July 16, 1854. His was the first death in a circle of ten children. His aged and enfeebled mother also survives him. The school advantages of his childhood were limited. He early learned the trade of a millwright, in which, with the added work of a paper-maker, he continued for years. While yet in his boyhood he removed to Baldwinsville, N. Y., where, in 1875, he was converted. In October, 1884, he married Miss Alice C. Smith, of Baldwinsville. Soon after his conversion he began a course of study preparatory to entering Syracuse University. After three years in the university failing health compelled him to relinquish the college course. In 1880 he received a license to exhort, and in 1883 was licensed to preach. The following year he was sent to the Amber and Otisco Valley Charge as a supply. At the ensuing Conference he was admitted on trial, and for the next two years served that charge. His work on the Borodino and Spafford Charge, to which he was next assigned, was a repetition of his former success. Here, as on his former charge, he greatly improved the church property. After three years at Borodino he was stationed at North Syracuse. A beautiful new church, a monument of perseverance against the seemingly impossible, with spirituality promoted in the hearts of the people, is witness to his skill and fidelity during that pastorate. His next appointment was at Olivet Church in Syracuse, then a new and small organization. He found the society worshiping in the Sunday school room of the unfinished church, but within a few months had placed the growing congregation in a beautifully finished auditorium. He was next stationed at East Syracuse, where he worked heroically until his poor body sank under disease. He was taken to the Methodist Episcopal hospital in Brooklyn, where he underwent a surgical operation. He then went to Clifton Springs, and thence to Borodino, where in the midst of friends he patiently waited the will of the Lord. In great bodily suffering he peacefully went down into the valley, comforted by the divine rod and staff. On September 8, 1895, he died as he had lived, in joy and faith.

Central German Conference.

Henry Liebhart was born in Carlsruhe, Grand Duchy of Baden, September 5, 1832. He was educated in Carlsruhe, Blaubeuren, and Heidelberg. In 1854 he came to this country, and on October 15 of that year, married Friederike Miller at Saugerties, N. Y. The same year he was here led by a little girl into a Methodist church, where he was soundly converted. Uniting with the church, he soon after was granted a local preacher's license. In 1858 he was received into the New York Conference, and became a member of the East German Conference at its organization in 1865. He labored successfully in Poughkeepsie, Boston, Williamsburg, and Baltimore. In 1865 Dr. William Nast called him to Cincinnati, and employed him as assistant editor of the Christliche Apologete and German Sunday school literature. Here began his tireless and many-sided activity so well known to the German portion of the Church. While assistant editor he served the church in Covington for five years, and built the present beautiful edifice. In 1872 he was unanimously elected secretary of the German Sunday-school department and editor of Haus und Herd. This position, by repeated reelections, he occupied up to his tragic death. Manifold were his labors in this responsible position. Besides editing Haus and Hurd, Die Glocke, Der Bibelforscher, the Familien-Bibliothek, and other publications, he translated Stevens's History of Methodism, and published Buch der Gleichnisse, Leben und Wirken in der Heidenwelt, Biblische Geschichte, Im Jugendkreis, and three Sunday school song books, namely, Psalter and Harfe, Liederlust and Psalter, and Perle. In the preparation of the new German Hymnal he did the main work. He lectured and preached in all parts of the country, dedicated over one hundred church buildings, and in Sunday school and Epworth League conventions was abundant in labors. Baldwin University conferred on him the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity. He was a man tried in the fire of affliction. His first wife died, after suffering for a number of years, November 20, 1875. In 1879 he found a noble helpmeet in Anna Dohrmann, but she too died February 15, 1892, after a lingering illness. His oldest and much-gifted son soon followed. These and other afflictions weighed heavily on him. During his last few months he suffered much, especially from insomnia. Returning from Montreal, Canada, January 25, 1895, in passing from one coach to another, he was violently thrown from the train by a raging storm, and was almost instantly killed. He was a noble character, highly fitted for the position he so long filled. He had an excellent memory, good common sense, and a receptive mind for the grand and beautiful. He was a great organizer. His eloquence in the pulpit and his ability as an impromptu speaker were everywhere admired. His hospitality toward the German preachers was almost boundless. He had an unusual amount of self-control and perseverance. Four times he was a delegate and twice a reserve delegate to the General Conference. In 1881 he was delegate to the Ecumenical Conference in London, England. German Wallace College, in Berea, O., had no warmer or more influential friend than he. He has passed from his labors to that rest which remaineth for God's people.

Ehrhardt Frederick Wunderlich was born at Ruessdorf, Saxe-Weimar, Germany, February 2, 1830. After acquiring a fair education he came to America in 1849. Soon after his arrival he was converted, immediately uniting with our Church. The following year he returned to the old country, and there fearlessly testified to the saving grace of Jesus Christ. Our brethren in Germany licensed him as a local preacher, and in this capacity he preached the Gospel with untiring zeal, though persecuted by government officials and maltreated by his countrymen. He married Amelia Meinhard in 1852. The following year he returned to this country, and soon thereafter became a member of the Cincinnati Conference. He was then transferred to the Chicago German Conference, and later to the Central German Conference. He served as presiding elder on the Cincinnati and Michigan Districts. During his pastorate he served the following charges: Hamilton, Newark, Chillicothe, Portsmouth, Wheeling, Dayton, Pittsburg, Allegheny City, Cleveland, Detroit, Toledo, Evansville, Lafayette. The Master called his servant to his eternal rest February 5, 1895, at Pittsburg, Pa. He was a son of consolation, a friend of the afflicted, and a father to the young preachers. He has gone home to receive his glorious reward.

Peter F. Schneider died in Berea, O., April 17, 1895. He was born in Hohen-Solms, Prussia, October 12, 1825, and came to America with his parents at the age of eight years. In Crawford County, O., near Galion, the family found a new home. When the first German Methodist missionaries came to his father's house he was one of their most attentive hearers. He was converted in his fourteenth year, and in 1848 was sent forth as a German Methodist preacher. His heart was aflame with love to God and his German countrymen, and he worked among them with self-sacrificing devotion. His labors were crowned with success; souls were converted and the interests of Christ's kingdom advanced. He filled the following appointments: Galion Mission, Lower Sandusky, Woodville and Toledo Circuit, Sandusky City, Cleveland, Detroit, Michigan District, Delaware, Toledo, Allegheny City, Evansville, Louisville District. In 1873 he was elected Vice President and Financial Agent of German Wallace College, which position he occupied until his decease. In him every student found a warm friend. He knew men, and how to deal with them. Always kind and courteous, he made friends wherever he went. His sermons were practical, delivered with a musical voice, and aptly illustrated; hence the people heard him gladly. He preached with much pathos. His was a life of unwavering faith. On his dying bed he said, "Great joy I have not, but a strong trust in God."

Gottlob Nachtrieb was born in Brenzenaker, Würtemberg, Germany, March 22, 1822, and died February 7, 1895, in New Palestine, Ind. His parents belonged to the Pietists in Germany, and trained the boy accordingly. In 1844 he came to this country, landing in Baltimore, Md., where he was converted shortly afterward. He married his first wife in April, 1848, in Philadelphia, Pa. He then moved to Chicago, and thence to Detroit, where he became a class leader and later an exhorter and local preacher. In 1850 he was received by the Ohio Conference on probation, afterward serving the following charges: Galion and Bucyrus Mission, Woodville and Toledo Mission, Delaware and Marion, Columbus, Cleveland, Pittsburg, Birmingham Mission, Cleveland again, Detroit, Presiding Elder of North Ohio District, Buckeye Street, Cincinnati; Marysville, California, Indianapolis, Portsmouth, Covington, Buckeye Street, Cincinnati, again; Evansville, Jefferson Street, Louisville; New Palestine. In 1891 he was placed on the superannuated list, but continued to serve the charge at New Palestine. His sermons were always edifying. He was a good pastor, much beloved. He was a safe guide of the young, painstakingly instructing the children in religion. During four months he lay on his dying bed; patiently and meekly he bore all. "What God does is well done," said he. He was ripe for heaven when the Master called.

Theodore Schumann died February 24, 1895. He was born in Delhi township, O., August 13, 1848. He married Elizabeth Abele in 1873. In 1859 he removed with his parents to Saginaw, Mich., where he was converted and joined the Church. He soon received a local preacher's license, and in this office served for a few years. He entered the Central German Conference September, 1881, and filled the following appointments: Petosky, Marine City, Francisco, Segur Avenue, Toledo; Second Church, Detroit; Roseville. He was an earnest worker, and was permitted to reap much fruit from his sowing. He preached for the last time Sunday, February 1, 1895, and on the twenty-fourth day of the same month he entered into the blessed rest of God's people.

Carl Lurker was born in Weier, Grand Duchy of Baden, Germany, October 28, 1837, and came to America with his parents in 1851. The family settled near Evansville, Ind. Though born in the Roman Catholic Church he had received from his God-fearing parents the fundamental outlines of a Christian training, and when he came in contact with the pure preaching of God's word he was awakened by reading the Holy Scriptures when about seventeen years of age. During a period of illness he turned to the Lord in prayer and received pardon. However, he lost this precious grace and wandered again in darkness until August, 1858, when the life from above was renewed in his soul. He now joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, and was appointed class leader and licensed as exhorter and local preacher. On October 5, 1858, he married Caroline Nonnweiler, with whom he lived until his death. In the fall of 1859 he was received into the Southeast Indiana Conference, and was sent for one year to Defiance, O. He subsequently filled the following appointments: Milan, Lawrenceburg, Seymour, Chillicothe and Greenfield, Everett Street, Cincinnati; Baresville, Clarington, Newport. On all of these charges his labors were blessed; everywhere he rejoiced with souls who were brought from darkness to light. Especially was the power of God manifested in the revivals he had at Everett Street, Cincinnati, and at Baresville, O. In his forty-second year his physical condition compelled him to take a supernumerary relation. He settled on a small farm near Cold Springs, Ky., in the fall of 1879. The change was no small matter for this zealous preacher of the Gospel, but he clung to God through all. In the spring of 1895 he was compelled to seek medical aid in Christ Hospital, Cincinnati. The apparent improvement in his condition soon vanished. Under great suffering, yet faithfully nursed by his wife and daughters, and abundantly comforted by God's grace, he gradually neared the portals of dissolution. He died August 12, 1895.

Illinois Conference.

James R. Ivins was born in Bowen, Ill., April 25, 1866, and died at Camp Point, Ill., January 27, 1895. He was converted and joined the Church at eleven. His call to the ministry caused him a severe struggle, but when he had yielded his zeal became a consuming fire. He was licensed to preach in 1886. In 1889 he was admitted to the Illinois Conference and appointed to the Camden Circuit, where he spent two successful years. During this pastorate, on Christmas eve, 1890, he married Mary E. Glasgow, who entered into rest about eight months before him. In 1891 he was appointed to Camp Point, where his pulpit power and administrative ability resulted in a gracious revival, followed by the erection of a beautiful church and parsonage. During his second year here his health failed so that he was obliged to ask for a supernumerary relation in 1893. During about three months of the following winter he did some supply work, and for three weeks engaged with marvelous energy in revival services. The next February he sought relief in change of climate, and spent three months as pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at Tarpon Springs, Fla. Returning in May to Camp Point, he arrived a few hours too late to see his wife alive. Under this crushing blow, with broken health and heart, he was most marvelously sustained. He leaned wholly upon God, and was not disappointed. In the months that followed his patience and cheerfulness won all hearts. He was full of courage to the last, and had entered on the studies of the fourth year, hoping to be ordained elder and receive an appointment at the next Conference. He wanted to live for the work and for his two motherless boys; yet the last foe had no terrors for him. When told that the end was near he said, "If this is death I see no reason to dread it."

Edward Rutledge was born in Augusta County, Va., March 11, 1818, and united with the Church August 20, 1832. In October, 1834, with the family of his widowed mother, he came to Illinois, settling near Table Grove, in Fulton County. Here, in 1840, he married Miss Leah Harris, who died March 18, 1849. On July 8, 1852, he married Miss Julia Fergus, who survives him. In 1850 he was licensed to preach in Bellville, Ill., and joined the Illinois Conference the same year. He served the following charges: Greenville, Columbus, Scottsville, Havana, Pulaski, Greenfield, New Hartford, Monticello, Vermillion, Astoria, and Bath. In 1861 he raised Company H of the Third Regiment Illinois Cavalry, and was in August mustered in as their captain. Through exposure he was much afflicted, and, having resigned, returned home. Soon he was so far recovered as to accept from Governor Yates the chaplaincy of the Sixty-first Regiment Illinois Infantry, with which he served until again his health failed, and he was forced to resign. Afterward he served Ashland, Springfield, and Mason City as pastor. He was an earnest and successful preacher, and never satisfied with less than a genuine revival. Having never recovered from the disabilities of army life, he asked for a superannuated relation, which he retained until his death in Yates Center, Kan., December 28, 1894. Although a great sufferer for years his end was peace.

Elias D. Wilkin was born near Newark, O., September 20, 1830, and died in Lincoln, Ill., April 8, 1895. When he was about fifteen years of age the family moved to Crawford County, Ill., where they settled on a farm. In 1848 he was converted and united with the Church. Up to this time he had intended studying law, and always retained his admiration for the legal profession, feeling a special pride in the professional success of two younger brothers. He entered McKendree College in 1850, and graduated in 1856, and in due course received the degree of Master of Arts. While pastor at Carlinville, the seat of Blackburn University, he received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from that school. The fall after graduation he became professor in the old Marshall Seminary, and soon became its president, conducting it with fair success until the fall of 1860. He was admitted on trial in the Illinois Conference in 1857. With the breaking out of the war he became chaplain of the historic Twenty-first Illinois Volunteers, known as "Grant's Regiment." Though he ranked as a noncombatant he was often in the thickest of the fight, as when on the second day at Chickamauga he went in advance of the regiment to victory. He was often spoken of as the "fighting chaplain." On returning from the war in 1865 he resumed work in his Conference and served with great acceptability the following charges: Charleston, Normal, Second Church, Springfield; Mattoon, Pana, Paris, Champaign, Vermillion, First Church, Danville; Carlinville, and Lincoln, covering a period of nearly thirty-eight years. His ministry was truly effective, and in his death he realized the oft-expressed desire of "dying in the harness." He was first married to Miss Harriet Mayo, of Paris, Ill., on December 20, 1857, who died on October 31, 1881. His second wife was Mrs. Mary E. Hill, of Palestine, Ill., who survives him. Physically he was strong; mentally he was clear and thoroughly practical. He was a close student, and read for practical ends. He was eminently scriptural in his preaching. His piety partook of the warmth of his nature, coming out in unaffected utterance and coloring his common thoughts and feelings. His faith in God was unbounded. Some ray of divine goodness streamed forth from the darkest trial, and thanks were the common breathings of his soul. He began to fail on the Friday preceding his death. On Monday evening he grew worse, and at about nine o'clock, having ascended the stairway to his room, he took his seat in the armchair, and was not, for God had taken him.

Detroit Conference.

MARVIN J. SCOTT was born in Le Roy, N. Y., May 29, 1832, and died in Lambertville, Mich., October 25, 1894. He was educated in the public schools and at the Le Roy Seminary. He was converted and united with the Church at nineteen, and about that time came to Michigan and taught, becoming principal of the Romeo high school. He married Miss Loretta Crawford April 17, 1861, who died January 31, 1866. On March 26, 1867, he married Miss Mary Telling, of Byron, Mich., who survives him. While teaching at Byron he yielded to his convictions and joined the Detroit Conference in 1868. His appointments were as follows: Palmyra, West Milan, Sand Beach, Marysville, Capac, Brockway, Adair, Lambertville, Henderson, Freeland. In all these fields he wrought faithfully and well. At the Conference of 1884 failing health compelled him to take a superannuated relation, which he retained until his decease. At Sand Beach he literally "suffered the loss of all things" by fire. Returning from his first Sabbath's appointments, he found every earthly possession swept away by a forest fire, from which he escaped only by standing in a lake for protection. He possessed a mind well stored by careful reading and study. As a preacher he was thoughtful and instructive. His sermons were prepared with great care. His life was deeply spiritual; he seemed to live as in the presence of eternal realities. He was an inspiration to his younger brethren in the ministry. His last words in church were full of encouragement concerning special revival services just beginning, which he expected to participate in. An attack of hemorrhage a week before his death despoiled the frail casket. His end was full of joy. The day before he died he grasped his pastor warmly by the hand, and said, "The Lord is my helper. I have no fear; all is well. If I can be of no more service to Christ or to the Church and the world I would like to go home." Then, as if faith was fast ripening into fruition, he added, "The way is clear; it looks very attractive over there." He was greatly beloved by all, and his memory is blessed.

THOMAS SEELYE was born in Westmoreland, N. Y., February 3, 1822, and died in Ann Arbor, Mich., January 3, 1895. His boyhood was spent in Ohio, where his parents had removed. He was soundly converted at the age of fifteen. Coming to Michigan before his majority, he began his itinerant career in 1843 by serving as a supply on the Dundee Circuit. He united with the Michigan Conference in 1844, and was ordained deacon by Bishop Morris in 1847, and elder by Bishop Hamline in 1849. His charges were as follows: Medina, Hillsdale, Brooklyn, Romeo, Almont, Lexington, New Haven, Washington, Oxford, Hadley, South Flint, Grand Blanc, Flushing, Hartland, Richmond, Brandon, Swartz Creek, Dixboro, Augusta. From 1882 until his death he was superannuated. He supplied Hartland Charge in 1883–84. He passed his superannuation upon his farm near Armada, and latterly at Dexter and Ann Arbor. He married Miss Naomi D. Sutherland in 1848, who still survives. He transmitted to his family the benedictions of piety he had received, and his children are all devoted and honored members of the Church. His self-distrust at first led him to resist the call to the ministry. In this state of rebellion he saw visions of heaven and hell while critically ill, and surrendered. His early educational advantages were in the district school and in the Norwalk Seminary when Edward (afterward Bishop) Thomson was principal. Infirm health did not permit him to complete his course. He was unassuming, diligent, sensitive in conscience, pure in motive and character, and spotless in his life. These virtues endeared him to his charges and his friends. Revivals attended his ministry. At Hadley the conversions during his pastorate numbered about three hundred. At Lexington the meetings aroused such universal interest that the amusements of the season had to be abandoned. His domestic life was one of unusual beauty. At family prayers on his last New Year's Day he said, "Now let us repeat some texts of Scripture that give our experiences. I want to say for myself, 'Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits.'" At the New Year's service that same evening a singularly sweet testimony was given by him: "This is the happiest New Year of my life. I am all the Lord's. He directs my steps. Whether I live the entire year or but two days of it, I am determined to make each day the best of my life. I cannot only say that I do not fear death, but I can say that I shall be glad to depart when it is the Lord's will; for while to live is Christ, to die is gain." Two days later he died, the cause of his death not being clear.

JAMES S. ROSE was born near Smith's Falls, Ontario, Canada, January 5, 1845, and died in Detroit, Mich., April 26, 1895. His mother died while he was a lad, and bore to her upper home his promise to meet her there. He was converted shortly afterward at a camp meeting near Burford, Ontario, Canada, where he married, on his twenty-sixth birthday, Miss Jane A. Terryberry, who preceded him to the better land. In his youth he worked his way through college, and, entering the ministry about the time of his marriage, served seven charges in Ontario before coming to the United States. At the Detroit Conference of 1884 he was received as an elder from the Niagara Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Canada. His appointments afterward were: Wesley Church, Detroit; Wyandotte, New Boston, Belleville, Trenton. In 1892 he became supernumerary because of failing health, but was serving Ninde Church, Detroit, as pastor when his death came. On Easter Sabbath he rode to church, being so exhausted by the effort that he sank into the nearest pew. Having rallied and conducted the morning service, he said at its close, "I have never thought of resigning my charge and relinquishing my blessed work, but now I fear that I must. There is this consolation, however, in contemplating such a step, I have done the best I could, and have gone just as far as I possibly could." Some three weeks before his decease, his appearance and utterances had something almost superearthly about them. He was narrating his own experience; his voice and looks took on a tone and radiance more suggestive of the celestial than the terrestrial. He seemed to have visions of the things of the world invisible and to be touched by a transfiguring power. He was a man of much tenderness toward those who were in trouble, and spent himself in labor for others. His nature was guileless. He was much beloved.

EDWARD F. WARNER was born in Hastings, Mich., August 21, 1852, and died in Oakley, Mich., May 13, 1895. His mother was a Christian, his father a disciple of Hume and Paine. Imbibing his father's principles, he cared little for churches or schools, and so grew to manhood. The change in his views on religious subjects was brought about through the gentleness, consistency, and earnest prayers of his wife. In a Thursday evening prayer meeting at Hartland he surrendered all to Christ, offered his first prayer in public, and from that hour became one of the most zealous of Christians. He was a close observer of men and methods, and possibly learned more in that school than in the study of books. He spent a year at Albion College. His was a gentle spirit. He carried sunshine wherever he went. Being endowed with a vivid imagination and more than ordinary gifts of speech, and being filled with the Holy Ghost, his preaching moved men's hearts. He was married to Mrs. Laura P. Andrus at Fenton, December 2, 1876. He served the following charges as pastor: Riggsville, Sterling, Otsego Lake, Ossineke, Wolverine; and it was while serving his first year on the Oakley Charge that he was translated. The immediate cause of his death was cancer of the stomach, which had been aggravated by overwork. Ten weeks of continuous revival labors hastened the end; but during those weeks God gave him over one hundred souls as seals to his ministry. At the last he united with his family in prayer and song as his strength would allow, and departed to be with Christ.

HENRY NEWTON BROWN died suddenly July 1, 1895, a few moments after being struck by a passing freight train. He was born November 15, 1821, in Nettleton, Lincolnshire, England, and was converted December 23, 1842. He came to this country, landing in New York, July, 1843, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in September following. He later entered Albion College, remaining there only part of the year. In September, 1846, he joined the Michigan Conference, and in 1856 he became a member of the newly created Detroit Conference. His appointments were as follows: Birmingham, Lexington, Lakeville, Richmond, Hadley, Lapeer, Carp River (Marquette), Eagle River and Eagle Harbor, Ruby, Lexington again, East Saginaw, Northville, Belleville and Sheldon, Seventh Street (Simpson), Detroit; Blissfield, Clinton, Petersburg, Ridgeway, Grand Blanc, Sixteenth Street, Detroit, and Greenfield; Denton and Sheldon, Leesville and Warren, Leesville and Norris, Trenton, Royal Oak. In 1881 he superannuated, and so remained until his death. He married Loanna R. Hoard August 24, 1848, who died September 7, 1889. In 1890 he made a trip to England. In 1892 he married Mrs. Catherine C. Beagle, of Blissfield, Mich., a parishioner of thirty years before. They lived happily together in Blissfield, spending their years in a quiet way, visiting the sick and afflicted, and attending the means of grace. He was universally beloved in his last home. He was a man of happy disposition. His preaching was clear and sound. He was self made. His mind was clear, his convictions had definite outline, and he possessed courage. He loved to preach, and was prone to enlarge his circuit by creating new appointments among those people distant from the church. He excelled as a pastor. Two hairbreadth escapes always seemed to him special providences. While driving to an appointment in what is now the Port Huron District a large tree fell across the road, instantly killing his horse. At another time, when fording a swollen stream, he and his horse were swept out of their course by the current, and, becoming mixed with the driftwood, barely escaped. Many of his first years were spent in this kind of exposure. He traveled in canoe and on snowshoes, as well as on horseback. He visited lumber camps and mining towns; he labored among the Indians, and was four years in the Lake Superior region. His tragic death severs another of the bonds linking the ministry of to-day with the pioneer itinerancy of Michigan.

Saint Louis German Conference.

JACOB FEISEL was born May 13, 1812, at Dodenau, Hesse Darmstadt, and died May 16, 1895, in Quincy, Ill. At thirteen years of age he lost his father, who left the mother with three children, whom she tried to bring up prayerfully. Religious instruction made deep impressions upon him, and he thought he had then experienced the renewing grace of God. He learned the trade of a cooper. In June, 1834, he came to America, and on his journey promised God to serve him faithfully if he would bring him safely to the desired land. On January 30, 1841, he married Louise Kraus. From Beardstown, Ill., he moved with his family in 1845 to Quincy, Ill., where, in November, he was thoroughly converted and joined the Church. His first field of labor was Versailles, Mo., with five appointments, to which he added five more, his circuit embracing five counties. His following appointments were: Brunswick, Florence Circuit, Saint Louis District, Missouri District, Kansas District, Wyandotte Circuit, Saint Joseph, Red Bud, Eighth Street, Saint Louis; Bloomington, Wyandotte again, Wapello, Canton, Jefferson Street, Quincy; Jacksonville, and Bushnell. He was then compelled, on account of asthma, to lay down his work. Quincy became his permanent home, but he preached at Meredosia, and later in Hannibal. He possessed an iron constitution, which made it possible for him to endure great hardships. For months he was absent from home, riding on horseback in the oppressive heat of summer or the freezing cold of winter, through prairies and forests, following often the Indian trail, suffering hunger and thirst, and sleeping in miserable huts, to preach to the pioneers the Gospel of Christ. His sermons were clear and were always founded upon the Bible. He died as he had lived, in hope of eternal life.

Northwest Indiana Conference.

JESSE HILL was born in Randolph County, N. C., September 29, 1819. His family brought him to Putnam County when a child, and settled where Greencastle is now built. He was converted at a camp meeting near Greencastle, under the preaching of Matthew Simpson, October 2, 1842. He was soon after appointed a leader, and was licensed a local preacher in September, 1844. The next year he joined the Iowa Conference, and was appointed to Iowa City Circuit, but was taken sick in 1846, and returned to Indiana. In 1848 he joined the North Indiana Conference. A few days before his death he handed his pastor a memoir he had prepared, in which was the following statement: "I have preached four years as a local preacher, forty years in the regular ministry, and six years as a supply, making fifty years in the ministry and fifty-three years a member of the Church. I have received into the Church about three thousand, baptized about one thousand, preached at six hundred funerals, and married six hundred couples." During his ministry he served the following appointments: North Salem, Vigo, Rock Creek Mission, Burlington, Frankfort, Camden, Lebanon, Darlington, North Salem, Dayton, Pine Village, Russellville, Sumption Prairie, Newtown, Clark's Hill, Whitestown, Frankfort again, Ladoga, Darlington again, Dayton again, Michigantown, Newport, Clinton, Coatsville, Sanford, Annapolis, Bellmore, Kirkland, Mechanicsburg, and Clark's Hill again. He married Miss Mary E. Barnes August 31, 1853. In 1862 he raised a company for the Seventy-second Indiana Regiment of Volunteers, and was two months captain and seven months chaplain. At his death he was chaplain of the G. A. R. post in Frankfort. He was a lover of the songs of Zion, and sang the hymns of the Church in a way that moved many to righteousness. His funeral appropriately took place on Easter Sunday.

STUART PARROTT EDMUNDSON was born in Lawrence County, Ill., February 10, 1858, and died in Danville, Ind., January 8, 1895. A Christian mother's influence was manifest in his conversion at the age of twelve, and in his early call to the ministry. He was licensed to preach at twenty. He attended the preparatory department of McKendree College one year, taught school two years, and in 1879 entered the preparatory department of Northwestern University. He graduated from the College of Liberal Arts in the class of 1885. While in the university he supplied Prophetstown, Peotone, and Dixon Street, Chicago. In 1885 he joined the Northwest Indiana Conference, and was stationed at Hammond. He served this charge three years with marked acceptability. In 1889 he was appointed to Kentland. In the middle of the year the first indication of that dread disease, consumption, led him to resign, and he went South. After some months he returned improved in health, and in 1890 he was appointed to Danville. During his first year this charge was favored with a great revival, more than one hundred being added to the Church, many of the number being among the most influential people of the community. During his four and one half years here he spent most of the severe season of spring in the South. Such was the care he took of his health that he and his friends expected his recovery, but an acute attack of pneumonia brought him to the end. As a student he had to an unusual degree a mathematical mind. He saw truth in straight lines. In character he was sincere, uncompromising, fearless, yet genial and brotherly. As a preacher his style was extemporaneous and unique, simple and direct. His thoughts were clothed in the choicest diction. On the last Sabbath before his sickness he preached a sermon of unusual strength and beauty that stirred his congregation to the depths. A few hours before his death he said, "I accept the end with gratitude because it is the Father's will. I can save men yonder as well as here."

East Ohio Conference.

James B. Hammond was born in Cambridge, N. Y., October 5, 1819. At fourteen years of age he removed with his parents to Geauga County, O. He was converted in his youth, while attending school at Farmington, O., after which he spent two years in teaching. He was licensed to preach in 1844, and was employed on Chardon Circuit. He was admitted to the Erie Conference in the same year and appointed to Villanova, N. Y. The order of his appointments after this was as follows: Wattsburg, Youngsville, Pleasantville, Sinclairsville, Perrysburg, Mayfield (which charge he served twice), Canfield, Kent, Charleston, Huntsburg, Troy, Nottingham, Saybrook, Mechanicsville, Deerfield, East Ashtabula, Montville, Mentor, and Mechanicsville again. He then took a superannuated relation. During his earlier years of superannuation he made his home in Saybrook, and then removed with his family to Cleveland, where he lived five years. He died in great peace, after five days of intense suffering, on May 12, 1895. He left a wife and three children.

R. L. Blackmar was born December 29, 1819, in Trumbull, O., and died May 21, 1895, at the home of his daughter in Buffalo, N. Y. He began to preach at nineteen, entered the Erie Conference, and was effective eight years, when declining health compelled him to take a superannuated relation, which relation he held at his death. He married Eliza Bowl September 12, 1842. His second marriage was to Miss A. J. Bundy, September 12, 1867. He was a great sufferer the most of the winter of 1894–95, but, his health improving, he with his wife was preparing to go to their home in Parkman, O., when he was taken with inflammatory rheumatism, which went to his heart and took him away. He fell like a soldier. He spoke often of his heavenly home, and had said his treasure was there. Very seldom can there be found one in proportion to his ability whose zeal, fidelity, and liberality exceeded his.

James Kaldoo Shaffer was born January 22, 1835, in Beaver County, Pa. His mother was a devoted Christian, and to her consistent life was largely due his conversion at fifteen. When about twenty he began preaching, serving for three years different charges in the Erie Conference. On September 10, 1861, he enlisted in the One Hundred and Fifth Pennsylvania, the famous "Wild Cats" Regiment. He was wounded at the battle of Gettysburg, but was not discharged till the expiration of his three years' service. He then reentered the Erie Conference, being appointed to South Valley Mission in 1866. At its organization he came into the East Ohio Conference. The Lord blessed his labors, giving him many extensive revivals and making him a helper to young ministers. On November 25, 1868, he married Miss Artemesia D. Tryon, who, with their six children, survives him. Ten years ago he was almost fatally injured in a runaway. As he slowly recovered strength he began a protracted meeting while he could not walk without crutches or stand during preaching. This meeting was wonderfully blessed of God. He told his wife, as health slowly returned, that he asked the Lord if it should be his will to spare him for ten years more of service. That was the time granted. On Saturday evening, October 27, 1894, he retired in his usual health, planning to preach the next day. On the morning of Sunday they found him at rest, with a sweet smile on his face, as though in some pleasant dream he had been called home.

W. A. Davidson was born September 3, 1823, near East Springfield, O., and died of cerebral hemorrhage at Cuyahoga Falls, February 24, 1895. His early educational privileges were meager until his seventeenth year, when he entered a Presbyterian academy in Hagarstown, O., within the limits of the old Leesburg Circuit. During August, 1843, Leesburg and Carrollton Circuits held a union camp meeting. He attended this meeting, and went forward for prayers. In a paper he left he says: "On the second night I passed from death unto life. My joy was rapturous; my shouts of praise were heard afar; my soul was happy. The next morning I joined the Church." In November, 1843, he entered Richmond College, and when his probation in the Church expired was licensed to preach by Richmond Quarterly Conference. In December he conducted a protracted meeting at Pine Grove, Somerset Circuit, where about eighty professed conversion and joined the Church. In the spring of 1845 he entered Allegheny College, where he graduated in July, 1847, joining the Pittsburg Conference a few days before he graduated. On October 13 of this year he married Margaret McGregor, of Richmond, O. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Waugh and elder by Bishop Morris. During his long ministry he served the following charges: Paris Circuit, Saint Clairsville, Woodfield, Fairview, Smithfield Street, Pittsburg; Trinity, Pittsburg; Kramer Chapel, Steubenville; Cambridge District, Liberty Street, Pittsburg; Washington District, Washington, Emory, Pittsburg; Union, Allegheny City; New Philadelphia, Salem, Superior Street, Cleveland; Cuyahoga Falls, Jefferson, Coshocton, Woodland Avenue, Cleveland; Windom, supply at First Church, Cleveland, and First Church, Akron. He was a member of the General Conference held in Philadelphia, and served for a series of years on the Board of Control of Allegheny College. He was a frequent correspondent of the New York and Pittsburg Advocates. In 1866 his home was broken up by the death of his wife. On January 7, 1875, he married Lida A. Marshall, of Pittsburg, Pa., who passed to her rest August 13, 1891. During the five years of his superannuation and the great bereavements through which he had passed he kept a sweet and genial spirit. The crowning beauty of his character was his interest in the welfare of each member of all the families he knew. He was a benediction of kindness and religious power in every home he entered. He leaves to his three sons the priceless heritage of a spotless life and an honored ministry in the Church of Christ.

Peter G. Edmonds was born near New Philadelphia, O., February 10, 1821, and died in Alliance, O., July 28, 1895. His early life was spent on a farm, and thus he developed a stalwart constitution. With his parents he attended the Moravian Church. At nineteen he went to a Methodist revival meeting with other young people, became a seeker of pardon, and was graciously converted. The same night he began his lifework, inviting and persuading his comrades to seek the Lord. The three following years he developed mind and heart, becoming a student and teacher in Hagerstown Academy. He was licensed as an exhorter and subsequently as a local preacher, and in 1846 was employed as a supply on Silver Creek Charge, N. Y. In 1847 he was received into the Pittsburg Conference. He remained a member of said Conference till 1876. At the formation of the East Ohio Conference he became a member, and so continued until death. His pastorates were as follows: Summerfield, Brownsville, New Philadelphia, Sharon, Baresville, Woodsfield, Somerton, Bellaire, Fairview, Beallsville, all in Ohio; New Florence, Mechanicsburg, and Dayton, in Pennsylvania; and Scio, Fairview, East Springfield, Marlboro, Greentown, Mechanicstown, Columbiana, and East Palestine, in Ohio. In 1888 he was superannuated on account of failing health, and took up his residence in Alliance, O. On July 5, 1849, he married Miss Nellie Long, of New Philadelphia, who survives him. Their surviving children are Edson F. Edmonds, D.D., of the Erie Conference, and Eugene P. Edmonds, D.D., of the East Ohio Conference. He was a man of strong and most estimable character. None were left to doubt his veracity, his sincerity, his integrity. This unquestioned probity gave power as adviser, peacemaker, and counselor. Much of his success sprang from this source. As a preacher he was biblical, methodical, practical, and forceful. Without expecting new discoveries in theology he believed the Gospel to be the power of God unto salvation. He was a successful revivalist. Multitudes were gathered into the Church under his ministry. As one result of a revival during his pastorate at Scio at least five young men entered the ministry. His decline was gradual till near the end. His trust at the last was complete; his farewells were full of hope.

Cincinnati Conference.

Truman Simpson Cowden was born in Gustavus, O., May 11, 1827. In his thirteenth year his parents removed to Gallipolis. Here he studied in the public schools, and at eighteen graduated from the Galion Academy. His early inclination was toward medicine; but while pursuing his medical studies, having already been thoroughly converted, an exhorter's license was unexpectedly granted him. The struggles of the young student for weeks afterward can only be understood by those who feel "Woe is unto me if I preach not the Gospel." In three months he accepted a local preacher's license, and was employed as assistant pastor on Jackson Circuit. At the session of the Ohio Conference in 1846 he was received on trial. His first appointment was to Pikcton Circuit. His ministerial life lacked less than two years of extending over half a century. In the Ohio Conference he served the following charges: Piketon, Stillwater, Asbury, Milford, Amelia. When the Cincinnati Conference was organized he became a member, and with his decease but twenty-two of the original Conference remain. In this Conference he served the following charges: Asbury, Cincinnati; Fulton (now McKendree), Cincinnati; Batavia, Georgetown, Mount Auburn and Collins Chapel, Cincinnati; Felicity, Greenfield, Waynesville, Lockland, Monroe, Troy, and Hillsboro. By special invitation he served one pastoral term, 1874–76, in Grace Church, Newport, Ky., returning to the Cincinnati Conference at the end of his term. His appointments afterward were: Eaton, Hamilton, Presiding Elder of Dayton District, Troy, Oxford, York Street, Cincinnati; and Grace, Piqua. At the close of a year's work in this last charge, being much worn in health, he asked a superannuated relation. Bishop Hamline ordained him a deacon and Bishop Janes an elder, but the Lord of harvests ordained him a preacher of righteousness and a soul winner. Hundreds were won to Christ through his labors. As a preacher he ranked well. His statements were clear and his manner earnest. He never lost sight of the fact that he was an ambassador of Christ, and that his one business was to save souls. He was studious in his habits, and when on the retired list would preach as opportunity offered, usually preparing new sermons for such occasions. He loved to preach, and delighted in searching the word of God. Only the evening before his death he expressed a desire to go to his study and ponder over the deep things of God. In 1885 he was honored by Little Rock University with the degree of Doctor of Divinity. In 1851 he married Miss Romain Rathburn, of Jackson, O. While serving the Dayton District his wife was suddenly called home, April 23, 1884. On November 29, 1886, he married Mrs. Maria E. Kinsel, of West Alexandria, O., who survives. On taking a superannuate relation he removed to Troy. He left no last word. Although in declining health for several months, no one thought the end so near, but on January 17, 1895, his spirit took its flight heavenward.

William B. Jackson was of Scotch-English ancestry, and was born in Virginia May 18, 1809. His father was a farmer, and educational privileges were few. In 1827 the family moved to Warren County, O. Though the home was one of Christian influence, and his four older brothers soon embraced religion, he was not converted till manhood. During no religious excitement he was led by the Spirit to begin the reading of the Bible and prayer. At last he was clearly and happily saved. The next year was one of remarkable blessing to his section of country. On the old Milford Circuit more than one thousand persons were received into the Church, and he was very happy in working for the salvation of his friends. In 1840 he was made class leader. Soon after he was licensed to exhort and to preach. Feeling that he needed a better education, he entered Augusta College. But at the close of the first year he was recommended to the Ohio Conference, and in 1847 was received on trial, and appointed to Georgetown Circuit as third preacher. The charges which he afterward served were as follows: Wilmington, Lewisburg, Aberdeen, Batavia, New Richmond, New Street, Cincinnati; Walnut Hills and New Street, Cincinnati; Batavia, Miami, Vienna, King's Creek and Mechanicsburg, King's Creek, North Lewisburg, Fletcher, Fairfield, Piqua Circuit, Addison, Sharonville, Port Union, Fair Haven and Sugar Valley, and New Burlington. In 1878 he took a supernumerary relation, and in 1881 was superannuated. Revivals were frequent with him, and hundreds of souls were brought into the Church. He married Elizabeth Jamieson October 10, 1854. He was of a cheerful disposition. He was a devout Christian and a consecrated minister. He was taken severely ill at his home in Urbana, O., May 15, 1895. On the evening of May 18, it being his eighty-sixth birthday, with very little premonition, he passed away so quietly that it seemed as if he had but fallen asleep, and those who stood by recalled his words of the day before, "I am at perfect peace."

Henry Stokes was born in Butler County, O., August 17, 1828, and died at Ripley, O., January 23, 1895. He was stricken with apoplexy while away from home, and never regained consciousness, but quietly passed away. He was a man of God, and for years had been in constant preparation for the final call. The completeness of his consecration none could doubt. He was admitted into the Cincinnati Conference in 1852, and for thirty-seven years was, in the best sense of the word, a faithful, loyal Methodist preacher. He served some of the most difficult appointments in the Conference. His testimony at this Conference before his death was that he had never passed a year in the active ministry without a revival. Of his faithful work eternity alone holds the record. He possessed a happy disposition, and found great delight in songs of praise and thanksgiving. At his own request in 1889 he was granted a superannuated relation. His last days were spent at Ripley, O. He was rich in heavenly treasure.

BENJAMIN GLASSCOCK was born in Culpeper County, Va., May 23, 1823. His father was of English descent; his mother's ancestors came from Germany. In 1823 the family moved to Ohio and settled upon a farm near Hillsboro. In his eleventh year he united with the Church; three years later he obtained the blessing of pardon. His early opportunities for gaining an education were not the best. He afterward entered a high school in Hillsboro. For two years he studied in the summer and taught in the winter. In 1845 he entered the Ohio Wesleyan University, and on July 14, 1849, received his diploma. The same year he joined the Ohio Conference, and was appointed to the Germantown Circuit. In 1850 he was junior preacher on Venice Circuit. In June, 1851, he married Miss Martha Kinsell, of Delaware, who, with four sons and one daughter, survives him. His appointments were: Miami Circuit, Cumminsville, Madisonville, Moscow Circuit, and Amelia Circuit. His health becoming impaired, he became superannuated in 1873, and so continued till his death. In September, 1893, he removed to Hillsboro, and in 1887 to Muncie, Ind., where his closing years were passed. In the winter of 1892 he had a severe attack of la grippe. In December, 1894, he was again seized with the same disease, and gradually declined until the end came, May 28, 1895. He had long been a devout reader of the Bible. His daily habit was to spend several hours in this pursuit. He had a strong, unquestioning faith. Death had no terrors. To those who knew him best his life had been singularly consistent. Up to a few hours before his death he remained fully conscious. Peacefully he fell asleep in Jesus. The leading trait in his character was benignity.

Norwegian and Danish Conference.

CHRISTIAN N. OMANN was born September 19, 1852, in Halsted Parish, Lolland, Denmark, and died October 3, 1894, in Waupaca, Wis. He received a good education. As a young man he immigrated to America, and found peace with God at Chicago in 1872. In 1873 he experienced that the blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth from all sin. The same year he became a colporteur of the American Tract Society, and also received license to exhort, and in 1875 became a probationer in the Wisconsin Conference. On December 11, 1875, he married Miss Josephine Petersen, of Sheboygan, Wis., who survives. During the sixteen years of his effective relation he served the following charges: Sheboygan and Manitowoc, Coon Prairie, Red Wing and Belvidere, Hillsboro Circuit, Fargo and Moorhead, Waupaca, Leland and Sec, and Cambridge Circuit. One year he traveled as an evangelist. He was one of the first stationed preachers in the Red River Valley, where, in Hillsboro, during his pastorate, the first church and parsonage were erected. Both in North Dakota and Coon Prairie Circuit his work was blessed with extensive revivals. His diary shows that he preached 2,500 sermons, received 320 persons on probation and 189 in full connection, and made 5,000 visits during his service. His health became poor, and he was compelled to take a supernumerary relation three years ago. Many will remember him with gratitude as a revival preacher and a faithful friend. The Conference has by his early demise lost a faithful coworker.

Northwest German Conference.

GEORGE STETTER was born May 8, 1819, in Memmingen, Bavaria, and died June 9, 1895, in Brush Creek, Ia. On July 2, 1845, he married Anna Mary Klaiber, who entered into rest August, 1882. In 1851 he came to America and located in Erie County, N. Y. There converted to God, he served for some time as local preacher in the Evangelical Association, and as agent of the American Tract Society. In 1866 he went to Brush Creek, Ia., where at times he preached for the United Brethren. In October, 1871, he received a local preacher's license from the Methodist Episcopal Church, and served for a while as assistant on the Clayton Charge. In 1872 he was ordained deacon by Bishop Janes, and in 1876 elder by Bishop Bowman. He served the following charges: Elkader, Manchester, Sherrill's Mount, Ridgeway, Lansing, Dubuque, Sioux City, Yellow Creek, Freeport, and Galena. At the Conference of 1894 a superannuated relation was granted him. He then moved to Brush Creek, where he lived with his daughter. There being many Germans in that section, the Elkport Mission was given him by the presiding elder, but sickness prevented further labor. On account of a stroke of paralysis he was speechless the last few days before he passed away. He was a diligent and congenial man of God. Wherever he went he made many friends. Although old, he still retained a young heart, and the young people had in him a great friend. He did much good, and his memory will remain blessed.

Pittsburg Conference.

SAMUEL M. BELL was born April 1, 1850, in Beaver County, Pa. He was reared in the fear of God, and was converted in early manhood. He taught for several years in Pennsylvania, Illinois, and Iowa, and by close study secured a good education. In 1872 he married Miss Alice Wilson, of New Brighton, Pa., who survives, with a son and daughter grown almost to manhood and womanhood. He began his ministry in Simpson Mission, Allegheny City, in 1876. His work there was greatly blessed. The common people heard him gladly, and many were saved. He afterward served West Elizabeth, Coopersdale, Sharpsburg, Indiana, Greensburg, Blairsville District, Butler, Tarentum, and Rochester. In these churches are hundreds who listened with gladness to his voice and were helped to a better life by his message. While it was yet high noon he was called from his work. Although struggling during his last years under a complication of diseases, he endured with manly courage and faith. But for his zeal, inspired by the Gospel, he must have yielded long before he did to his deep-seated maladies. In the early morning of June 19, 1895, he died at Rochester, Pa. While the light was breaking he passed up to the everlasting glory.

SIMON P. WOOLF was born near Rectortown, W. Va., September 15, 1819, and died in McKeesport, Pa., July 19, 1895. He was converted when quite young, but for the want of proper care wandered from God. He was afterward brought back to God, and in his twenty-first year united with the church at Rectortown. In 1841 he moved to Ohio, and later received license to exhort and to preach. He was received on trial in the Pittsburg Conference in 1846. He was brave to defend the right or reprove the wrong, a man of mighty faith, broad charity, and deep piety. He was a simple and forcible Gospel preacher, an honor to the ministry, and a blessing to all the charges he served. The following were his appointments: Washington, Woodsfield, Barnesville, Flushing, Washington and Cambridge, New Philadelphia, Cadiz, Deersville, Liberty Street, Pittsburg; Kramer Chapel, Steubenville; Canton, Pittsburg District, Steubenville, Alliance, Irwin, Butler Street, Pittsburg; McKeesport, Blairsville, Union Centenary, Sharpsburg; Union, Allegheny; Walton, Pittsburg; Irwin, Ligonier, Derry Station. At the Conference of 1894 he became superannuated at his own request, expecting that he and his good wife might enjoy a few years of quiet life; but in April, 1895, she was called to her reward. After her death he felt that he had but little to keep him here. When at length the silver cord was loosed his freed spirit took its flight to the home of the blessed. Truly a man of God has fallen.

Robert Hamilton was born in County Tyrone, Ireland, February 1, 1822. In 1848 he came to Pittsburg, and united with the Smithfield Street Church, being received as a local preacher from the Irish Wesleyan Methodist Society. He joined the Pittsburg Conference in 1849, and was appointed as junior preacher on Kittanning Circuit. His appointments thenceforward were: Cambria Mission, Bridgeport, New Lisbon, Birmingham, Bridgewater, Bridgeport again, Barnesville, Morristown, Sharpsburg, Tarentum, Temperanceville, Centenary, Pittsburg; Coursin Street, McKeesport; Mount Washington, Bethel, Irwin, Bridgewater again, Emory, Pittsburg; Apollo, Springdale, Janes, McKee's Rocks. When premonitory indications of failing health were observed he continued to labor with his accustomed earnestness until compelled to yield. Unfavorable symptoms set in, and on January 2, 1895, the "weary wheels of life stood still." He was unwavering in his friendships, of sterling integrity, of unblemished character, and devoted to the Church. He cultivated by extensive reading his excellent natural abilities, and was so thoroughly prepared for his appearance before an audience that he led the flock of Christ and brought many souls from darkness into light. Prior to leaving Ireland he met Miss Anne Scott, whom he afterward married. With three daughters she survives to cherish his memory.

James Sansom Bracken was born in Brush Valley township, Pa., March 4, 1833, and died in Allegheny May 15, 1895. His father was the Rev. William Bracken, a local elder. His mother was also a most devoted Christian. When about fourteen he united with the church at Black Lick, and in his seventeenth year, at a camp meeting near Armagh, received the witness of the Spirit. Shortly after he was made a class leader, and soon after was licensed to exhort. He was licensed to preach August 30, 1852, and was admitted on trial in the Pittsburg Conference in 1853. He was ordained elder by Bishop Simpson in 1857. His appointments were as follows: Blairsville Circuit, Elderton, whence a month later he was transferred to Ligonier Circuit; Kittanning, Indiana, South Common, Allegheny, New Lisbon, Bridgewater, Washington, Beaver, Barnesville District, Kramer, Steubenville, Steubenville District, Monongahela City, Emory, Pittsburg; Greensburg, Blairsville, Sewickley, and Union, Allegheny. In 1894 he took a superannuated relation. He was a delegate to the General Conference in 1872, and for two quadrenniums served as a member of the publishing committee of the Pittsburg Christian Advocate. He entered the ministry too early in life to admit of his obtaining a collegiate education. He however gave himself to diligent study, took up New Testament Greek, gave attention to Hebrew, and received the certificate of graduation in the Harper's Correspondence School. The degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon him by Scio College. His sermons were carefully prepared, chaste in expression, instructive, helpful. He gave diligent heed to all the interests of his charges, judiciously administering their affairs. In the spring of 1894 it became known that he was suffering from an epithelial cancer. All that surgical or medical skill could do was tried, but without avail. Through it all the sufferer maintained a cheerful serenity, a marvelous self-control, a patience that seemed more than human. In the midst of his sufferings he writes: "The Lord has been good to me. My brethren in the ministry have been kind. God has given me some success. I praise his holy name for this. I hope in his mercy." He was twice married. His wife and three daughters, who cared for him through his long suffering, are left to mourn.

William Alexander Stuart was born in Chambersburg, Pa., June 16, 1831, and died at Ligonier, Pa., December 5, 1894. When about fifteen he was converted and united with the Church. He was licensed to preach about 1851, and that year served as junior preacher on the Blairsville Circuit. He was admitted on trial in the Pittsburg Conference in 1852, and continued effective until called to his reward. His subsequent appointments were: Murraysville Charge, Somerset and Stony Creek Mission, Redstone, Bridgeport, Greenfield, Mount Pleasant and West Newton, Burrell and Apollo, Ligonier, West Newton, New Florence, Somerset, Brownsville, Beallsville, New Derry, Homer and Blacklick, Derry Station, Ligonier again. His ministerial life of forty-three years was spent within a small portion of the Conference. He served the same people twice in several instances. In 1856 he married Miss Margaret C. Johnson. He was a man of strong good sense and great earnestness, though gentle and quiet. He spent much time in reading the Bible and in secret prayer. In public his prayers were full of fervor and of singular power. His preaching was clear, logical, strong, and eminently scriptural. In his early life he professed the blessing of perfect love, and manifestly lived in the enjoyment and practice of it. He was an example of extreme devotion without fanaticism. The Lord honored him with many conversions. He was wholly given to God and to the work of the ministry. Though always delicate-looking, he served the Church forty-four years without interruption, and during thirty-five years missed but one appointment through ill health. His death was sudden. He attended his prayer meeting in usual health. In closing he referred to the earnest prayers offered for a revival, and said, "I leave with you this motto, 'Not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord.'" Half an hour later he was seized with a hemorrhage, and within ten minutes he was gone to be with God.

Rufus Hofelt was born in Somerset, Pa., January 16, 1855, and died at Christy Park, Allegheny County, September 30, 1894. His father and mother were devout Christians, and were members of the Lutheran Church. While he was a boy they moved to Westmoreland County, near Stahlstown. Here he was converted in February, 1875. Soon after he attended Mount Union College. In 1881 he supplied Springfield Circuit. In 1882 he was admitted to the Pittsburg Conference. During his ministry he served the following charges: Springfield, Dawson, Rostraver, Elrod and Beulah Park. At the Conference of 1894 he was appointed to Saint Paul, Pittsburg. On Tuesday night, after Conference adjourned, he was taken suddenly ill with pleurisy. On Friday morning pneumonia set in. On Sabbath morning, near the hour when he should have preached his first sermon in his new charge, he joined the congregation of the saints above. He was a good preacher, clear in outline, strong in thought, earnest in delivery, and strikingly original in illustration. He left a wife and three little boys.

James Fletcher Jones was born in Sewellsville, O., September 2, 1836. His parents were devout Christians, and gave careful attention to the religious training of their children. During his boyhood he attended the schools of the neighborhood, and later the academy at Barnesville, O. In his fourteenth year he was converted and united with the Church. From the beginning of his religious life he was desirous of becoming a minister. In 1859 he joined the Pittsburg Conference and received his appointment to Bearsville Circuit, O. His subsequent appointments were: Washington Circuit, Canonsburg, Chartiers Circuit, Bellaire, Fayette City and Belle Vernon, Pennsylvania Avenue, Pittsburg; New Lisbon, Greensburg, Latrobe, Connellsville, Kittanning, Indiana, Washington, Washington District, Braddock, and Butler. Upon the breaking out of the war he joined the Christian Commission, and at the front he aided in caring for the sick and wounded soldiers. In 1864 he married Mrs. Fannie M. Haft, who died in 1884. In 1886 he married Miss Jennie Bleakney, of Kittanning, who survives. He was an able minister of the Gospel. He possessed natural ability above the ordinary and cultivated his powers with diligence. His sermons were carefully prepared, and delivered with a quiet earnestness that deeply impressed those who heard him. In 1889 he received from Allegheny College the degree of Doctor of Divinity. He was sunny in his disposition, kindly spirited, devoid of censoriousness, and universally beloved. Everywhere and always he was the dignified, courteous Christian gentleman. Shortly after his appointment to Braddock he began to fail in health, and the following year was transferred to Butler, his friends hoping that the change would be advantageous. As the year wore away it was evident that his health was permanently broken. On September 2, 1894, he stood for the last time in the pulpit. It was the anniversary of his birth. He preached with almost his wonted force. In a few days it was evident that the end was near. With composure he went forward into the deep valley. Though wishing to live, he was ready to die. Forever precious will be the memory of these closing days. With words of richest counsel he mingled those of hope and triumph. Almost his last utterance was the language of the great apostle, "For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain." On Thursday, September 27, 1894, he fell asleep.

Nelson Davis was born in Butler, Pa., February 28, 1846, and died in McKeesport, Pa., September 9, 1895. He was converted when nine years old. In his nineteenth year he began to prepare for his lifework. For four years he taught and attended school. In 1870 he was admitted on trial in the Pittsburg Conference. He married Miss Margaret McEwen September 13, 1871. He served the following appointments: Leechburg, Plumville, Knox, Brownsdale, Circleville, Marchand, Mechanicsburg, Morrellville, Waynesburg, West Elizabeth, Wellsburg, and McKeesport. Wherever he toiled he reaped as well as sowed. He secured the esteem of men. Earnest, studious, consecrated, gentle, clear in judgment, and true in friendship, many shall arise and call him blessed. For some years his health had been failing. His work at Waynesburg, West Elizabeth, Wellsburg, and McKeesport was prosecuted under such pain and weariness as come not often to men, yet his zeal knew no abatement. The great revival held in his church in the winter of 1894 sorely taxed his enfeebled body, but he labored on through the long summer months without stopping. The fever touched him, and the unresting worker now rests. On the last morning of his life he said, "I would like to live for my family and the Church, but if God will it otherwise it is all right." He also said, "Tell the preachers, when you see them, if I have injured any of them, to forgive me." Well will it be when we lie down for our last sleep if we are as free from blame as was he.

Samuel Wakefield was born in Huntingdon County, Pa., March 6, 1799, and died September 13, 1895. When he was one year old his father moved to Westmoreland County, and later he went further west and made a home in the wilderness. Though then but seven years of age, Samuel continued to assist until seventy acres were under cultivation. He now resolved to secure an education, and after his day's toil studied by night. His school life was limited to seven months. On June 11, 1819, he attended with his father a quarterly meeting at a point where New Florence is now located. In response to an invitation he went to the mourners' bench and was converted. After the lapse of more than seventy years the memory of that hour was sweeter than the music of old songs, and with kindling countenance he said, "My conversion was as clear as a sunbeam. I never doubted for a moment the genuineness of that work." In August following, when only about two months of his probation had expired, he was presented with a license to exhort. On March 21, 1820, he was licensed as a local preacher. About this time he taught in Mount Pleasant. So ardent was his desire for knowledge that he began the study of Greek and Latin. At a later date he added the study of medicine, and was prepared to enter a medical college when he joined the Pittsburg Conference in 1834. In 1839 he was appointed Presiding Elder of the Uniontown District. Five years later he was a delegate to the General Conference of 1844. In 1848 he was the pastor of the Liberty Street congregation. He was a delegate to the General Conference of 1852. Allegheny College honored him in 1854 with the degree of D.D. Two years later he was a member of the General Conference in Indianapolis. After he had passed beyond fourscore and ten Allegheny College added the LL.D. to the degree previously given him. Not content with using his voice, he sought to do good by his pen as well. Previous to his admission to the Conference he published An Essay on Justifying Faith. He was the author of a number of music books, including one prepared at the request of the Western Book Agents, and one for the German work. Years were spent in the preparation of an English grammar, which showed marked originality and possessed decided merit. His most enduring monument is his Wakefield's Theology. He was widely known as a singer. He and his bosom friend, James G. Sansom, notwithstanding their pulpit power, often did as much to draw men to Christ by their songs as by their exposition of Scripture. On August 21, 1821, he married Miss Elizabeth Hough, who, after more than seventy years of faithful duty as wife and mother, departed September 29, 1894. We had hoped that he would be spared to round out a hundred years, but after her departure the heavenward attraction became too strong, and he bade us adieu to rejoin her on the other shore. The Pittsburg Conference has had on its roll the names of many pulpit orators and able defenders of the faith, but among the brightest of these names in years yet to come will shine that of Dr. Samuel Wakefield.

Michigan Conference.

Samuel D. McKee was born in Erin, Ontario, Canada, September 7, 1847. When eight years old his family moved to Allegan County, Mich. He was converted at Trowbridge in his seventeenth year. He began the study of medicine, but before completing his course felt a call to the ministry. While hesitating to obey he was so powerfully wrought upon at a camp meeting in Watson that he surrendered his ambitions and gave himself in complete consecration to the ministry. He joined the Michigan Conference in 1878. Although a member for sixteen years, he never moved but once before reaching the time limit. His appointments were: Leroy, Bunfield, Climax, Martin, Allegan, and Climax. At the session of 1894 he was taken sick, but recovered sufficiently to remove to his charge, where he preached only four times before he was called to his reward. He died November 17, 1894, of a form of apoplexy. He married Miss Josephine I. Hicks in 1870. He was emphatically a good man. His sense of honor was very high. He could not have done a small or mean thing. He had a large heart of sympathy. The suffering and the poor always found a friend in him. He won many souls for his Master. He was at times a very impressive preacher. He suffered much in his last illness, but was very patient. A heavy sleep crept over him before he died, but previous to this he seemed to apprehend the approach of death, and met it without fear.

Indiana Conference.

NATHANIEL F. TOWER was born in Indiana, February 10, 1821, and died October 7, 1894. He married Rachel Stevens April 7, 1850. He began his ministry in 1845 on the Boonville Circuit, and was admitted to the Indiana Conference in 1846. His appointments were: Princeton, Milroy, Cynthiana, Butler Mission, Orangeburg, Quincy, Smyrna and Delaware Circuits, in Indiana. He was at one time transferred to Kentucky Conference, and served on Green River District. He was stationed at Covington in 1855, and afterward at Ludlow and Brooklyn. At the latter place, now Dayton, he built the church which bears his name. He superannuated in 1863, after which he formed what became Otter Creek and McCoy's societies, labored at Oak Forest, and formed a class at Cupps Chapel, from which came the church edifice there. By an attack of grippe he was rendered almost helpless for over a year and up till his last sickness. He triumphantly closed a life which had been abundant in labors. His faith was always strong. The word was ever on his lips. He has gone up higher.

GEORGE REID was born in Derry Creavy, County Tyrone, Ireland, November 14, 1857, and died in New Lebanon, Ind., March 23, 1895. His early life was spent on the farm, and his educational advantages were very limited, yet, by taking advantage of night schools, private instruction, and other opportunities, he fitted himself for the ministry. The exact date of his conversion is unknown, but his religious experience was very definite. He married Miss Charlotte Bates April 17, 1884, and at once set sail for America, arriving May 9, 1884. In the following August he was admitted into the Indiana Conference. His first charge was Newtonville, after which he successively served the following charges: Cannelton, Rockport Circuit, Mitchell, Brooklyn, West Indianapolis, Spencer, and New Lebanon. He was stricken with pneumonia March 13, 1895, and, after ten days of intense suffering, passed to his reward. As a preacher he was very methodical in his preparation, and earnest in his presentation of the truth. As a pastor he was faithful in looking after all the interests of the Church. During his six months' service in New Lebanon he greatly endeared himself to the people by his sweet spirit and forcible sermons. His brother, Samuel Reid, is a member of the Conference.

Des Moines Conference.

ELLIOTT HOLROYD SWEET was born in Sprague-ville, Ia., February 28, 1866. He was converted in his fourteenth year and united with the church in Preston, Ia. He was licensed to exhort in 1886 and to preach in August of the same year. He graduated from the Upper Iowa University in 1887. After supplying Clinton Circuit one year he spent three years in the School of Theology in Boston, where he was graduated in 1891. He was admitted on trial in the Des Moines Conference September 19, 1891, and was appointed to Russell, where he remained two years, building a nice church and commodious parsonage, and otherwise advancing the work. In 1893 he was appointed to Allerton. Here he prosecuted his work with zeal until the following spring, when his failing health obliged him to retire. Taking his wife and little son, he spent the summer in Colorado Springs and Denver, hoping to get relief. In the spring of 1895 he went to the Pacific coast, where, on July 6, he heard the Master's voice saying, "It is enough. Come up higher." It seems peculiarly sad that one so young, talented, and successful should be called thus early in life. But he wrought with a disciplined skill, and he wrought rapidly, as though premonished by his Lord. His sunny manner and his faithfulness have left behind him many a pleasing memory.

MICHAEL H. MARTIN was born in Knox County, O., March 12, 1821. He was converted and joined the Church in Granville, O., in 1840. He was licensed to exhort in 1852, and to preach in 1854, in Mount Vernon, O. He filled various positions of trust in the Church. He was a machinist by trade. He married, May 27, 1841, in Granville, O., Miss Mary McNama, who survives. He joined the Western Iowa (now Des Moines) Conference at its first session, in 1860. At the same time he was ordained deacon by Bishop Janes. He was ordained elder in 1864 by the same bishop. He spent fifteen years in the active itinerancy, serving as follows: Hartford Circuit, Newbern, Adel, Garden Grove, New York, Corydon, Woodburn, Derby, Woodburn again. In 1875–76 he held a supernumerary relation. In 1877, at his own request, he was granted a superannuate relation, in which relation he continued till his death. He died near Lockwood, Mo., after a lingering illness, November 13, 1894. His health had been declining for almost a year, but he bore his sufferings with patience, and in his last hours gave precious testimony that all was bright before him.

JOHN MCLEAN CONRAD was born in Newburg, N. Y., January 8, 1826. After a brief illness he died in Nevinsville, Ia., April 17, 1895. His conversion took place in Decatur City, Ia., in 1856. The same year he joined the Church, and was later licensed as an exhorter. He was licensed to preach at Pleasanton, Ia., the same year, and was admitted on trial in the Iowa Conference in 1858. He was admitted into full connection in the Western Iowa (now Des Moines) Conference at its first session, in 1860, and was ordained deacon by Bishop Janes. He was ordained elder in 1863 by Bishop Baker. He was an earnest preacher, presenting truth carefully wrought out, well matured, and worthy of his hearers. He served the following appointments: Lawrenceburg Circuit, Panona, Magnolia, Quincy and Simpson, Newbern, Osceola, Garden Grove, Chariton District, Murray, College Springs, Shenandoah, Malvern, Union Grove, Farmer City, Cambridge, Cromwell, Nevinville, and Greenfield for a half year as supernumerary. At his request he was made superannuated in 1888, and spent his closing years in a little home in Nevin. He married Miss Martha M. Baker July 4, 1855, in Brookville, Ind. For a time he was a student in Indiana Asbury (now De Pauw) University, but left school for the Mexican war, where he served a year. He was also chaplain of the Twenty-ninth Iowa Infantry for seven months. During the more active years of his ministry he was one of the few who not only serve their people well but in the sessions of the Conference bear its most arduous tasks.

ICHABOD TAYLOR MILLER was born in Urbana, O., January 26, 1831. He was converted at a camp meeting in Illinois, and joined the Church in his seventeenth year. Besides a common school training he attended college in Bloomington and Jacksonville, Ill. In March, 1856, he married Miss Sue R. Randolph, of Lincoln, Ill., who soon died. In March, 1859, he was licensed an exhorter, and in May following a local preacher. In September, 1859, he joined the Illinois Conference. His appointments were: Randolph Grove, Mahomet, and Old Town. At President Lincoln's second call, in 1862, with his presiding elder and the boys in blue of McLean County, he went to the front. He was promoted to the chaplaincy of his regiment (Ninety-fourth Illinois Infantry) in 1863, and in camp, field, and hospital organized army churches, working with the sanitary and Christian commissions, sharing hardships and spending his captain's pay in relieving distresses. He married Miss Lizzie M. Henderson, of Saybrook, Ill., September 9, 1864. Returning to the pastorate, he served Indianola, Old Town, and Tolona, and located in 1867. Removing to Iowa, he was readmitted in Des Moines Conference in 1869. He again located in 1870. Readmitted in 1872, he filled the following appointments: Cambridge, Altoona, Ames, Ogden, College Springs, superintendent of United States Industrial Indian Mission, Fort Peck, Montana. For ten years, being in impaired health, he held a supernumerary relation, preaching as strength and opportunity permitted in southern Kansas and in Tacoma, Wash. In 1894 he assumed the pastorate of Fowler Church, Tacoma. He went with friends to spend his vacation at the grand old mountain. From that mount of vision he looked over into the promised land, and came down to be carried thither by angels. From his library, among his books, with Conference blanks upon his desk, within a fortnight of the meeting of the Puget Sound Conference, he was transferred to the Church triumphant August 21, 1895, aged sixty-four years. He lived well, and he died, as the faithful do, in unspeakable peace. His last utterance was a pæan of victory, "Bless the Lord, O my soul!"

North Ohio Conference.

Benjamin F. Bell was born in Virginia, April 26, 1826, and died in Spencer, O., June 25, 1895. Through his mother's instructions he was led at twelve to give his heart to God and unite with the Church. He was licensed to preach in 1859, and admitted to the North Ohio Conference in 1868. He served the following charges: Roscoe, East Union, Fredericktown, South Woodbury, Caledonia, Delaware and Eden, Crestline, Loudonville, Canal Fulton, Apple Creek, Monroeville, Sycamore, Galena, Ontario, Mohawk Village, Blake's Mills, Spencer. He married in 1851 Lucinda R. McMorris, who died in 1878. His second wife was Mrs. Emily A. Higbie. He was a man of sincerity and unwavering loyalty. His faith in the Gospel was abiding. He proclaimed it boldly. God was to him a living personality, an abiding presence, a changeless friend. On all the charges he served there are those who mourn him as a spiritual father. He was successful also in building up the spiritual life of the Church. Bearing a modest and constant testimony to the experience of perfect love, he was permitted to see many enter into the enjoyment of this blessed experience. An attack of la grippe in February, 1894, greatly prostrated him. Being somewhat improved by Conference, he felt he could not lay down his work. He was delighted with his appointment. One meeting was held, and then it became evident his work was done. His sufferings at times were intense, but his faith failed not. On the Monday before his death he said, "My light is going out." On Tuesday, just before the midnight hour, his light went out on earth to shine forever in heaven. He was buried near Dresden, O., by the side of kindred dust, in ground already made sacred to the Conference by the graves of two other honored members.

George W. Walker died in Danville, O., September 1, 1895. He was born in Bradford County, Pa., February 8, 1842. On August 10, 1861, he enlisted in the Fiftieth Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, and served faithfully till discharged on account of ill health. Receiving a good education in the schools of his native place and in Starkey University, in the State of New York, he taught for several years in Pennsylvania and Missouri, until he was licensed as a local preacher February, 1867, and sent to Greencastle Circuit as a supply. The following spring he was received into the Missouri Conference. After six years' successful work in that Conference he removed to the North Ohio Conference, where for six months he served the Newcomerstown Charge as a supply. In the fall of that same year, 1874, he became a member of the Conference, and was appointed to the Darlington Charge. His next appointments were: Bellville, Savannah, and Jeromeville. On account of failing health he then took a supernumerary relation, which continued five years. He was then appointed to the Danville Charge, which he served for the full pastoral term of five years. The last two years he sustained a superannuated relation, and resided in Danville. He married Miss Mary Laport, of Tuscarawas County, O., November 17, 1868, who survives. His cheerful, social disposition made him generally popular. At Danville, where he had resided for seven years, in a circle of many miles' radius he was very highly esteemed. He possessed in a high degree the faculty of harmonizing discordant elements. He had many warm friends among people of other denominations, including Roman Catholics. His great tact and genial spirit often gave him surprising success in raising money for church enterprises. He took God at his word, and his religious life kept an even tenor. His end was peace. Conscious to the very last, his closing hours were filled with expressions of joy and triumph.

Nathan H. Barker was born in Caledonia County, Vt., May 16, 1814, and died September 3, 1895, in Loudonville, O. He came to Wayne County, O., in 1836, and married Miss Roxana Rice the same year. His wife and one daughter remain to mourn his departure. He was converted and joined the Church in the fall of 1837; licensed to preach June, 1838; joined the North Ohio Conference in 1840, and was appointed to the Mansfield Circuit. He afterward filled the following appointments: Roscoe, East Union, a circuit of twenty-eight appointments and one hundred and seventy-five miles' drive; Chesterville, as a colleague of the now sainted Bishop Harris; Kenton Station, agent of the Mansfield College, New London Station, Mount Vernon, Shelby, Clyde, Fredericktown, Orange, Congress, Wadsworth, Ontario, West Salem, Loudonville, and Rowsburg. For fifty-five years as a member of Conference he never missed roll call but at one session. Though very feeble and altogether blind for some time before his death, he was never heard to utter a word of complaint. He was a man of no ordinary talents and graces. He was of extraordinary memory, of quick and clear perceptions, logical in argument, powerful in utterance, and a strong preacher. He was an extensive reader and a close student.

North Carolina Conference.

Thomas S. Stitt entered Bennett College in 1882. He was an uncouth country lad, who felt he must preach the unsearchable riches of Christ. After graduation he attended Gammon Theological Seminary, where he illustrated a persistent, energetic, Christlike character. He joined the North Carolina Conference in 1889, and served three charges there. The many glad souls at Rowland who embraced religion and were built up in holiness under his ministrations will never forget him. At Oxford he set many helpful movements on foot. In 1894 he was appointed to Lexington, where, in November, he heard the call to depart, and went to the city of rest. He was a student of the doctrines of the Church and of the word of God.

California Conference.

Benjamin Franklin Crary was born December 12, 1821, in Jennings County, Ind. He was educated at Pleasant Hill Academy, Ohio. After practicing law for a few years he joined the Indiana Conference. He was elected president of Hamline University in 1857. In 1861 he was made State Superintendent of Public Instruction of Minnesota. He enlisted in the Minnesota Third Regiment, and was commissioned chaplain in 1862. He was elected editor of the Central Christian Advocate in 1864. In 1880 he was elected editor of the California Christian Advocate, which position he held until his death, March 16, 1895. Seven times he was a member of the General Conference. In the prime of his manhood he was vigorous, with a military mien, full of humor, bubbling over with life, an eloquent, forcible preacher, and popular on all public occasions. When he came to San Francisco and united with the California Conference he was like a giant oak which had been shattered by the storms. His sight was dim, his hearing gone, and his step feeble, yet the hero within was young and strong, holding on to the duties of his office with a giant grip. He was a many-sided man, but efficient and true wherever tried. As a preacher he was fearless, pungent, and powerful. As a writer he was always spicy and witty. He used ridicule for argument with an antagonist as the most successful method of exposing error. Methodism has produced few men with such power of ridicule. His sentences were short, sharp, explosive, and full of red-hot satire. He was at last laid aside by paralysis, but it took the giant oak years to die. He will have many stars in the world of light.

Thomas C. George was born in Mansfield, O., in 1840. At the age of twelve his parents removed to Iowa. Having an intense thirst for knowledge, he entered the Iowa Wesleyan University in 1861. Soon after he enlisted. Having served his time as lieutenant in the Forty-fifth Iowa Infantry, he returned to school and graduated in 1867. He was successively professor of mathematics in the Upper Iowa University, and of mathematics and astronomy in his alma mater. He was chosen principal of the Napa Collegiate Institute in 1870, serving in this position four years, and the two following years were spent as pastor at Gilroy. He began his ministerial career in the Iowa Conference in 1869, and was transferred to the California Conference in 1870. In 1876 came the call to again enter educational work, and after prayerful deliberation he was at last persuaded that it was a call of God, and entered the University of the Pacific in August, 1876, as professor of natural science. For twelve years he filled this chair with ever-growing usefulness. In 1888, the chair being divided, he was assigned to that of astronomy and physics. At the same time he was granted leave of absence for one year, and traveled through Europe, and in the Holy Land and Egypt. In 1891 he resigned his position to resume his loved employ of preaching the Gospel. In September of that year he was stationed at Sixth Street, Sacramento, which he served most successfully till 1894, when ill health compelled his resignation. Soon after resigning he went to San Diego, where he remained four months. On Easter Sunday of 1894 to all human appearances he was dying, but in answer to the prayers of the Church he came back for just one year, and on the following Easter went again down into the valley and entered the shadowless land. He was naturally well endowed, and was developed by study, travel, and holy living. Pleasing in address, charitable in opinion, thorough in scholarship, painstaking in labor, he won his way to the hearts of his associates. His students rise up to call him blessed. His fellow-laborers in the educational field felt that not only a scholar sat in his chair, but a refined Christian gentleman. He was given the title of Doctor of Divinity by his alma mater in 1893. As a preacher he took a high rank. His sermons were delivered with unction and were accompanied by good results. As a pastor he was especially adapted to reach the heart. One sick lad said, "When I am dying won't you hold my hand?" His presence inspired confidence which drove away fear. Death had for him no terrors. Though he greatly desired to live, it was for his family, and to be of use to the cause of the Master. He bore his weary suffering with Christian patience, and triumphed over his last foe through faith in Him whom he so eloquently preached to others.

Edward A. Hazen was born in New York in 1824. He was converted when a lad and united with the Church. Feeling called to the ministry, he sought to obtain a liberal education, and entered the Indiana Asbury University, remaining two or three years in the institution. He united with the North Indiana Conference in 1848. In 1852 he was transferred to the Oregon and California Mission Conference. At the first session of the California Conference, in 1853, he was stationed in Napa, his field embracing the town and country adjacent thereto. His following fields of labor were: Sonora, Grass Valley, North San Juan, Fairfield, Bloomfield, Point Arena, Yolo, and Kentucky Street Church, in San Francisco. He also filled several other charges that are not here named. From May, 1868, to September, 1871, he served as Presiding Elder of the Marysville District. He was a practical, faithful, and devoted minister, laboring up to the full measure of his ability. Revivals and conversions were the fruits of his labors on most, if not on all, his charges. About fifteen years ago he felt the touch of paralysis. As the years passed he was fully conscious that his course must soon be finished. Ten years ago he was granted a superannuation, but he continued to labor according to his strength. Some three years ago, he made a visit to the East, and during that interval of rest published a small volume on the higher life. He had for many years realized that the Gospel of Christ was able to save to the uttermost. His life was in harmony with his teaching; he walked worthy of his vocation. Returning from the East a year ago, he quietly waited for the Master's summons. He was temporarily stopping in Oakland, when, on March 25, 1895, the goal was gained and the victor crowned. Whether the call of the Master was heard in the evening, at midnight, or at the dawn only God and the angels know, for he was alone when the summons came. A bereaved wife and two sons are left to mourn.

Angelo Canoll was born in Albany, N. Y., July 8, 1832, and died in Chico, Cal., March 22, 1895. His educational opportunities were limited, but were diligently improved. Once he determined to study law. Coming early to an experimental knowledge of Christianity, he soon felt it his duty to preach. When afterward urged to continue his law studies his invariable and emphatic reply was, "I must preach." At sixteen he joined the Church, and a year later was licensed to preach, and took work as a supply. He joined the Troy Conference in 1852. His active ministry continued about forty-four years, he having occupied some of the leading appointments of the chief cities of five Conferences: West Troy, Waterford, and Albany, of the Troy Conference; Worcester, Barton, and Lynn, of the New England Conference; Taunton, Newport, Provincetown, Nashua, of the New Hampshire Conference; Phœnix, Nantasket, New Bedford, and Nantucket, of the New England Southern Conference; and San Francisco, Stockton, Oroville, and Chico, of the California Conference. On many of these charges he had hopeful revivals, and was eminently successful. At the Conference of 1893 he contracted la grippe, from which he never fully recovered. During his last winter he took a severe cold, which culminated in quick consumption. The end came unexpectedly but peacefully, his last words being a hasty, tender "good-bye" to the lone, faithful, heartbroken watcher by his side. He married Miss Sarah Elizabeth Wood, of West Troy, N. Y., November 28, 1860, who survives him. He was preeminently a pulpit orator, having, long before he attained his majority, come, throughout his Conference, to be esteemed a prodigy of pulpit ability; and ever thereafter in his various fields he was uniformly considered a preacher of unique, versatile, and unequaled gifts. He had the instincts of the poet as well as the temperament of the orator. A sweet singer, he was a composer of hymns and tunes of rare merit. He was a man of unique mind, and as humble and artless as a child. He shrank from notoriety and courted retirement. His loyalty to God was like that of Job, which led him to say, "Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him." His last text was a beautiful motto for a life governed by the convictions of a ministerial call: "Thy vows are upon me, O God" (Psalm lvi, 12). After his discourse was over and the congregation dismissed he lingered in the pulpit, resting his head upon his hands, his frame shaking with emotion. His wife, knowing his physical weakness, went to assist him, whereupon he turned and said, "When I come down out of this pulpit I shall not return."

Blue Ridge Conference.

THOMAS W. MATNEY was born in Wilkes County, N. C., in 1830, and died in Montezuma, N. C., December 23, 1894. He professed faith in Christ in 1850. When he was twenty-eight he was licensed to preach. In 1865 he was ordained deacon by Bishop Pierce in the South Carolina Conference, and in 1870 elder by Bishop Janes in the North Carolina Conference. Within the Blue Ridge Conference he traveled the following circuits: Ashe and Watauga, New River, Surry and North Wilkes, Taylorsville, Caldwell and Burke, Catawba, Bakersville, Jefferson, Leicester, and Asheville. On account of poor health he became a superannuate in 1893. In 1892 he was a delegate to the General Conference. Eight hundred were converted under his ministry and one thousand added to the Church. He was an eloquent and forcible speaker, and was greatly beloved by the people. During his last illness he rejoiced and exhorted much, and he said, "I have been trying to anticipate the pleasure of meeting with dear ones when I enter the gates of the city." The grace that supported in life gave him victory in death.

Ohio Conference.

ESKRIDGE HALL DIXON was born in Athens County, O., November 16, 1822. At thirteen he went to Washington Court House, and later spent several years in Frankfort, O., working at the saddler's trade. He was a reader, hungry for good books, and became familiar with the masterpieces of classic literature. He married in 1849 Miss S. E. Sypherd. In 1852 he was admitted to the Ohio Conference on trial, and given third place on Washington Circuit and Jeffersonville Mission. His work continued without interruption until 1890, when he took a superannuate relation. He traveled Waverly, Rockville, Piketon, Deer Creek, and Bainbridge Circuits. In 1862 he was appointed to Washington Court House; afterward to New Holland, Mount Sterling, and Kingston. In 1872 he was made Presiding Elder on Marietta District, and then sent to Seventh Street, Zanesville; Bowling Green, Hebron, Tarlton, Staunton, Grove City, and Milford Center. Upon retirement he purchased a cottage in Washington Court House. The friends of his early life, of a successful pastorate, and of his later years were there. He was made financial secretary of the official board, and thus became in reality an assistant pastor. He was a man of great kindness of heart. The children were always his fast friends. He was sought by men and women in time of trouble as a comforter. His active imagination and quick emotion made his preaching acceptable to the heart. He drew a host of friends about him everywhere, and seldom lost a friend. He died at his home January 4, 1895. His wife, children, and pastor were with him; he asked for the administration of the Lord's Supper, and quietly breathed his last.

JOHN QUINCY GIBSON was born near Marietta, O., March 4, 1821. He was stricken with paralysis October 9, 1893, and died at his home near Wetmore, O., February 7, 1895. He married Julia A. Millar June 15, 1848. He entered the ministry in 1853 and continued in the service about eleven years. His appointments were: Rockville, Hanging Rock, Burlington, and Jackson. Here he left his pulpit during the war for the Union and joined the Second Ohio Heavy Artillery as first lieutenant. He was mustered in in 1863, was promoted to the chaplaincy of his regiment, and served in that capacity until the close of the war. He again entered the Ohio Conference, and was sent to Hanging Rock. By reason of throat disease he was compelled to resign his work. The same fall, 1865, he settled at Portsmouth, O., remaining there until his removal to Wetmore in 1884, where he lived till called to his eternal home.

Central Ohio Conference.

RICHARD LAWRENCE was born in Lincolnshire, England, January 17, 1826, and died April 28, 1895. He came to this country with his parents in 1835, and settled in Marion County, O., where he grew to manhood. He was converted and united with the Church when eighteen. He graduated from the Ohio Wesleyan University with honors in 1854. At the next session of the then North Ohio Conference he was received on trial. Afterward the Conference was divided, putting him in the Central Ohio. He served the following charges with great acceptability: Marseilles, Fort Seneca, Caledonia, Wapakoneta, Little Sandusky, Richmond, and Roundhead. Here his throat gave out, and he was obliged to retire. Early in life he married Miss Sarah Wilson, who died September 17, 1856. On August 26, 1858, he married Miss Rebecca Hiett, who died some years later. On April 25, 1865, he was united to his now bereaved wife, Miss Ann Nagle. In 1878 he moved to a farm near Kenton, O., where he lived until his last two years, which were spent in Ada, O. He was taken sick the last of March, 1895, with pneumonia, and in less than thirty days passed to his reward. He was one of God's noblemen, pure in thought and life, and lovable in his disposition. During his sickness he was patient and tender; with almost every breath there came forth either prayer or praise. He was a beautiful reader of the Holy Scriptures and hymns; his voice was musical and sweet. His was the path of "the just, which shineth more and more unto the perfect day." During his sickness he would recite beautiful verses of Scripture. The last quotation he made was this, "Speak, Lord, for thy servant heareth." Thus, on Sunday morning, April 28, his spirit went home to God.

WILLIAM DUNLAP was born in Sidney, O., July 13, 1831. His parents were Presbyterians from Scotland, and his home instruction and discipline laid the foundation for the piety which characterized his later years. He was converted at a protracted meeting in Port Jefferson when he was thirty-nine, and almost immediately began to preach. Three years later, in 1873, he was received on trial in the Central Ohio Conference. His appointments were: Fort Recovery, Versailles, Dover, Mount Victory, Marseilles, Bettsville, Middlepoint, Elida, McComb, Rockford, and Ohio City. While at Mount Victory a church was built. In several places he had good revivals, and many cherish his memory as the man who brought them to Christ. He took a supernumerary relation in 1891. The next year he was made effective, and preached at Ohio City. In 1893 he was made a superannuate. His residence in Van Wert was a constant benediction to the local church.

During his last year he was a great sufferer, and for months lingered in extreme feebleness. But his faith and cheerfulness never failed him. His sick chamber was the vestibule of heaven. His constant ejaculations were, "Praise the Lord!" "It is all well, all well!" "The Lord is good; blessed be his name!" He died January 31, 1895.

Joseph Good was born in Maryland August 13, 1816, and died in Fostoria, O., February 24, 1895. In his early life he resided in Delaware, O., where he was powerfully converted. For several years he served as a local preacher. At the Conference of 1856 he entered the traveling connection, and was ordained a local deacon by Bishop Waugh. Four years after he was ordained elder by Bishop Janes. He served the following charges: Richwood, Patterson, Adrian, Bowling Green, McComb, Arcadia, Benton, Newton, Arcadia again, Vanlue, New Baltimore, Arcadia again, and Gibsonburg. He then took a supernumerary relation for a year, after which he was made effective, and traveled North Findlay Circuit two years. He then took a superannuate relation and kept it to the end. While he never had the advantages of scholastic training other than those of the common schools, he had peculiar ability, and at times his speech was sublimely eloquent. Hundreds of souls will rise up and call him blessed. On November 12, 1835, he married Miss Harriet A. Taylor. For several months before his death he was feeble in mind and body. The last three months he was compelled to keep his bed, and when death came he peacefully fell asleep.

Benjamin Herbert was born in Breconshire, South Wales, December 22, 1817, and died near Richwood, June 28, 1895. His parents immigrated when he was but six months old, and settled in Delaware County. His early years were spent on the farm. In 1841 he was converted. He studied in the academy at White Sulphur Springs, which four years later was chartered as the Ohio Wesleyan University. In 1845 he married Miss Sarah Woods, of Delaware. The same year he was licensed to preach and sent to supply Richwood Circuit. In 1847 he was received into the Conference and sent to Clinton Mission, a frontier settlement in Northwestern Ohio. Thus began the noble life of a pioneer, who wrought amid incredible hardships to win the wilderness for Christ and to lay the foundations of good society government and morals for those yet unborn. He was an instructive expounder of the word, argumentative in method, appealing to the judgment and conscience. His sermons were delivered with much unction. Great revivals attended his ministry, and his converts were noted for their stability. He was a model pastor, visiting much. There was nothing more distinctly marked in his character than his unyielding integrity. Principle, not policy, was his motto. His character was beautiful for its genuineness. He was devoid of all ambitious scheming and self-seeking. What he appeared he was. As a Christian his piety was deep and uniform. He sought and found the profound depths of vital godliness. This experience was beautifully illustrated in his protracted last sickness. Perfect peace sustained him. No mist nor shadow lingered about his setting sun, and the radiance lingers to cheer those that are left behind.

Daniel Davisson Mather was born April 21, 1822, and died July 17, 1895. His father, the Rev. Ebenezer Mather, was a local preacher, and was a descendant, through a long line of ministers, from Dr. Increase Mather, of New England. His home, near Milford Center, O., was the home of the early Methodist itinerants, and was a regular preaching place on the circuit. The lad was converted at thirteen, and soon felt called to the ministry. His opportunities for education were limited, but when called into the ministry he strove as best he could to supplement his early deficiencies. He carefully studied the Latin, Greek, and Hebrew languages with competent teachers. No one who sat under his ministry thought of him other than as a polished shaft in the quiver of his Master. For more than fifty years he was a faithful student of books, and especially of God's word. Thirty-two years ago the Ohio Wesleyan University conferred on him the degree of Master of Arts, and later he was honored with the title of Doctor of Divinity. At nineteen he was licensed to preach, and during a part of the next year supplied the Marysville Circuit. In 1842 he was received into the Ohio Conference with a class of thirty. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Soule and elder by Bishop Morris. By a happy coincidence his honored father, who had been a deacon for many years, was ordained an elder in the same class with him. His appointments until 1866 were in the Ohio Conference, but two of these years were in western Virginia. He filled some of the most desirable city appointments, and for seven years was presiding elder of three different districts. In 1860 he was a member of the General Conference. In 1866, upon the request of the Central Ohio Conference, he was transferred to that body. Here, besides several important pastorates, he was for four years Presiding Elder of the Delaware District. In 1886, after a continued service of forty-four years, he reluctantly took a superannuated relation. At Delaware, where he had held for six years the most pleasant appointments of his life, where he had large denominational attractions, and where he enjoyed the greatest love from all, he made his final home and found his last resting place. As a preacher he was sound in doctrine, earnest in enforcing the truth, and impressive in bringing conviction to his hearers. His sermons were evangelical, and he made Christ the central object for all eyes and hearts. "The sheep looked up to him and were fed." He married, in 1844, Mrs. Mary W. Dinsmoor, of Marietta, O., who still lives. His last years were spiritually his best. Three years ago he suffered from an attack of the grippe, but measurably recovered. The Sunday before his death he ventured into the pulpit. On Wednesday morning following, during the third watch, the messenger of his Lord came suddenly. He was unconscious for two hours, and at the rising of the earthly sun he awoke in the midday light of the heavenly world.
